KRWG-TV is the PBS station located in Las Cruces, New Mexico. We are licensed by New Mexico State University and our offices are located on NMSU’s Las Cruces campus. KRWG-TV is proud to be the only television station in southern New Mexico. We also provide unique services in the El Paso, Texas/Las Cruces, New Mexico service area.

Through meetings with citizens and community leaders, partnerships with area newspapers and other organizations, and extensive production of news and public affairs programming, the staff of KRWG-TV has determined the following issues are of primary importance to our coverage area:

Health/Welfare/Safety – While the over-all crime rate is no higher than the national average, poverty and a higher than average teenage population contribute to gang and crime problem. Poverty also results in health and welfare issues including an above average social services caseload and a high number of welfare cases handled by the local hospital.

Culture – The mix of Hispanic/Native American/ and Anglo cultures provide many positive attributes to life in southern New Mexico. Cultural and historical understanding is of great importance.

Business - With an above-average unemployment rate and a below-average income level, the status of the business/agricultural community in southern New Mexico is crucial. Concern over the constant issue of defense spending at the federal level is ongoing in this area due to the presence of several military and NASA installations. Dona Ana County is also actively seeking new businesses and a strong infrastructure exists near the Santa Teresa Border Crossing to boost border trade.

Politics/Public Affairs – Southern New Mexico and the United States have a wide variety of contentious political issues that are of constant interest to the citizens of the involved communities.

Education – With a constantly growing population of children, many of whom use Spanish as their primary language, the school systems in the KRWG-TV viewing area are constantly trying to provide facilities and teachers to meet this growing school age population with limited funds. New Mexico is one of the poorest per-capita states in the nation, which results in a chronic shortage of funds for local education.

Water/Environment – KRWG-TV is located in a desert with two major sources of water: the Rio Grande River and an aquifer that supplies drinking water to Las Cruces and surrounding areas in the Mesilla Valley. Water is the lifeblood of the region and conflicts are escalating over the requirements of a growing urban population and agriculture.

Overcoming Anxiety, Depression, Trauma and Grief
The world is in turmoil and Americans are the unhappiest they've been in 50 years. With millions sickened from COVID-19 and more than 300,000 Americans dead in a global pandemic that brought social isolation, grief, fear, and an economy in tatters mixed with anti-racism protests after the killing of George Floyd and the ongoing political divide, we've been brought to our emotional knees. As a nation, we're feeling so stressed and unhappy, it sparked a dramatic rise in the number of new prescriptions for antidepressants, anti-anxiety medications and sleep aids during and after the pandemic. Depression, the opposite of being happy, tripled in just few months in early 2020, from 8.5%, which was already up from the prior decade, to a horrifying 27.8%. But you do not have to feel this way even when it seems like the world is crumbling around you. In this program, psychiatrist Dr. Daniel Amen, the author of Your Brain Is Always Listening; and his wife Tana Amen, an ICU nurse and author of The Relentless Courage of a Scared Child will show you how to tame the hidden dragons that cause these problems to help you feel happier, more positive and more in control of your own emotions.

Ancient Remedies with Dr. Josh Axe

Saturday, 3/5 @ 1130am & Sunday, 3/13 @ 10am (90min)

Ancient Remedies with Dr. Josh Axe is based on Dr. Josh Axe’s latest and most compelling book to date. It exemplifies his deep-seated passion, vision and mission to help people truly heal at the root cause of illness in order to live their best lives. Dr. Axe’s heart centered approach can be traced to successfully guiding his mother through her extensive health struggles, after which he committed to a life’s work of sharing the methodology that worked for her, and his patients. With Ancient Remedies, Dr. Axe’s goal is to empower people to find wellness in their own lives by focusing on the powerful benefits of using food to heal your body; an approach rooted in an age-old practice but tailored to our modern world. Ancient Remedies is a new way of thinking about health and healing – one based on the time-tested knowledge from ancient medical systems that use natural solutions to address digestive issues, hormonal imbalances, inflammatory conditions, immune dysfunction, neurological disorders, and autoimmune disease.

American Experience: Zoot Suit Riots
Tuesday at 8pm, 3/29 & Wednesday @ 2am, 3/30 (60min)
In August 1942, the murder of a young Mexican American ignited a firestorm in Los Angeles. The tensions that had been building up for years between Mexican and white Los Angelenos boiled over. The press claimed that Mexican youth -- known as "zoot-suiters" for the clothes they wore -- were terrorizing the city with a wave of crime. Police fanned out across the city arresting 600 Mexican Americans. Seventeen "zoot-suiters" headed to a trial in which prosecutors had little evidence to present. Nonetheless, guilty verdicts were handed down to all. The tensions the trial inflamed sparked riots between servicemen and the Mexican American community that led to "zoot-suiters" being beaten and stripped of their clothes. Despite vigorous denials from city officials, a citizens' committee concluded the riots had been fueled by racial prejudice and encouraged by sensational news reporting and a discriminatory police department.

