Dinosaur Apocalypse

Sixty-six million years ago, a gigantic asteroid slammed into Earth wiping out the dinosaurs. There's strong evidence of the asteroid impact, but no fossils of a dinosaur killed in the event have ever been found. Now, at a dig site in the Badlands of North Dakota, scientists have uncovered a wealth of fossilized creatures that could reveal a more detailed picture of the devastating day the asteroid hit.

In the two-part "Dinosaur Apocalypse" on Nova, Sir David Attenborough guides us in finding clues that can give us an unprecedented glimpse into what happened in the last moments of the dinosaurs on Earth. Attenborough and his team follow a trail of remarkably well-preserved fossils, including a pterosaur embryo in its shell. Along with the fossils, the team found small circles of glass locked in amber. Inside one of the spheres is a small particle of rock that looks like a chemical compatible with the killer space rock itself. And one of the most amazing finds of all: an almost perfectly preserved leg of a dinosaur with its skin still intact.

Ice Age Footprints

Thousands of prehistoric footprints left by Ice Age humans and animals stretch for miles across the blinding white surfaces of New Mexico's White Sands National Park. The phenomenal collection of prints preserves a unique series of snapshots of life and behavior, capturing moments when humans crossed paths with extinct Ice Age beasts, including enormous ground sloths and mammoths.

Frozen in time, these intimate traces of human and animal activity represent evidence unknowable from any other type of archaeological find. Not only do the tracks reveal remarkable details about life in the Ice Age, but radiocarbon dating of the footprints provides important new evidence about the people of the Americas.

The footprints were formed when ancient peoples walked over damp, sandy ground surrounding a former lake. Over time, sediment filled in the footprints as the ground hardened fossilizing the prints. Recently, erosion has resurfaced the prints, making many of them visible to the naked eye. By testing the sediment, researchers were able to carbon date the prints, establishing that the tracks were between 21,000 and 23,000 years old.

These 23,000-year-old fossilized footprints suggest people may have arrived in the Americas long before scientists had previously thought. For decades, many scientists believed humans spread across the American continents only at the end of the Ice Age, but these new footprints imply humans came to America during the Ice

Why Ships Crash

In the early hours of March 23, 2021, the colossal Ever Given container ship, one of the world's largest cargo vessels, was sailing through the Suez Canal when it was thrown off course. Its hull crashed into the sandbank and the ship became wedged diagonally across the canal. The blockage shut down this vital commercial artery for almost a week and caused the build-up of a "ship jam" of more than 400 vessels. International supply chains ground to a halt, sparking fuel shortages and jeopardizing deliveries of everything from computers and cars to food, clothes, and medical supplies. While Egyptian authorities finally allowed Ever Given to resume its voyage after the owners paid an undisclosed fine, the wider implications of the incident are far from over.

"Why Ships Crash" on Nova also highlights how often these immense vessels run into trouble: around 2,500 ships crash each year, with an average of 100 vessels sinking or becoming stranded. Are modern ships becoming too big for the historic canals and antiquated ports in which they operate?

Age—at a time when massive glaciers would have covered much of their path.

Archaeologists have pointed to the oldest known tools, called Clovis—spear tips, needles, and scrapers—as markers for when humans crossed the continents. Clovis tools date back 13,000 years, which lines up with the melting of the glaciers, after the Ice Age. But these findings show there were humans in North America 10,000 years before the Clovis people.

Please see the Nova listings on page 2 (3-2) and page 18 (3-1) for the dates and times of these episodes.

They Volunteered for This: Merrill's Marauders

Legendary news anchor Tom Brokaw is the narrator for They Volunteered for This: Merrill's Marauders, a film focusing on one of World War II's most heroic and least talked about units. The men who served as Merrill's Marauders volunteered for an unknown "dangerous and hazardous" mission in 1943, according to the Army. That mission was to disrupt Japanese supply lines and communications in Burma, (now known as Myanmar), and capture the Japanese-held airfield in Myitkyina.

Merrill's Marauders specialized in "hit and run" tactics in the jungles and mountains of Burma during 1944-

1945. The Japanese always thought the 3,000 soldiers were a group of 15,000 plus due to their success of being everywhere at every time and because of the damage and casualties they were able to inflict.

Carrying only what they could pack on their backs and mules, they defeated the much larger and better equipped Japanese 18th division in five major battles and 30 minor engagements.

While battling not only the enemy but malaria, mite typhus, dysentery, monsoons and isolation, the Marauders marched farther than any WWII fighting force—almost 1,000 miles. Only about 200 "walking skeletons" were capable of combat when they reached Myitkyina, and though outnumbered and ravaged, Merrill's Marauders successfully captured the airfield. Of the nearly 3,000 Marauders who fought in 1944, just over 100 survived.

They Volunteered for This: Merrill's Marauders airs on 3-2 Thursday, the 26th at 7:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 29th at 6:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Sunday, the 29th at 8:00 p.m.

The Misty Experiment: The Secret Battle for the Ho Chi Minh Trail

A half-century after the end of the Vietnam War, the public still has little consensus about what happened there, or why. The Misty Experiment: The Secret Battle for the Ho Chi Minh Trail tells the story about a special U.S. Air Force squadron whose pilots volunteered for one of the war's most dangerous air missions. Their assignment: search for enemy supply transports and anti-aircraft installations concealed within the web of trail paths and waterways collectively known as the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

The squadron also directed on-site rescue operations for U.S. and allied aircrews shot down while flying over the jungles of North Vietnam and Laos. The activities of Operation Commando Sabre, the official name of the mission, were classified as "top secret" during and immediately following the war.

