

The Forest Animals And The Dragon

By Zephyr

Once upon a time, there were four friends. Two of them were chipmunks named Reed and Chippy. There was also a squirrel named Fred and a bunny named Bunbun. They were taking a walk in the forest. It was cold. Suddenly, they heard a rustling sound, and out from the trees came a big ice dragon! It swooped down and grabbed the two chipmunks! It flew into the trees. Fred and Bunbun watched as the dragon carried Reed and Chippy away. They ran after it. The dragon landed in a clearing. There was a big river with lots of pointy ice blades in it around the middle of the clearing, and the only bridge was a thin log. Fred and Bunbun saw Reed and Chippy tied to an ice spike in the middle of the clearing. They tried to cross on the log and Fred almost fell off, but Bunbun caught him. When they were across, Bunbun accidentally stepped on a rock, which activated a booby trap. A standing up sheet of ice opened, and a big ball of ice rolled out towards them! Bunbun and Fred screamed. They jumped out of the way just in time, but their scream got the attention of the dragon. The dragon started firing ice at them. A bird that was crossing the clearing noticed them and flew over to help. The bird grabbed a piece of bark and threw it at the dragon and knocked him out. Bunbun and Fred got on the bird's back and flew to where Reed and Chippy were tied up. The bird used his beak to untie the ropes holding the two chipmunks. Fred and Bunbun said "Thank you for saving us." "You're welcome, and my name is Breeze." responded Breeze. Then the dragon woke up. Everyone got on Breeze's back. They tried to fly away, but the dragon fired ice balls at them. One almost hit Breeze's wing! They dodged all of the ice balls, And got away, and decided not to go walking there anymore. The end.