Peoria Community Leaders Organize Donation Drive to Support Families Impacted by Immigration Enforcement

Peoria, IL – In response to concerns surrounding recent immigration enforcement activity in the Peoria area, a group of local community leaders is organizing a donation drive to provide essential supplies to Latino children and families who may be experiencing financial hardship and uncertainty as a result of recent enforcement activities.

The initiative is being spearheaded by Attorney Christopher McCall, Dr. Gregory Wilson, Dr. Andre Allen, and Marcus Hamilton, who are encouraging residents, businesses, and community organizations to come together to support families in need.

While immigration enforcement continues to generate strong opinions across communities, organizers emphasize that the purpose of this initiative is not to engage in political debate, but to address the immediate needs of children and families who may be struggling to access everyday necessities.

At the center of this effort is a shared belief that, regardless of individual perspectives on immigration policy, children should not go without food, diapers, or other basic essentials.

Donations Needed

Community members are encouraged to donate the following items:

- Diapers
- Pull-ups
- Tortillas
- Beans
- Rice
- Vegetable oil

Collected supplies will be distributed to Latino families impacted by recent immigration enforcement activity who are experiencing hardship. Distribution will take place on a first-come, first-served basis, while supplies last.

Organizers recognize that some families may be facing uncertainty and challenges in meeting their daily needs. Through this effort, they hope to provide immediate assistance while reinforcing the importance of community support during difficult circumstances.

The initiative also serves as an opportunity for residents with differing perspectives to come together around a shared commitment to the well-being of children.
