FCC Outreach Initiatives

Participated in at least 4 events or programs sponsored by educational institutions relating to career opportunities in broadcasting.

- KUNR continues to partner with Noticiero Móvil, a bilingual multimedia news outlet run by the Reynolds School of Journalism at the University of Nevada, Reno. Together the two outlets have been creating radio stories that air in English and appear online in both English and Spanish. This innovative partnership provides bilingual news content for Northern Nevada and is helping to train the next generation of bilingual journalists. KUNR had three bilingual reporters during the reporting period as part of this program.
- KUNR continued offering the Reno Youth Radio program (aka KUNR Youth Media), in partnership with the Washoe County School District, a job-skill program now in its fifth year. The program allows high school students to learn more about careers in broadcasting and to develop writing, audio and other skills needed for those broadcasting career opportunities. In the fall of 2021, five high school students completed the program. In spring of 2022, there are nine students going through the program.
- KUNR offers an internship program in conjunction with the Reynolds School of Journalism at the University of Nevada, Reno. This program gives journalism students real-world, hands-on broadcast journalism experience while preparing them for future opportunities in the industry. Each year 5-10 internship slots offer students the chance to learn, grow, be mentored and contribute stories as an integral part of the news or digital team.
- Three KUNR staff members participated as mentors or assistants in the NPR Next Generation Radio Bootcamp. This program is a collaboration between NPR, UNR’s Reynolds School of Journalism and NPR Member stations. It gives aspiring journalists an opportunity to work one-on-one with a professional mentor to produce a truly multimedia story with audio, video, and digital assets over the course of one week. One of the goals is to get young journalists interested in broadcast journalism.

Listed each upper-level category opening in a job bank or newsletter of media trade groups whose membership includes substantial participation of women and minorities.

- KUNR’s licensee, the Nevada System of Higher Education, requires any job opening to be posted on at least one diversity hiring job board—and KUNR’s practice is to use multiple diversity job sites or sources. In addition to the required diversity posting, KUNR searches out other groups that have high membership rates of women and minorities. Documentation of these listings can be found in the recruitment sources section of this document.

Establishment of an internship program designed to assist members of the community to acquire skills needed for broadcast employment.

- KUNR’s internship program gives journalism and other students the opportunity to learn, build skills, contribute their talents to the station, and gain valuable media career experience via on-air, news, photography, video editing and other roles. Internship participation for the reporting period was:
  - Summer 2021 – 1 intern
  - Fall 2021 – 2 interns
  - Spring 2022 – 4 interns
Provided training to management level personnel on methods ensuring equal employment opportunity and preventing discrimination.

- The University of Nevada, Reno requires all management staff to stay current on several required training courses every two to three years. These include: Evaluating Employee Performance; Handling Grievances; Sexual Harassment; Interviewing and Hiring; Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO).
- In addition to the recurring training courses, all management staff have attended an implicit bias training put on by University of Nevada, Reno Human Resources staff. In order to qualify for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting grant, all KUNR staff members, including management staff, complete Harassment Prevention Training annually.

Established training programs designed to enable station personnel to acquire skills that could qualify them for higher-level positions.

- KUNR’s commitment to the training, skill development and advancement opportunities for all station staff is reflected in its daily operation and practices. Station management and staff strive to provide a culture of mentoring, collaboration and growth. As the newsroom continues to grow, ongoing training and skill development are provided to broadcast and news staff to advance digital editing, automation, troubleshooting and newsgathering skills.
- KUNR worked with the licensee’s Human Resources department to establish a “line of progression” within the broadcast journalist position, which allows for steps of growth and promotion between entry-level news reporter and news director.
- KUNR, through its collaborative programs, has created a “pipeline of opportunity,” for broadcasters and journalists. It begins with the Youth Radio program in high school and continues through the university-level internship programs, through volunteer opportunities, through participation in the annual NPR Boot Camp, through entry-level hiring, and through year-by-year career growth—which includes formal training, attendance in conferences and daily mentoring.
- KUNR continues to open opportunities for news and broadcast staff, growing a news department by allowing news volunteers and interns to gain experience and then be considered for part-time or full-time paid positions. Part-time staff are supported in their learning and development and can also apply for full-time positions as they become available. Currently KUNR has 7 part-time employees: 3 – News, 4 – On-air
- Other training opportunities for station personnel include conference attendance, webinars, working with consultants, tuition assistance and attending speaking engagements. Some direct examples from the reporting period include:
