Broad Stripes, Bright Stars, and White Lies America's First Flag

Friday, July 4 at 3 pm & 10 pm

In honor of Flag Day and the Fourth of July, the Smithsonian unveils the often misunderstood stories behind two of our nation's most famous flags: the Betsy Ross flag, and the Star Spangled Banner.

A Big Band Fourth of July

Friday, July 4 at 11 pm

The rise of big bands in the 1930s and 40s played a key role in the popularization of jazz, and provided a soundtrack for Americans navigating a challenging era of economic depression and global warfare. Celebrate America's Independence Day with a legacy of swing, featuring recordings from Duke Ellington, Mary Lou Williams (pictured), Glenn Miller, Count Basie, Machito, the International Sweethearts of Rhythm, and other American artists and ensembles.

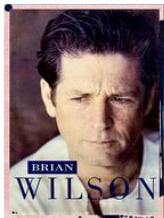

The Magic of Joe Hisaishi

Monday, July 7 at 10 am

For forty years, Studio Ghibli's world-class animated films have enchanted global audiences. In particular, Joe Hisaishi's unforgettable soundtracks have made tangible the experiences of childlike wonder, high octane adventure, and the joy of companionship.

Join us as we celebrate the legacy (and 75th birthday) of this legendary composer.

The Epic Journey of Brian Wilson

Wednesday, July 9 at 3 pm

Solely written and produced by Brian Wilson super fan and college English professor Gardner Campbell—who's taught at Virginia Tech and Virginia Commonwealth University, Campbell weaves his own heart-felt and well-researched commentary in amongst a carefully curated sampling of some of Brian Wilson's most popular recordings, as well as many deep cuts - both with the Beach Boys and as a critically acclaimed solo artist.

How We Survive Investing for the Climate

Friday, July 11 at 3 pm

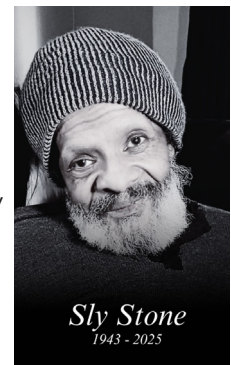

In this special from Marketplace's "How We Survive" climate team, investigate the rise, fall and reincarnation of Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) investing. Look at where Wall Street money is driving solutions, where it's causing more problems, and if capitalism is even compatible with sustainability.

Sly and the Family Stone Taking Us Higher (An Appreciation)

Saturday, July 12 at 8 pm &

Sunday, July 13 at 6 am

A celebration of some of the most irresistible music of the late 1960's and early '70's from group leader Sly Stone and the FAMILY STONE band - that was multi-racial, multi-genre, and positivity-bent in a world under stress in their time. Great songs and informed comments from our panel.

Dear Public Radio 90 Members,

I will never be able to adequately express the gratitude that we have to all of you who have been so kind and generous in your support of Public Radio 90 and the value and services that it brings to our region. It truly is because of you that this station has continued to operate and bring this important programming to our region.

That being said, we are still facing the long and hard road of working to safeguard our Federal Funding. Public Radio 90 receives about 19% of our budget from Federal Funds. This may not seem like an insurmountable hurdle, but without all of our funding sources we will be facing cuts. So, if you haven't done so already, please make sure that you reach out to our legislators to let them know how important WNMU-FM is to our region. You can access some easy to use resources at protectmypublicmedia.org

We are continuing to work with our legislators, associations, NMU, and other groups in support of public media to try to safeguard the Federal Funding. We promise to honor your financial gifts by working hard to make sure that Public Radio 90 continues to operate and serve the Upper Peninsula and northeast Wisconsin. If you haven't become a member yet, or you need to renew your membership, please make your online gift now at wnmufm.org; or mail a check to Public Radio 90, 1401 Presque Isle Ave., Marquette, MI 49855. You can also give through our app. Whatever method of giving you select – thank you!

Let's continue to work together on behalf of our station: WNMU-FM, Public Radio 90. Thank you to everyone who has called, emailed, or written letters of support to our legislators. It is all of us working together that keeps Public Radio 90 thriving, even through difficult times.

Make sure you take a few moments for yourself and enjoy the sunshine!

45th Annual Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival

Friday, July 18-Sunday, July 20

The Hiawatha Festival is the only event of its size and scope in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Without Hiawatha, local performers and fans would have to travel between four and six hours to the nearest comparable festivals. Each year's event features traditional-music styles that include Bluegrass, Old-Timey, Cajun, Celtic, acoustic Blues, and Folk. It also features traditional dance styles. Main stage acts include nationally known performers as well as regional and local favorites.

The Festival opens its gates at 1pm on Friday. Children ages 0-8, Tweens ages 9-12, and Teens ages 13-17 activities and performances run all day on Saturday and Sunday. Various musician-led workshops, open jams, and dance sessions run throughout the day on Saturday and Sunday. 'Artists in the Round', a juried traditional arts show, is on Saturday and Sunday, and our Young Artists Corner on Saturday afternoon.

Wristbands/ticket purchase and more information on the festival are available by calling 906-226-8575, or online at hiawathamusic.org.

Historic interpretation throughout the tour brings to light the stories of buildings, people, and sites as we travel. We will feature the Marquette lakefront, downtown, historic homes, Park Cemetery, and sites north at the university. The 90 minute tour departs from and returns to the History Center. Purchase tickets below, or stop in to the MRHC front desk. The MRHC would like to thank Checker Bus for their support of these tours.

