These Contest rules are subject to modification by BTPM at its discretion. This Contest is void where prohibited. The Contest is coordinated by Buffalo Toronto Public Media, located at 140 Lower Terrace, Buffalo, NY 14202.

Essay Prompt

Essays must respond to the prompt: “Unfinished Revolutions.”

What unfinished revolutions, past or present, still shape our world? How do the film’s themes of freedom, equality, or justice continue to evolve in society today?

What Do We Mean by “Unfinished Revolutions?”

The American Revolution promised liberty, freedom, independence, and democracy, but not everyone was included in those promises. Enslaved people, women, and Indigenous nations were left out of many of the rights that defined the new nation. The bold ideas of the American Revolution inspired change, but much of the work remained unfinished. Generations later, movements like abolition, women’s suffrage, and the struggle for civil rights carried forward the American Revolution’s unfinished promise of equality and justice. And even today, people are still working to make liberty, freedom, and democracy real for everyone.

This contest asks you to think about:

- Whose voices were left out of the American Revolution?
- Of those groups left out, how have later movements carried those ideas forward?
- What “unfinished revolutions” do you see in your community or the country today?

Eligibility & Entry Guidelines

- This contest is open to all students enrolled in grades 9-12 in Western New York and Southern Ontario. You do not have to submit work as part of a class to be considered.
- Only one entry per person will be accepted in this Contest; all subsequent entries will be disqualified.
- Only single author stories qualify (no co-authored stories).
- Essays must be original and unpublished work.
- Watching THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, a film by Ken Burns, Sarah Botstein, and David Schmidt is encouraged but not required. Students may draw inspiration from the contest theme and prompt without having seen the film.
- Essays must be received by 5:00 pm EST, May 15, 2026.

- Children of employees of BTPM and judges are not eligible.
- To be eligible, an entrant must be a legal resident of the fifty (50) United States and D.C. or a Southern Ontario province of Canada within the Buffalo Toronto Public Media viewing area.
- BTPM reserves the right to disqualify ineligible entries.
- Any failure to adhere to these Contest Rules may result in disqualification from the Contest.
