ABOUT US

Alaska Public Media harnesses the power of multiple media platforms to make a more informed and connected life possible for all Alaskans. We produce and present news and content that provides lifelong learning opportunities in public affairs, health and leisure, science and nature, economic and social development, civic engagement and world events.

Located in Southcentral Alaska, we are comprised of KSKA radio, KAKM-TV, Create TV, PBS KIDS, and alaskapublic.org. Alaska Public Media also operates the Statewide News and a shared television service with KTOO in Juneau and KYUK in Bethel. Alaska Public Media and its affiliates deliver content that reaches 97% of the population of Alaska.

WELCOME

Welcome to the January 2026 edition of the Alaska Public Media Program Guide! Here are this month's featured programs, news and announcements.

STATION NEWS

INTRODUCING: ALASKA SURVIVAL KIT

Inside Alaska Public Media's new Survival Kit series, built by Alaskans for Alaskans.

Living in Alaska isn't just about enduring the cold — it's about figuring out how to make life work in a place that regularly throws wildlife, darkness and extreme weather at you. Whether you just arrived in Alaska or have lived here your whole life, there's always something new to learn about surviving — and thriving — in the 49th state.

That's why Alaska Public Media's newsroom has launched a new project: Alaska Survival Kit. This is a practical, people-powered series built around one simple idea: Alaskans know how to live well up here, and they're willing to share what they've learned.

Alaska Survival Kit is a collection of stories packed with hard-earned wisdom, clever hacks and lessons learned the hard way. These aren't abstract how-tos or academic advice — they're real strategies from real people. Think of the series as crowd-sourced survival skills for everyday Alaska life.

Each story focuses on specific, actionable tips for listeners and readers. How do you embrace winter if you hate the cold? What makes driving in icy conditions less terrifying? How do you deal with months of darkness — or find joy indoors when the weather keeps you home? From bike commuting through snow to throwing legendary potato parties, Alaska Survival Kit explores the smart, weird and wonderful ways people make life in Alaska easier, more joyful and more interesting.

You can find our Alaska Survival Kit stories online at alaskapublic.org/survivalkit, plus on the radio and on social media. And the project is growing: We're inviting reporters across Alaska to contribute their own Survival Kit stories, because no one understands how to live here better than the people who already do.

Our newsroom would also love to hear from you. Alaska Survival Kit is built by Alaskans — and that includes you. Send your story ideas or survival tips to news@alaskapublic.org, and help shape what comes next.

JANUARY'S DOCUMENTARY HIGHLIGHTS

Unforgettable films that reveal the forces shaping our planet—and ourselves.

January brings a remarkable collection of documentaries spanning current events, history, science, wildlife, and deeply personal storytelling. These films invite viewers to look more closely at the forces shaping our world—and the people living through them.

American Experience: Bombshell examines how the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were presented to the public, revealing how early narratives of the nuclear age were carefully controlled. Tune in Tuesday, January 6, at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

In Weathered: After the LA Firestorm, the devastating Los Angeles wildfires become a case study in how climate change, infrastructure, and policy collide. Scientists, first responders, and survivors help explain why the fires burned so intensely—and what lessons may help communities prepare for what comes next. Tune in Wednesday, January 7, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

VOCES: American Sons follows a group of U.S. Marines as they reunite years after serving in Afghanistan, confronting loss, trauma, and the enduring ties of brotherhood forged in combat. Tune in Monday, January 12, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

Nature: Tusker — Brotherhood of Elephants offers a rare look at African elephant bulls, revealing the unexpected bonds, rivalries, and social intelligence of these iconic animals as they navigate a rapidly changing environment. Tune in Wednesday, January 14, at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

In NOVA: Asteroids — Spark of Life?, scientists explore the radical idea that ancient asteroid impacts may have helped create the conditions necessary for life on Earth. Tune in Wednesday, January 21, at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

Independent Lens: Vivien's Wild Ride is a deeply personal film following acclaimed editor Vivien Hillgrove as she redefines creativity and identity after losing her central vision. Tune in Monday, January 26, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

The month concludes with NOVA: Angkor — Hidden Jungle Empire, which uses cutting-edge technology to uncover how one of the world's greatest ancient cities flourished—and why it ultimately fell. Tune in Wednesday, January 28, at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

LONDON'S BOLDEST SLEUTH RETURNS

Ambition, mystery, and resolve drive a compelling new chapter for Eliza Scarlet.

The new season of the MASTERPIECE mystery Miss Scarlet finds Eliza Scarlet's private-detective agency thriving, even as success brings new complications. Challenging cases push her skills further than ever, while shifting alliances and unresolved feelings test the boundaries between her professional ambitions and personal life. As Victorian society evolves, so does Eliza—navigating ambition, trust, and independence in a male-dominated field that still resists her presence.

Kate Phillips returns with trademark wit and confidence, joined by familiar faces and compelling new characters who add depth and tension to the story. Each episode blends clever mysteries with ongoing character arcs, balancing suspense, humor, and emotional growth.

Rich in period detail and propelled by a fiercely modern heroine, Miss Scarlet continues to offer smart storytelling with heart—proving once again that determination and intelligence can outmatch even the most entrenched expectations.

Tune in for the Season 6 Premiere, Sunday, January 11, at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

A BOOKSHOP FULL OF MYSTERIES

Old volumes, new crimes, and a most unlikely detective collide in a postwar whodunit.

Postwar London hums with secrets, shadows, and second chances as a most unlikely sleuth steps into the role of crime-solver. Amid bomb-scarred streets and dusty bookshops, intellect and intuition prove just as powerful as brute force in unraveling the city's darkest mysteries.