Guest(s):
Matthew Hurteau, ecologist and professor, UNM Biology Department
Valerie Rangel, author, “Environmental Justice in New Mexico: Counting Coup”
Sofia Jenkins-Nieto, director of operations, UNM LEAF

This week on New Mexico in Focus, we wrap up our countdown of the top stories of 2021, with a special Line opinion panel of working journalists from across the state. Host Gene Grant and the group begin with the fifth biggest story of the year, and work down to the top story of the year. No surprise, the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic will make an appearance or two on this list.

Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus reached out to many of her sources from the last several years to get thoughts and reflections on where we are as a state in combatting climate change and setting some goals for 2022 and beyond. New Mexico in Focus returns in 2022 with brand new episodes and don’t forget you can stream the show anytime on the PBS App.

Correspondent:
Laura Paskus

Guest:
Parker Williams, associate professor, Department of Geography, UCLA

This week on New Mexico in Focus, lawmakers return to the Roundhouse in just a matter of days for the 2022 Legislative Session. One of the big topics, along with the budget, will be crime. Our Line opinion panel looks at some of the proposals that legislators will likely consider and whether or not there will be bipartisan support to achieve meaningful change. The Line panelists also debate a new proposal to ramp up transparency in the legislature when it comes to lawmakers’ financial interests. And, the group also discusses the spread of the Omicron variant of COVID-19 in New Mexico and how schools are dealing with a spike in cases as a new semester begins.
Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus sits down with bioclimatologist Parker Williams to find out what the science says about how wildfire and drought conditions are evolving in the American Southwest and how they drastically differ from droughts and fire seasons of the ancient past.

Guest(s):
Larry Rasmussen, Professor Emeritus at Union Theological Seminary

This week on New Mexico in Focus, state leaders share their 2022 budget plans ahead of the start of the 30-day legislative session next week. The Line opinion panel also dives into what could be included in a final package and what the spending priorities say about the issues we’re facing as a state. The panel takes on the latest challenges from COVID-19, including a warning from hospitals that emergency room wait times are likely to increase in the coming days and weeks. The group analyzes that reality and explores what can be done to avoid more setbacks. And, our panelists weigh the pros and cons of creating government-run public electric utilities.
Correspondent Gwyneth Doland checks in with Senate President Pro Tem Mimi Stewart for what she’s expecting when the session starts Tuesday. Plus, Gene Grant catches up with former State Representative Alonzo Baldonado after his recent resignation.
Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus shares a unique approach to climate change. She speaks with Larry Rasmussen, Professor Emeritus at Union Theological Seminary, about how his faith has guided his mindset when dealing with the existential threat.

Guest:
Michelle Lujan Grisham (D), New Mexico Governor
The Line opinion panel:
Julie Ann Grimm – editor and publisher, Santa Fe Reporter
Kristelle Siarza - owner and CEO, Siarza Social Digital
Adrian Hedden – reporter, Carlsbad Current-Argus

This week on New Mexico in Focus, Gene and the Line Opinion Panel dig into Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s 2022 State of the State Address, analyzing the Governor’s stated priorities, and what she may have left out. Now that the state has a significant budget surplus, the Governor is calling for aggressive action on several fronts, including teacher pay, tax issues and job growth. Our panelists address those priorities and detail any potential issues that could arise in the legislature. Governor Lujan Grisham is also proposing a major funding boost to public safety, but is it enough to fill the growing number of vacancies at police departments around the state? Plus, a deeper look at the Governor’s plan to strengthen healthcare, and support home caregivers in the age of COVID-19.

Tax Laws Explained
Correspondent:
Gene Grant
Guest(s):
Richard Anklam, president and executive director, New Mexico Tax Research Institute
This week on New Mexico in Focus, we take a critical look at two major items attracting attention in the State Legislature, where lawmakers are considering changes to voting rights and tax laws. Secretary of State Maggie Toulouse Oliver explains why her office is calling for voting reforms ahead of the 2022 election cycle, during her conversation with correspondent Gwenyth Doland. And Richard Anklam from the New Mexico Tax Research Institute tells us if the Governor’s proposed tax cuts will have a tangible impact on the lives of New Mexicans.

The Line Opinion Panel weighs in on those proposed voting reforms, including the proposal to allow 16-year-olds to vote in some local elections. Panelists also debate Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s renewed push for Hydrogen power, and the recently released ‘Hydrogen Hub Development Act.’ Plus, how is each party approaching the upcoming election? The Panel explores some of the recent maneuvers from both parties, including the GOP’s challenge of the state’s new political districts.

