Alaska Public Media also operates the Statewide News and a shared television service with KTOO in Juneau and KYUK in Bethel. Alaska Public Media and its affiliates deliver content that reaches 97% of the population of Alaska.

WELCOME

Welcome to the April 2026 edition of the Alaska Public Media Program Guide! Here are this month's featured programs, news and announcements.

STATION NEWS

PUBLIC MEDIA LEADERS EARN ATHENA HONORS

Three Alaska Public Media leaders join the Anchorage ATHENA Society Class of 2026.

In March, the Anchorage ATHENA Society announced its Class of 2026, recognizing eleven women and this year's Leadership Award recipient for their outstanding leadership and service to Alaska. Congratulations to all inductees, including three public media champions with deep ties to Alaska Public Media: Lori Townsend, Evelyn Abello, and Dr. Anne Zink, who has received the Society's highest honor — the 2026 ATHENA Leadership Award.

Lori Townsend

As Chief Editor and Senior Vice President of News at Alaska Public Media, Lori Townsend has helped shape thoughtful, in-depth journalism that serves communities across the state. A respected newsroom leader and longtime journalist, her work reflects a deep commitment to integrity, collaboration, and public service. Her induction recognizes both her professional excellence and her dedication to mentoring and elevating voices across Alaska.

Evelyn Abello

Evelyn Abello, Vice Chair of the Alaska Public Media Board of Directors, is known for her steady, strategic leadership and longstanding commitment to civic engagement. She also serves as the Philippine Honorary Consul in Alaska, strengthening international relationships and community connections throughout the state. Her induction reflects decades of service rooted in inclusion, advocacy, and support for Alaska's diverse communities.

Dr. Anne Zink

— 2026 ATHENA Leadership Award Recipient

Dr. Anne Zink, a rotating host on Line One: Your Health Connection, has been named the recipient of the ATHENA Leadership Award — the Society's highest individual honor. Her selection highlights her profound impact on public health in Alaska and her commitment to ensuring Alaskans have access to trusted, accessible health information. Through Line One, she continues to guide meaningful conversations that help listeners make informed decisions for themselves and their families.

The Anchorage ATHENA Society, a program of the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce, honors women for professional excellence, community leadership, and mentorship.

THE REVOLUTION FROM ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Lucy Worsley explores America's fight for independence through Britain's eyes.

A fresh perspective on one of history's most familiar conflicts arrives in this engaging new documentary that reconsiders the birth of the United States from an unexpected angle. Rather than retelling the Revolution through the triumphs of the colonies, this program turns its attention across the Atlantic, exploring how Britain experienced—and ultimately lost—the war that reshaped the modern world.

Historian Lucy Worsley guides viewers through the political missteps, personal rivalries, and global pressures that influenced Britain's decisions. With her trademark curiosity and clarity, she examines how a powerful empire failed to contain a rebellion, and whether different choices might have changed the outcome. The story unfolds not just on battlefields, but in government chambers, drawing rooms, and international courts, where diplomacy and public opinion proved just as decisive as military strategy.

Lucy Worsley Investigates: The American Revolution is a two-part documentary that blends vivid storytelling with on-location exploration and expert insight. It highlights lesser-known aspects of the conflict, including espionage, unrest within Britain, and the wider global stakes of the war. By focusing on the British side, the series challenges familiar narratives and invites viewers to reconsider the Revolution as a shared transatlantic crisis rather than a purely American victory.

Throughout, Worsley emphasizes the human dimension of history—the ambitions, fears, and misjudgments that shaped events. The result is a thoughtful and accessible reexamination of a pivotal era, offering both newcomers and history enthusiasts a deeper understanding of how revolutions unfold and why they matter.

Tune in for the first of this two part series Tuesday, April 7 and 14 at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

BIG IDEAS, BOLD DISCOVERIES

NOVA's spring lineup spans history, science, and the future

NOVA's April lineup spans past, present, and future, with a slate of documentaries that examine pivotal moments in human history, breakthroughs in science, and the forces shaping our world today. From ancient Athens to deep space—and even inside the human mind—these programs bring complex ideas to life through engaging storytelling and cutting-edge research.

NOVA: Return to the Moon is a one-hour episode that follows NASA's Artemis program as it prepares to send astronauts back to the Moon for the first time in more than 50 years. With behind-the-scenes access to engineers and astronauts, the film highlights the challenges and ambitions of this new era of space exploration. Tune in Wednesday, April 29 at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

NOVA: Your Brain is a two-part series that explores how the human mind works, from perception and memory to consciousness and decision-making. Through experiments and expert insight, the series reveals how our brains construct reality—and how that reality can sometimes be misleading. Tune in Wednesday, April 2 and April 9 at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

NOVA: Athens: Birth of Democracy is a one-hour episode that travels back more than 2,500 years to ancient Greece, where the foundations of democratic government first took shape. Drawing on archaeological discoveries, the film traces the evolution from tyranny to citizen rule. Tune in Wednesday, April 16 at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

NOVA: Rain Bombs is a one-hour episode that investigates sudden, powerful storms capable of unleashing destructive winds and intense rainfall. Scientists work to better understand these fast-forming weather events and their connection to a changing climate. Tune in Wednesday, April 23 at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

Together, these programs continue NOVA's long tradition of making science accessible and engaging. This April's offerings provide a thought-provoking look at the discoveries, innovations, and ideas that continue to shape our understanding of the world and beyond.

INTO THE ANIMAL KINGDOM

Elephants, tigers, and woodpeckers headline Nature's April premieres.

This spring, Nature returns with a compelling lineup of documentaries that celebrate the majesty of the natural world and the urgent need to protect it. From the sweeping landscapes of Africa to the dense jungles of India—and into the forests closer to home—these films offer intimate, visually stunning portraits of animals and the environments they call home.

Nature: Becoming Elephant - The Orphans of Reteti is a moving episode set in northern Kenya. It follows orphaned elephants being raised at a pioneering community-run sanctuary, where dedicated caregivers nurture them back to health and prepare them for life in the wild. The documentary captures the emotional bonds between humans and animals, as well as the challenges of conservation in a changing world. Tune in Wednesday, April 8 at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

Nature: Legendary Tigers of India takes viewers into Ranthambore National Park. Here, the lives of Bengal tigers unfold in dramatic fashion, from raising cubs to defending territory. Through breathtaking cinematography, the program reveals the beauty and fragility of these iconic predators, underscoring the importance of preserving their habitats. Tune in Wednesday, April 22 at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

Nature: Woodpeckers: The Hole Story turns to the vital role of woodpeckers in forest ecosystems. With remarkable ingenuity, these birds carve out tree cavities that provide shelter not only for themselves, but for many other species. The film highlights how their behavior helps sustain biodiversity in woodlands around the world. Tune in Wednesday, April 29 at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

This spring lineup continues Nature's long tradition of storytelling that blends science, conservation, and emotional resonance. While each stands alone as a one-hour special, they are part of the series' ongoing commitment to exploring the planet's most extraordinary wildlife. This April's offerings provide not only a window into animal behavior, but also a deeper understanding of the delicate balance that sustains life on Earth.
