PROGRAM NOTES

TINA RENICK

Are summer vacations over? We think not! This month we'll celebrate the height of summer with a rich lineup of programming, anchored by the return of "Tanglewood on Parade." August also brings fresh episodes about the first African American graduate of RPI, geothermal energy's increasing popularity, freemium models, live music and we'll hear from various artists on "Person Place Thing." There's something for everyone this month on WAMC.

Special Programming

Celebrate Tanglewood on Parade – A Beloved Tradition Since 1940

Join us for "Tanglewood on Parade," one of Tanglewood's most cherished traditions, originating in 1940 as a benefit concert organized by BSO Music Director Serge Koussevitzky. Now an annual summer highlight, this celebration features dazzling performances by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Boston Pops, and the Tanglewood Music Center Orchestra, culminating in a spectacular gala concert in the Koussevitzky Music Shed. Conducted by an all-star roster—Keith Lockhart, Elim Chan, Thomas Wilkins, Samy Rachid, and Na'Zir McFadden—the evening includes works by Copland, Barber, and Ellington, and concludes with the rousing 1812 Overture, complete with real cannons and fireworks. Don't miss the WAMC live broadcast beginning at 7:00 pm, with the concert at 8. Airing Aug. 5

"Live From Tanglewood" continues this month! Tune in to hear Beethoven's "Octet for Winds," Ravel's "Suite No.2," Yo-Yo Ma on the cello, another John Williams Film Night and much more! Live performances are broadcast by WCRB Boston from the Koussevitzky

Music Shed at Tanglewood. The service of WGBH airs Fridays, 8-10:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 8-10:30 p.m.; Sundays, 2:30-5 p.m., through Sunday, August 24.

Also, "Live From Tanglewood" starts this month! The summer WAMC staple has us enjoying the sunshine and picnics that much more. Tune in as we kick off another great season of broadcasts, beginning the weekend of July 5. We'll hear a variety of works from an all-Rachmaninoff program to an all-Beethoven program. We'll hear live performances broadcast by WCRB Boston from the Koussevitzky Music Shed at Tanglewood. The service of WGBH airs Fridays, 8-10:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 8-10:30 p.m.; Sundays, 2:30-5 p.m., Saturday, July 5 through Sunday, August 24.

REGULAR PROGRAMMING

"The Academic Minute" will see takeover weeks from Georgetown University and Pomona College! Researchers will discuss the impact of freemium models on content creators, how to design better take-back programs at clothing retailers and detail why fire suppression and urban expansion are helping make wildfires more destructive. During the rest of the month, professors will examine how AI can future-proof vaccines, discover how bed bugs were likely the first human pest and explore how mindfulness could help tone down certain types of anxiety.

Tune in each weekday at 7:30 a.m. and 3:56 p.m. on WAMC or anytime online at academicminute.org.

On "Person Place Thing," host Randy Simon speaks with artists! This month we'll hear from singer, songwriter, guitar player, teacher, author, innkeeper and founding member of the trio "The Roches," Terre Roche on Aug.

8; theatre director Ivo van Hove on Aug. 15; "New York Times" bestselling author of "Let the Great World Spin" Colum McCann on Aug. 22; and admired writer Ann Patchett on Aug. 29. Person Place Thing airs Fridays at 10:30 p.m.

On "Earth Wise," geothermal energy is emerging as a surprising bright spot in the evolving landscape of renewable power. While the Trump Administration reduced support for solar and wind, geothermal heat—long overlooked due to high costs and limited scalability—is gaining traction thanks to enhanced geothermal systems (EGS). These advanced systems tap into deep underground heat, using water pumped miles below the surface to generate electricity. Backed by tech giants, the U.S. Defense Department, and even fossil fuel companies, EGS is now being developed across the country. And while tax credits for wind and solar have been cut, geothermal still receives federal incentives—signaling renewed confidence in its clean, consistent energy potential. "Earth Wise" airs weekdays at 11:10 a.m. and 4:04 p.m.

"Don't miss new monthly episodes of our award-winning podcast "A New York Minute in History." The latest episode took us to the unveiling of the brand-new Garnet Douglass Baltimore historical marker at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI) in Troy along with Bill Pomeroy himself. Garnet Douglass Baltimore was the first African American graduate of RPI and went on to a long and very successful career as a civil and landscape engineer. The episodes can be found wherever you get your podcast and online: <https://www.wamc.org/podcast/a-new-york-minute-in-history>

UNDERWRITING SUPPORT COMES FROM

WAMC

What is underwriting, you might ask? As a public radio station, we don't carry conventional advertisements. Instead, we offer sponsorship opportunities in the form of underwriting. Underwriting consists of brief radio announcements, or "credits," that inform our listeners about what products, services, or events a business or organization offers. The objective, unbiased approach of underwriting strips away the clutter and loaded language of other advertising. We are extremely grateful to work with hundreds of businesses throughout our listening area. These organizations opt to use their marketing and advertising dollars to share their message with our listeners, all while supporting the station at the same time. We truly appreciate their support and ask you to take a moment to support them! View our Underwriting Directory highlighting all of our underwriters from various industries.

Interested in becoming an underwriter?

It's quick and simple! Visit wamcunderwriting.org/contact-us to get the ball rolling and we'll take it from there.