Guest(s):
Jeremy Vesbach, fmr. State game commissioner

This week on New Mexico in Focus, behind-the-scenes perspective on some of the key legislation under consideration at the Roundhouse. Environment reporter Laura Paskus speaks with an energy journalist about potential concerns in the push to make
New Mexico a hub for hydrogen production. Plus, she asks a former state Game Commissioner about his removal from office, and what he thinks needs to change to make the department more efficient and effective. Gene Grant dissects a recent study on New Mexico’s rural infrastructure needs, and asks its author why he believes systemic changes are necessary.

The Line Opinion Panel debates the new anti-crime legislation moving through the legislature. Will it be enough to curb crime in Albuquerque, and across the state? Panelists also discuss a trio of new bills aimed at helping make education more equitable for Native American students. And, a U.S. House committee has issued subpoenas for people who it says submitted false Electoral College certificates declaring Donald Trump the winner of their states, when in fact he was not. That includes New Mexico. The panel explores what the investigation means for Republican leadership in our state ahead of the midterm elections.

Dave Gutzler, Climate Scientist

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the Governor’s agenda takes a hit in the legislature. Our Line Opinion Panel debates why a plan to make New Mexico a hub for hydrogen energy has failed twice already, and if the most recent plan to revive it has any hope of moving forward. Plus, is there relief coming for workers at the Metropolitan Detention Center in Albuquerque? The Panel discusses recent staff shortages, action from the county, and the possibility this could rise to the level of a crisis. And, our panelists take a close look at the changes made to a package of voting reform measures.

Environment Correspondent Laura Paskus catches up with one of New Mexico’s U.S. Representatives, Melanie Stansbury, about the action she’s taken since joining congress.
That includes recent legislation she’s introduced, The Water Smart Access for Tribes Act. And, Laura talks with climate scientist Dave Gutzler about the changes New Mexico’s already experiencing, as well as what’s to come. Plus, why it’s so hard for policymakers and politicians to act on climate.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the 2022 Legislative Session wraps up on Thursday, February 17th at noon after a grueling 30-day session. The Line opinion panel discuss what made it through the Roundhouse and on to the Governor’s desk. They also discuss the big-ticket items that fell short or ran out of time, and the implications of the final legislative outcomes.

De Haven Solimon Chaffins grew up living with her grandparents on the Laguna Pueblo. The landscape there shaped her view of the world... the natural landscape... and the Jackpile-Paguate Uranium Mine. That huge open pit mine is a federal Superfund site and is still polluting water and causing cancers. This week, Chaffins sits down with Our Land Correspondent Laura Paskus to explain how her artwork explores the story of the mine and its impacts. You can see some of her work at an exhibit called ‘Radon Daughter,’ on display at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center through the end of this month.

The city of Albuquerque has been involved in conversations with Pueblos and Tribes since June, when 215 unmarked graves of unidentified Indigenous youth were discovered at the site of an Indian Boarding School in British Columbia. Correspondent Antonia Gonzales talks with Dr. Theodore Jojola about this difficult history and the current efforts to acknowledge that history and foster healing.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the state legislature is heading back to the Roundhouse in less than two weeks for a special session. The Line Opinion panel looks ahead to how they could help ease the burdens of inflation and rising gas prices. The panel will also preview the first legal sales of recreational cannabis in New Mexico, while discussing the regulatory questions that still remain. And, more accusations of sexual harassment are coming out against a sitting state senator. Host Gene Grant asks our panelists what needs to change when lawmakers interact with lobbyists in Santa Fe.

Environment reporter Laura Paskus asks the new State Engineer about the preparations the state is making to make sure water access is reliable in what’s forecasted to be another dry year. And, a bird’s eye view of a project on the Rio Grande aimed at preserving the river’s natural habitat.

Guest:
Parker Williams, associate professor, Department of Geography, UCLA

This week on New Mexico in Focus, lawmakers return to the Roundhouse in just a matter of days for the 2022 Legislative Session. One of the big topics, along with the budget, will be crime. Our Line opinion panel looks at some of the proposals that legislators will likely consider and whether or not there will be bipartisan support to achieve meaningful change. The Line panelists also debate a new proposal to ramp up transparency in the legislature when it comes to lawmakers’ financial interests. And, the group also discusses the spread of the Omicron variant of COVID-19 in New Mexico and how schools are dealing with a spike in cases as a new semester begins.

Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus sits down with bioclimatologist Parker Williams to find out what the science says about how wildfire and drought conditions are evolving in the American Southwest and how they drastically differ from droughts and fire seasons of the ancient past.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, state leaders share their 2022 budget plans ahead of the start of the 30-day legislative session next week. The Line opinion panel also dives into what could be included in a final package and what the spending priorities say about the issues we’re facing as a state. The panel takes on the latest challenges from COVID-19, including a warning from hospitals that emergency room wait times are likely to increase in the coming days and weeks. The group analyzes that reality and explores what can be done to avoid more setbacks. And, our panelists weigh the pros and cons of creating government-run public electric utilities.
Correspondent Gwyneth Doland checks in with Senate President Pro Tem Mimi Stewart for what she’s expecting when the session starts Tuesday. Plus, Gene Grant catches up with former State Representative Alonzo Baldonado after his recent resignation. Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus shares a unique approach to climate change. She speaks with Larry Rasmussen, Professor Emeritus at Union Theological Seminary, about how his faith has guided his mindset when dealing with the existential threat.

