The Dragon and Shard

I'm hungry

By James Racketa

Illustrated by James Racketa
Once upon a time there was a big mean dragon. His name was Deathblood. He was horrid.
He ate a human. His name was Shard.
Shard's family doesn't know where he is. They watched a camera to find out where he was.
The camera showed a dragon and Sbard. The dragon came out of nowhere and ate Sbard, and he digested him in less than a second. The family will stay away from the dragon.
Shard punches the dragon from inside the stomach. The dragon spews red, orange, and yellow.
Shard survives. The dragon exploded. The family won.
The dragon was goopy, sticky, and yucky. No one went near the dragon again.
THE

END