NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

While the origins of jazz are rooted in the African American experience, the genre has a long history of embracing cultural pluralism. And since November is Native American Heritage Month, it's appropriate to celebrate Native Americans who have left their mark on the jazz world – from Mildred Bailey [pictured], a swing vocalist from the 1920s and 1930s to trombonist “Big Chief” Russell Moore, who was active from the mid-1930s through the early ‘80s to Jim Pepper, who often played saxophone alongside Cleveland native, Joe Lovano to Carlos Nakai, who today combines the sounds of the Native American flute with jazz improvisation. These and many other Native American jazz artists have enriched the music we love so well.

IDEASTREAM LEARNING

Ideastream Learning harnesses the power of public media to provide educational resources and services that help children, parents and educators develop and flourish.

Ideastream works with a wide range of community-based partners to provide children and their families with opportunities, resources, and experiences that support the development of foundational literacy and mathematics skills.

PBS KIDS resources are the perfect at-home learning companion to help children prepare and flourish in kindergarten and beyond

PBS KIDS SCHEDULE CHANGES

As kids are increasingly consuming their favorite shows through digital channels, we, along with most PBS stations across the country, are making a shift to better serve our audiences. WVIZ has updated our main channel programming on weekday afternoons.

To access children's programming on-demand, we invite you to use the PBS Kids Livestream (ideastream.org/kidsTV) and download the free PBS Kids Video App and PBS Kids Game App. Our commitment to kids remains strong and we will continue to broadcast programming fully dedicated to kids with the 24/7 PBS Kids channel at 25.5.