Adrian Hedden – reporter, Carlsbad Current-Argus

This week on New Mexico in Focus, Gene and the Line Opinion Panel dig into Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s 2022 State of the State Address, analyzing the Governor’s stated priorities, and what she may have left out. Now that the state has a significant budget surplus, the Governor is calling for aggressive action on several fronts, including teacher pay, tax issues and job growth. Our panelists address those priorities and detail any potential issues that could arise in the legislature. Governor Lujan Grisham is also proposing a major funding boost to public safety, but is it enough to fill the growing number of vacancies at police departments around the state? Plus, a deeper look at the Governor’s plan to strengthen healthcare, and support home caregivers in the age of COVID-19.

Guest(s):
Richard Anklam, president and executive director, New Mexico Tax Research Institute

This week on New Mexico in Focus, we take a critical look at two major items attracting attention in the State Legislature, where lawmakers are considering changes to voting rights and tax laws. Secretary of State Maggie Toulouse Oliver explains why her office is calling for voting reforms ahead of the 2022 election cycle, during her conversation with correspondent Gwenyth Doland. And Richard Anklam from the New Mexico Tax Research Institute tells us if the Governor’s proposed tax cuts will have a tangible impact on the lives of New Mexicans.

The Line Opinion Panel weighs in on those proposed voting reforms, including the proposal to allow 16-year-olds to vote in some local elections. Panelists also debate Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s renewed push for Hydrogen power, and the recently released ‘Hydrogen Hub Development Act.’ Plus, how is each party approaching the upcoming election? The Panel explores some of the recent maneuvers from both parties, including the GOP’s challenge of the state’s new political districts.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, behind-the-scenes perspective on some of the key legislation under consideration at the Roundhouse. Environment reporter Laura Paskus speaks with an energy journalist about potential concerns in the push to make New Mexico a hub for hydrogen production. Plus, she asks a former state Game Commissioner about his removal from office, and what he thinks needs to change to make the department more efficient and effective. Gene Grant dissects a recent study on New Mexico’s rural infrastructure needs, and asks its author why he believes systemic changes are necessary.
The Line Opinion Panel debates the new anti-crime legislation moving through the legislature. Will it be enough to curb crime in Albuquerque, and across the state? Panelists also discuss a trio of new bills aimed at helping make education more equitable for Native American students. And, a U.S. House committee has issued subpoenas for people who it says submitted false Electoral College certificates declaring Donald Trump the winner of their states, when in fact he was not. That includes New Mexico. The panel explores what the investigation means for Republican leadership in our state ahead of the midterm elections.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the Governor’s agenda takes a hit in the legislature. Our Line Opinion Panel debates why a plan to make New Mexico a hub for hydrogen energy has failed twice already, and if the most recent plan to revive it has any hope of moving forward. Plus, is there relief coming for workers at the Metropolitan Detention Center in Albuquerque? The Panel discusses recent staff shortages, action from the county, and the possibility this could rise to the level of a crisis. And, our panelists take a close look at the changes made to a package of voting reform measures.

Environment Correspondent Laura Paskus catches up with one of New Mexico’s U.S. Representatives, Melanie Stansbury, about the action she’s taken since joining congress. That includes recent legislation she’s introduced, The Water Smart Access for Tribes Act. And, Laura talks with climate scientist Dave Gutzler about the changes New Mexico’s already experiencing, as well as what’s to come. Plus, why it’s so hard for policymakers and politicians to act on climate.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the 2022 Legislative Session wraps up on Thursday, February 17th at noon after a grueling 30-day session. The Line opinion panel discuss what made it through the Roundhouse and on to the Governor’s desk. They also discuss the big-ticket items that fell short or ran out of time, and the implications of the final legislative outcomes.

De Haven Solimon Chaffins grew up living with her grandparents on the Laguna Pueblo. The landscape there shaped her view of the world... the natural landscape... and the Jackpile-Paguate Uranium Mine. That huge open pit mine is a federal Superfund site and is still polluting water and causing cancers. This week, Chaffins sits down with Our Land Correspondent Laura Paskus to explain how her artwork explores the story of the mine and its impacts. You can see some of her work at an exhibit called ‘Radon Daughter,’ on display at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center through the end of this month.
The city of Albuquerque has been involved in conversations with Pueblos and Tribes since June, when 215 unmarked graves of unidentified Indigenous youth were discovered at the site of an Indian Boarding School in British Columbia. Correspondent Antonia Gonzales talks with Dr. Theodore Jojola about this difficult history and the current efforts to acknowledge that history and foster healing.

