Harry Chandler arrived at Pearl Harbor in September 1941, serving as a United States Navy Corpsman. He believed his time in Hawaii would be paradise, a stark contrast to the cold winters of New England. However, on December 7, 1941, Harry's world was shaken by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and the island of Oahu. On that "Day of Infamy," his duty became saving lives and retrieving charred bodies from the harbor's waters. Narrated by sports commentator Jim Nantz, Corpsman! follows Harry's story on that day and the days that followed America's sudden entry into World War II, while also examining the role of corpsmen and medics during the war.

Join host Geoffrey Baer on a warm, nostalgic—and often humorous—journey through Hanukkah in this special. From the festival's origin story to modern-day family rituals, Baer explores why we light the menorah, spin the dreidel and enjoy dishes fried in oil. Food takes center stage when Baer steps into the kitchen with experts—whipping up crispy latkes and jelly-filled sufganiyot—and reveals how these beloved treats tie back to the miracle of the oil.

NuMex Odyssey: A New Chapter in New Mexico's Chile Legacy

For more than a century, New Mexico has stood at the center of America's chile culture, because of a legacy of scientists and growers working to ensure that New Mexico chile remains strong and flavorful. Dr. Stephanie Walker, Extension Vegetable Specialist at NMSU, and a leading figure in chile research, has played a critical role in developing new chile varieties that meet today's farming demands without sacrificing heritage and flavor. This month, viewers of KENW-TV's "You Should Know" series have the opportunity to hear directly from Dr. Walker, as she shares her journey, her passion for chile, and the story behind one of New Mexico's newest agricultural achievements, the NuMex Odyssey chile, an outstanding variety recently developed at NMSU.

Call the Midwife Holiday Special 2025

This year's festive two-hour installment takes the beloved midwives of Nonnatus House to new horizons—while leaving the younger staff to hold the fort back home. What begins as a mercy mission to Hong Kong quickly sparks a powerful shift in the heart of the Order, as the East End of London braces for Christmas in snowy contrast to the sun-drenched Far East. Amid the tension and change, Sister Julianne finds herself unexpectedly excited about what lies ahead, and for the first time she truly considers embracing the future—and letting love lead the way.