Tickets: $25 each.

DEVOS ART MUSEUM, NMU

North of the 45th Annual Juried Upper Midwest Art Exhibition

Friday, June 20 - Friday, August 1

The North of the 45th art exhibition highlights artists living in this upper Midwest region in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Jurors look through hundreds of artworks and select artworks to create an exhibition. No two presentations are the same. The North of the 45th is the latitude, line, or the halfway point between the equator and the north pole. Crossing this line is often associated with being "up north."

Ozark Mountain Daredevils

Saturday, July 12 at 7:30 pm

The Ozark Mountain Daredevils have been aptly described as "a ragtag collection of hippies, bohemians, and musicians of no fixed ambition." They have always been indefinable in terms of music genres, producing sounds of country-rock and electric bluegrass all on the same record; writing lyrics both whimsical and poetic, singing harmonies that would send shivers up your spine.

Tickets: $300 VIP Box Seats (includes: 2 tickets, personal bar area, access during soundcheck w/ special Meet & Greet, VIP laminate, & custom T-shirt). $100 VIP Front Seats (includes: 1 ticket, access during soundcheck w/ special Meet & Greet, VIP laminate, & custom T-shirt). $55 Front Main Floor or Balcony. $50 Back Main Floor. $40 Back Balcony.

Tickets: $150 VIP Box Seats (includes: 2 tickets, personal bar area, access during soundcheck w/ special Meet & Greet, VIP laminate, & custom T-shirt). $65 VIP Front Seats (includes: 1 ticket, access during soundcheck w/ special Meet & Greet, VIP laminate, & custom T-shirt). $35 Front Main Floor or Balcony. $30 Back Main Floor. $25 Back Balcony.

Monday-Friday 9 am

Chapter-A-Day on WNMU-FM

Monday, June 23 through Friday, July 4, Pete Bisson reads All The Beauty in The World: The Metropolitan Museum of Art and Me by Patrick Bringley. Millions of people visit the Met, but only a select few have unrestricted access: the guards who roam in blue suits, keeping an eye on the two million square foot treasure house. Caught up in his career at The New Yorker, Patrick Bringley never thought he'd be one of them. Then his brother was diagnosed with cancer and he found himself needing to escape his daily life. So he quit The New Yorker and sought solace in the most beautiful place he knew. To his surprise, this temporary refuge becomes Bringley's home away from home. Follow him as he guards delicate treasures, strolls the labyrinths beneath the galleries, wears out nine pairs of shoes, and marvels at the works in his care.

Monday, July 7 through Friday, July 25, Jim Fleming reads Star Lake Saloon and Housekeeping Cottages by Sara Rath. Hannah Swann leads a quiet life in Madison, but when she inherits her uncle's rundown resort in the north woods, she finds herself proprietor of his environmental legacy as well. It's a chance to discover her family, herself, and what is most important to her future.

Monday, July 28 through Friday, August 15, Jim Fleming reads Truck: A Love Story by Michael Perry.

8:00pm Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival: Brahms & Mozart - For the masterful clarinetist David Shifrin, Mozart's 1789 Clarinet Quintet sets "a standard that has never been surpassed for great music for the clarinet." Here, Shifrin joins forces with the Escher String Quartet. Escher cellist Brook Speltz tells us, "I have no problem being hyperbolic about the Mozart Clarinet Quintet and I would extend that to David Shifrin, too. I don't think there's an artist out there who could touch that piece the way he does, and for us, it was one of the honors of a lifetime to play that piece with that man." The hour begins as violinist Cho-Liang Lin and pianist Jon Kimura Parker play the Sonata in A Major, a good natured, mature work created by Johannes Brahms, in 1886, at the zenith of his creative powers.

- 8:00pm Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival: Verdi & Bartók String Quartets - The Verona Quartet makes its Festival debut performing Giuseppe Verdi's sole chamber work, the String Quartet in E Minor. Verdi wrote it in Naples, in 1873, during a production delay of his opera Aida. The Verona's violist, Abigail Rojansky, appreciates the opportunity to inhabit Verdi's music. "If you think about his operatic contributions, we get that," she remarked about the piece. "We get extreme pain, sadness and tenderness, and somehow he also finds these moments of just pure celebration." After the Verdi, the Escher String Quartet delivers one of the iconic chamber works of the 20th century: the String Quartet No. 5, which Bartók composed in 1934. The Escher String Quartet met as students at the Manhattan School of Music in 2005, and the ensemble came into their own through the process of mastering this difficult work of great power and depth.

8:00pm Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival: Handel & Hermann - A pair of English-infused works composed 250 years apart. Harry Bicket, music director at the Santa Fe Opera and the English Consort in London, plays harpsichord and leads a chamber orchestra of Santa Fe Opera musicians in his presentation of the D Major and G Major Suites from Water Music, the iconic and delightful soundscape Handel composed for a royal river party hosted by King George I. For Harry Bicket, one of the enduring joys of this piece is that the music "is instantly recognizable yet still takes one by surprise." Also, music by the American anglophile Bernard Herrmann, who created many mid-20th century Hollywood film scores. Herrmann penned his final concert piece, Souvenirs de Voyage, a cinematic journey through England, Ireland, and Italy, while living in England in 1967. Todd Levy, principal clarinet for the Santa Fe Opera Orchestra and the Milwaukee Symphony, brings this evocative and pastoral work to life in collaboration with violinists Ida Kavafian and L.P. How, violist Steven Tenenbom, and cellist Eric Kim.