Environment Reporter Laura Paskus explains the decades-old practice of weather modification and how it could be used here in New Mexico, both in the short and long term. And, Ebony Isis Booth Introduces us to visual artist Frank Blazquez who takes us through his vision for his documentary series “Duke City Diaries.”

The Line Opinion Panel takes up the state’s record-setting budget and debates some controversial items Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham specifically eliminated from the legislature’s spending plan. Plus, a deeper look at the Governor’s recent executive action on Hydrogen as an international company announces multi-million-dollar plans for Albuquerque. And, the panel recaps the Democratic Party’s pre-primary convention, and a push to support more moderate candidates.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the state legislature is heading back to the Roundhouse in less than two weeks for a special session. The Line Opinion panel looks ahead to how they could help ease the burdens of inflation and rising gas prices. The panel will also preview the first legal sales of recreational cannabis in New Mexico, while discussing the regulatory questions that still remain. And, more accusations of sexual harassment are coming out against a sitting state senator. Host Gene Grant asks our panelists what needs to change when lawmakers interact with lobbyists in Santa Fe.

Environment reporter Laura Paskus asks the new State Engineer about the preparations the state is making to make sure water access is reliable in what’s forecasted to be another dry year. And, a bird’s eye view of a project on the Rio Grande aimed at preserving the river’s natural habitat.

Title: Cyberchase: Math rules in the animated adventure series CYBERCHASE. CYBERCHASE energizes kids ages eight to eleven with math power. Full of cyber-mysteries with eye-popping animation and a sly comic flair, the daily series features the voices of Christopher Lloyd and Gilbert Gottfried. CYBERCHASE sends the message that math is fun - it's about problem solving and, boy, does it come in handy. When the dastardly villain Hacker (Lloyd) launches a mad mission to conquer the virtual universe, Motherboard calls upon three earth kids for help. They are Jackie, Matt and Inez - the culturally diverse heroes of CYBERCHASE - who, along with the wise-cracking cyber-bird Digit (Gottfried), travel from their real-world realm to the colorful virtual vistas of cyberspace, where they vanquish the bad guys in an all-out battle of wits. Each episode takes the kids on a thrilling adventure driven by a different math concept - from tackling time in ancient Egyptian tombs to cracking codes in creepy caves or making sense of numbers in a fractured fairy tale world.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 9am except 3/21, 3/22 & 3/23 (30min)
Title: CURIOUS GEORGE - is an animated series based on the popular books by Margret and H.A. Rey. It airs daily on PBS KIDS aimed at preschool viewers (age’s three to five); the goal of the series is to inspire children to explore science, engineering, and math in the world around them. And what better guide is there for this kind of exploration than the world's most curious monkey? George lives to find new things to discover, touch, spill, and chew. Everything is new to George and worth investigating. Of course, in George's hands — all four of them — investigation often leads to unintended consequences! Throughout George's adventures, he encounters and models basic concepts in each of the three content areas. (To learn more, read about the educational philosophy that drives the series.) While remaining true to the look and feel of the beloved books, the daily series expands George's world to include a host of colorful new characters and locales. Each episode features two animated stories followed by short live-action segments in which real kids investigate the ideas that George introduces in the stories. The series is narrated by Emmy award-winning actor William H. Macy. The CURIOUS GEORGE series also aims to show parents and caregivers how to foster the development of science and math literacy in children. In addition to programming, the series is supported by a substantial educational outreach campaign that develops relevant materials and distributes them to librarians, teachers, community centers, and families. These materials offer activities designed to support and extend the learning objectives of the series.

Title: DANIEL TIGER’S NEIGHBORHOOD

Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood is a new, beautifully-textured animated series from PBS KIDS for preschoolers aged 2-4, based on the legacy of Fred Rogers. Its cast are the children of his original and much-loved Neighborhood of Make-Believe characters. A young Daniel Tiger is joined by his friends’ O the Owl, Katerina Kittycat, Prince Wednesday and Miss Elaina. Together, through imagination, creativity and music they learn the key social skills necessary for school and for life.

Every Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood episode offers a parenting strategy. The clip below is from an episode about first experiences—a visit to the doctor and a ‘look around’ visit to school. The parenting strategy being modeled shows that by talking to children in advance about what to expect, parents can ease any apprehension they may be feeling. As in all Daniel stories, the strategy is offered as a musical ‘jingle’ – in this case “When we do something new, let’s talk about what we’ll do!”