The new MASTERPIECE series Bookish introduces Gabriel Book, an antiquarian bookseller whose deep love of literature—and razor-sharp mind—draws him into baffling criminal cases. Set in 1946, the drama blends classic whodunit intrigue with richly drawn characters navigating a society still reshaping itself after World War II. Book's personal life adds further complexity: his unconventional marriage, his past, and the quiet risks of living authentically in a restrictive era all inform his keen understanding of human nature.

Created by and starring Mark Gatiss, the series pairs wit and warmth with atmospheric storytelling.

With its evocative period detail, clever mysteries, and literary flair, Bookish offers a fresh, intelligent take on the cozy crime genre—one where knowledge truly is power, and every story hides another beneath its cover.

Tune in for the Series Premiere, Sunday, January 11, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV or stream it on PBS.org after the broadcast premiere.

BLACK AND JEWISH AMERICA

Henry Louis Gates Jr. examines a relationship that helped shape the nation.

This new series offers a thoughtful and timely examination of one of America's most complex relationships, tracing how two distinct communities have shaped—and challenged—one another across generations. Through history, culture, faith, and politics, the program invites viewers to look beyond simplified narratives and explore the real human stories that connect Black and Jewish Americans.

Guided by renowned scholar and storyteller Henry Louis Gates Jr., the series moves fluidly from the past to the present. Drawing on archival materials, expert voices, and firsthand accounts, it examines moments of solidarity and shared struggle alongside periods of tension and misunderstanding. From early encounters in colonial America to the civil rights movement and beyond, the series reveals how cooperation and conflict alike have influenced the broader American story.

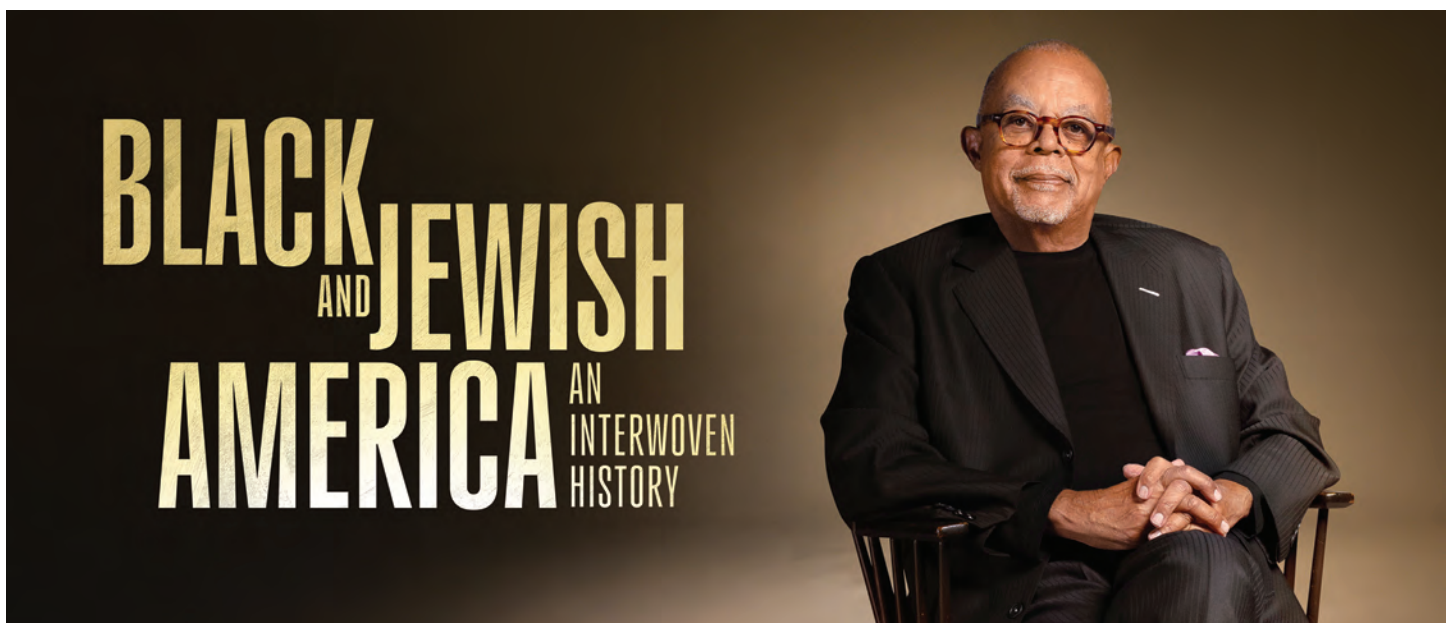

Rather than presenting a single point of view, the episodes embrace nuance. They explore questions of identity, belonging, and moral responsibility, examining how history, religion, and migration shaped each community's sense of self. Viewers are encouraged to consider how alliances were formed, why divisions emerged, and what lessons can be drawn for today's cultural and political landscape.

Throughout the series, Gates brings his signature combination of intellectual rigor, empathy, and clarity. His approach emphasizes conversation over confrontation, offering context without oversimplification. The result is a program that is both deeply informative and emotionally resonant, illuminating connections that are often overlooked or misunderstood.

Black and Jewish America is more than a historical survey—it is an invitation to engage with difficult questions and shared legacies. By exploring how these two communities have influenced one another, the series sheds light on broader themes of justice, identity, and coexistence. Timely, illuminating, and thought-provoking, it provides viewers with a richer understanding of America's past and a clearer lens on its present.

Tune in for the first of this four part series Tuesday, February 3, at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV. New episodes air each Tuesday throughout February and stream on PBS.org after their broadcast premiere.