Building on the landmark PBS series Mister Rogers’ Neighborhood, Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood is a new series for a new generation of children. Launching in fall 2012 on PBS KIDS, the series tells engaging stories about the life of a preschooler and is accompanied by cross-platform games and activities for the very youngest children, together with online resources for parents and teachers. Daniel was developed by The Fred Rogers Company, and brings together a group of today’s leading creators of children’s media and educational technology. The series tells its engaging stories using musical strategies grounded in Fred Rogers’ landmark curriculum: its songs give parents and children a concrete way to practice important school-readiness skills together.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 10am except 3/22 & 3/23; Saturdays at 6am (30min)

Title: ODD SQUAD – ODD SQUAD is a PBS KIDS live-action media property designed to help kids ages 5-8 learn math. The show focuses on two young agents, Olive and Otto, who are part of the Odd Squad, an agency whose mission is to come to the rescue whenever something unusual happens. A math concept is embedded in each of their cases, as Olive and Otto work together to problem-solve and save the day in each episode. ODD SQUAD is created by Tim McKeon (Foster's Home for Imaginary Friends, Adventure Time, The Electric Company) and Adam Peltzman (The Electric Company, The Backyardigans, Wallykazam!) and produced by Sinking Ship Entertainment and The Fred Rogers Company.

Title: SESAME STREET – SESAME STREET has garnered more than 100 awards, including 101 Emmys, two Peabodys, four Parents' Choice Awards and an Action for Children's Television Special Achievement Award. The series delivers academic and social education that prepares kids for grade school. Since its premiere, the show's base curriculum has been set by academic research on preschoolers. Encore episodes focus on music and art and how these tools can be used to develop the whole child - the cognitive, social, emotional and physical attributes. In addition, "Elmo's World," which looks at the world through the eyes of a three-year-old, continues as a featured segment. Themes include birthdays, pets, teeth, families, games and more. Ages 2-5.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Monday, 3/7 Tuesday, 3/9 & Friday, 3/11 @ 11am (60min)

Title: Xavier Riddle and the Secret Museum– Inspired by the best-selling kids book series, Ordinary People Change the World, by New York Times bestselling author Brad Meltzer and illustrator Christopher Eliopoulos, XAVIER RIDDLE AND THE SECRET MUSEUM follows the adventures of Xavier, Yadina and Brad as they tackle everyday problems by doing something extraordinary: traveling back in time to learn from real-life inspirational figures like Marie Curie, Harriet Tubman and Jackie Robinson when they were kids. Each adventure will help young viewers make the connection between the skills that made these historical figures heroes and those same qualities within themselves, helping them discover that they, too, can change the world.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 730am except 2/21, 3/22 & 3/23 (30min)
Title: Wild Kratts - "Wild Kratts" joins the adventures of Chris and Martin Kratt as they encounter incredible wild animals, combining science education with fun and adventure as the duo travels to animal habitats around the globe. Each adventure explores an age-appropriate science concept central to an animal's life and showcases a never-before-seen wildlife moment, all wrapped up in engaging stories of adventure, mystery, rescue, and the Kratt brothers' brand of laugh-out-loud-comedy that kids love. Real-life Chris and Martin introduce each "Wild Kratts" episode with a live action segment that imagines what it would be like to experience a never-before-seen wildlife moment, and asks, "What if...?" The Kratt brothers transition into animation and the adventure begins, bringing early-elementary school children into the secret lives of extraordinary creatures, many of which have never been animated before -- including Tiger quolls, Draco lizards, and Caracals!

KRWG Airdate and Time: Sundays at 630am (60min)

Title: Hero Elementary– While on the African savanna, Martin and Chris observe lots of wild cats and dogs. Soon, the Wild Kratts kids are calling in from all over to ask about cats and dogs and whether they're like their own pets. Zach, who has been secretly listening to all the questions, comes up with a scheme to capture and sell these wild animals. Can Chris, Martin and the team save the wild cats and dogs?

Guest:
Parker Williams, associate professor, Department of Geography, UCLA

This week on New Mexico in Focus, lawmakers return to the Roundhouse in just a matter of days for the 2022 Legislative Session. One of the big topics, along with the budget, will be crime. Our Line opinion panel looks at some of the proposals that legislators will likely consider and whether or not there will be bipartisan support to achieve meaningful change. The Line panelists also debate a new proposal to ramp up transparency in the legislature when it comes to lawmakers’ financial interests. And, the group also discusses the spread of the Omicron variant of COVID-19 in New Mexico and how schools are dealing with a spike in cases as a new semester begins.

Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus sits down with bioclimatologist Parker Williams to find out what the science says about how wildfire and drought conditions are evolving in the American Southwest and how they drastically differ from droughts and fire seasons of the ancient past.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, state leaders share their 2022 budget plans ahead of the start of the 30-day legislative session next week. The Line opinion panel also dives into what could be included in a final package and what the spending priorities say about the issues we’re facing as a state. The panel takes on the latest challenges from COVID-19, including a warning from hospitals that emergency room wait times are likely to increase in the coming days and weeks. The group analyzes that reality and explores what can be done to avoid more setbacks. And, our panelists weigh the pros and cons of creating government-run public electric utilities.

Correspondent Gwyneth Doland checks in with Senate President Pro Tem Mimi Stewart for what she’s expecting when the session starts Tuesday. Plus, Gene Grant catches up with former State Representative Alonzo Baldonado after his recent resignation. Also, this week, Environment Reporter Laura Paskus shares a unique approach to climate change. She speaks with Larry Rasmussen, Professor Emeritus at Union Theological Seminary, about how his faith has guided his mindset when dealing with the existential threat.

Guest:
Michelle Lujan Grisham (D), New Mexico Governor
The Line opinion panel:
Julie Ann Grimm – editor and publisher, Santa Fe Reporter
Kristelle Siarza - owner and CEO, Siarza Social Digital
Adrian Hedden – reporter, Carlsbad Current-Argus

This week on New Mexico in Focus, Gene and the Line Opinion Panel dig into Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s 2022 State of the State Address, analyzing the Governor’s stated priorities, and what she may have left out. Now that the state has a significant budget surplus, the Governor is calling for aggressive action on several fronts, including teacher pay, tax issues and job growth. Our panelists address those priorities and detail any potential issues that could arise in the legislature. Governor Lujan Grisham is also proposing a major funding boost to public safety, but is it enough to fill the growing number of vacancies at police departments around the state? Plus, a deeper look at the Governor’s plan to strengthen healthcare, and support home caregivers in the age of COVID-19.

Guest(s):
Richard Anklam, president and executive director, New Mexico Tax Research Institute

This week on New Mexico in Focus, we take a critical look at two major items attracting attention in the State Legislature, where lawmakers are considering changes to voting rights and tax laws. Secretary of State Maggie Toulouse Oliver explains why her office is calling for voting reforms ahead of the 2022 election cycle, during her conversation with correspondent Gwenyth Doland. And Richard Anklam from the New Mexico Tax Research Institute tells us if the Governor’s proposed tax cuts will have a tangible impact on the lives of New Mexicans.

The Line Opinion Panel weighs in on those proposed voting reforms, including the proposal to allow 16-year-olds to vote in some local elections. Panelists also debate Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s renewed push for Hydrogen power, and the recently released ‘Hydrogen Hub Development Act.’ Plus, how is each party approaching the upcoming election? The Panel explores some of the recent maneuvers from both parties, including the GOP’s challenge of the state’s new political districts.

Rural Infrastructure Report
This week on New Mexico in Focus, behind-the-scenes perspective on some of the key legislation under consideration at the Roundhouse. Environment reporter Laura Paskus speaks with an energy journalist about potential concerns in the push to make New Mexico a hub for hydrogen production. Plus, she asks a former state Game Commissioner about his removal from office, and what he thinks needs to change to make the department more efficient and effective. Gene Grant dissects a recent study on New Mexico’s rural infrastructure needs, and asks its author why he believes systemic changes are necessary.

The Line Opinion Panel debates the new anti-crime legislation moving through the legislature. Will it be enough to curb crime in Albuquerque, and across the state? Panelists also discuss a trio of new bills aimed at helping make education more equitable for Native American students. And, a U.S. House committee has issued subpoenas for people who it says submitted false Electoral College certificates declaring Donald Trump the winner of their states, when in fact he was not. That includes New Mexico. The panel explores what the investigation means for Republican leadership in our state ahead of the midterm elections.
This week on New Mexico in Focus, the Governor’s agenda takes a hit in the legislature. Our Line Opinion Panel debates why a plan to make New Mexico a hub for hydrogen energy has failed twice already, and if the most recent plan to revive it has any hope of moving forward. Plus, is there relief coming for workers at the Metropolitan Detention Center in Albuquerque? The Panel discusses recent staff shortages, action from the county, and the possibility this could rise to the level of a crisis. And, our panelists take a close look at the changes made to a package of voting reform measures.

Environment Correspondent Laura Paskus catches up with one of New Mexico’s U.S. Representatives, Melanie Stansbury, about the action she’s taken since joining congress. That includes recent legislation she’s introduced, The Water Smart Access for Tribes Act. And, Laura talks with climate scientist Dave Gutzler about the changes New Mexico’s already experiencing, as well as what’s to come. Plus, why it’s so hard for policymakers and politicians to act on climate.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the 2022 Legislative Session wraps up on Thursday, February 17th at noon after a grueling 30-day session. The Line opinion panel discuss what made it through the Roundhouse and on to the Governor’s desk. They also discuss the big-ticket items that fell short or ran out of time, and the implications of the final legislative outcomes.

De Haven Solimon Chaffins grew up living with her grandparents on the Laguna Pueblo. The landscape there shaped her view of the world... the natural landscape... and the Jackpile-Paguate Uranium Mine. That huge open pit mine is a federal Superfund site and is still polluting water and causing cancers. This week, Chaffins sits down with Our Land Correspondent Laura Paskus to explain how her artwork explores the story of the mine and its impacts. You can see some of her work at an exhibit called ‘Radon Daughter,’ on display at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center through the end of this month.

The city of Albuquerque has been involved in conversations with Pueblos and Tribes since June, when 215 unmarked graves of unidentified Indigenous youth were discovered at the site of an Indian Boarding School in British Columbia. Correspondent Antonia Gonzales talks with Dr. Theodore Jojola about this difficult history and the current efforts to acknowledge that history and foster healing.

He shares the one issue that he thinks is standing in the way of peace. Environment Reporter Laura Paskus explains the decades-old practice of weather modification and how it could be used here in New Mexico, both in the short and long term. And, Ebony Isis Booth Introduces us to visual artist Frank Blazquez who takes us through his vision for his documentary series “Duke City Diaries.”

The Line Opinion Panel takes up the state’s record-setting budget and debates some controversial items Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham specifically eliminated from the legislature’s spending plan. Plus, a deeper look at the Governor’s recent executive action on Hydrogen as an international company announces multi-million-dollar plans for Albuquerque. And, the panel recaps the Democratic Party’s pre-primary convention, and a push to support more moderate candidates.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, the state legislature is heading back to the Roundhouse in less than two weeks for a special session. The Line Opinion panel looks ahead to how they could help ease the burdens of inflation and rising gas prices. The panel will also preview the first legal sales of recreational cannabis in New Mexico, while discussing the regulatory questions that still remain. And, more accusations of sexual harassment are coming out against a sitting state senator. Host Gene Grant asks our panelists what needs to change when lawmakers interact with lobbyists in Santa Fe.
Environment reporter Laura Paskus asks the new State Engineer about the preparations the state is making to make sure water access is reliable in what’s forecasted to be another dry year. And, a bird’s eye view of a project on the Rio Grande aimed at preserving the river’s natural habitat.

Dr. Axe’s heart centered approach can be traced to successfully guiding his mother through her extensive health struggles, after which he committed to a life’s work of sharing the methodology that worked for her, and his patients. With Ancient Remedies, Dr. Axe’s goal is to empower people to find wellness in their own lives by focusing on the powerful benefits of using food to heal your body; an approach rooted in an age-old practice but tailored to our modern world. Ancient Remedies is a new way of thinking about health and healing – one based on the time-tested knowledge from ancient medical systems that use natural solutions to address digestive issues, hormonal imbalances, inflammatory conditions, immune dysfunction, neurological disorders, and autoimmune disease.

NEWS 22
Tuesday-Thursday at 6:30pm beginning 2/15 except 3/8-3/10 & 3/22 (30min)
Student produced nightly news show for Southern New Mexico and West Texas.
Through meetings with local community leaders, review of area newspapers and other publications, and production of daily newscasts (Monday-Friday), the staff of KRWG-FM/KRXG-FM has determined that the following issues are of primary importance to the citizens within our coverage area:

1. Arts, Entertainment, and Culture – The mix of Hispanic/Native American/ and Anglo cultures provide many positive attributes to life in southern New Mexico. However, this same mix results in an on-going undercurrent of conflict among the cultures. Cultural and historical understanding is of on-going importance in this area. The area includes a diverse mix of arts and entertainment, including local musicians and performance venues and efforts to build a film industry.

2. Business, Economic Development, Environment - With an above-average unemployment rate and a below-average income level, the status of the business/agricultural community in southern New Mexico is an important issue. Concern over the constant issue of defense spending at the federal level is ongoing in this area due to the presence of several military and NASA installations. Dona Ana County is also actively seeking new businesses and a strong infrastructure exists near the Santa Teresa Border Crossing, which is also a source of news and related issues. Environmental concerns are often at odds with economic development pressures.

3. Local Public Affairs and Education– Southern New Mexico has very intensive governance and political issues that are of constant interest to the citizens of the involved communities, which include a variety of elected and appointed officials. The area is also making efforts to improve education and has a variety of elected school boards.

Stories placed in these three main categories are broadcast on local newscasts each weekday (Monday-Friday) at 645, 745, 845, 1644, 1744, and 1844.

Story descriptions and broadcast time(s) are listed on the upcoming pages by topic area.

2. Business, Economic Development and Environment - With an above-average unemployment rate and a below-average income level, the status of the business/agricultural community in southern New Mexico is an important issue. Concern over the constant issue of defense spending at the federal level is ongoing in this area due to the presence of several military and NASA installations. Dona Ana County is also actively seeking new businesses and a strong infrastructure exists near the Santa Teresa Border Crossing, which is also a source of news and related issues. Environmental concerns are often at odds with economic development pressures.