This documentary shares the story of the Misty squadron as told solely through the recollections of the veterans who volunteered for the mission. Their stories are enhanced by never-before-seen squadron footage and general archival combat footage from the war.

The Misty Experiment: The Secret Battle for the Ho Chi Minh Trail can be seen on 3-2 Thursday, the 12th at 7:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 15th at 6:00 p.m. It airs on 3-1 Monday, the 30th at 7:00 p.m.

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE

Flood in the Desert

About 40 miles north of Los Angeles, just before midnight on March 12, 1928, the St. Francis Dam—a wall of concrete 20 stories high, holding back 12 billion gallons of water—blew apart just five days after the reservoir was filled to capacity for the first time. Ten thousand people lived downstream.

The St. Francis Dam disaster not only destroyed hundreds of lives and millions of dollars' worth of property, it also washed away the reputation of William Mulholland, the father of modern Los Angeles, and jeopardized larger plans to transform the West. A self-taught engineer, the 72-year-old Mulholland had launched the city's remarkable growth by building both an aqueduct to pipe water 233 miles from the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and the St. Francis Dam, to hold a full year's supply of water for Los Angeles.

As the massive St. Francis Dam was being built, Mulholland was distracted by plans for an even bigger project—Hoover Dam. As a result, the St. Francis Dam was designed with almost no oversight. Mulholland actually modified the design on the fly, adding 20 feet to its height without widening the base, a change that would have catastrophic consequences.

The dam was so profoundly flawed that it took engineers decades to tell which of its many shortcomings was responsible for the collapse.

The worst civil engineering disaster in American history, it occurred on the eve of a crucial Senate vote to fund the Hoover Dam. Overnight, the whole enterprise was thrown into jeopardy. Mulholland accepted responsibility for the St. Francis calamity; he retired in the fall of 1928. A few weeks later, the Senate finally approved Hoover Dam.

"Flood in the Desert" on American Experience can be seen on 3-2 Tuesday, the 3rd at 8:00 p.m. and Tuesday, the 10th at 10:00 p.m. It airs on 3-1 Thursday, the 5th at 3:00 p.m. and Monday, the 9th at 7:00 p.m.

MASTERPIECE

RIDLEY ROAD

Summer 1962: London is swinging with new music, hip fashions, and an irresistible hedonistic spirit. It's also seething with antisemitic violence incited by homegrown neo-Nazis. Masterpiece presents a riveting four-part drama set in this colorful but tumultuous time on "Ridley Road," based on Jo Bloom's acclaimed novel.

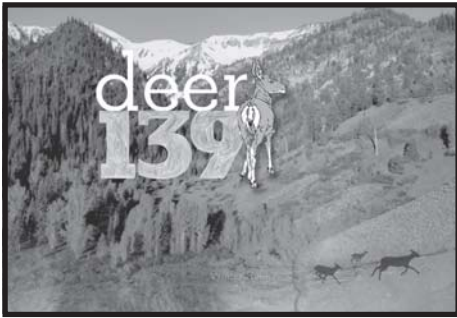

Inspired by true events, "Ridley Road" stars newcomer Agnes O'Casey as Vivien Epstein, a young Jewish hairdresser who fits right into London's mod scene, while she is secretly infiltrating the British neo-Nazi hierarchy on behalf of Jewish antifascists. Rory Kinnear stars as Colin Jordan, the real-life leader of Britain's post-World War II Nazi movement, and Tom Varey is Jack, Vivien's true love.

"Ridley Road" on Masterpiece airs on 3-2 Sundays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 1st and repeats Friday nights at various times (see AtoZ on page 2). It airs on 3-1 Sundays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 1st and Mondays at 1:00 p.m. beginning the 2nd.

Tom Varey stars as Jack Morris and Agnes O'Casey portrays Vivien Epstein in "Ridley Road."

To survive, she must travel 85 miles, traversing formidable mountain passes and braving the unforgiving elements of springtime in the rugged Wyoming backcountry, and she does it malnourished and pregnant. This is the migration story of Deer 139.

Now, a team of intrepid women hike, ski, and packraft her migratory path to understand why and how this deer, and others, migrate to live in an ever-changing landscape. As the team of scientists and adventurers connect with the wild places that Deer 139 calls home, they unveil the mysteries of long-distance wildlife migration and make a case for sustaining intact landscapes.

Deer 139 can be seen on 3-2 Wednesday, the 4th at 9:00 p.m.

INDEPENDENT LENS

At Lowell High School, the top public high school in San Francisco, college admission is at its most competitive within its high achieving, city-wide student body—nearly 70 percent Asian American—as they work tirelessly.

With humor and heart, "Try Harder!" pulls back the curtain on the reality of the college application process and the intersection of class, race, and opportunity through the eyes of high school seniors applying to America's top schools.

Independent Lens "Try Harder!" airs on 3-2 Monday, the 2nd at 9:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Sunday, the 8th at 9:00 p.m.

Scenes from the Glittering World

Sprawling across more than 17,000,000 acres of Northeast Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah, the Navajo Nation encompasses some of the country's most desolate areas. On its fringes lies the most remote high school in the continental United States, home to students who are experiencing ubiquitous teen trials and triumphs, along with the unyielding seclusion of the surrounding landscape and their small school.

"Scenes from the Glittering World" on Independence Lens follows three Indigenous students as they maneuver through the complications of their adolescence in hopes of realizing their dreams.

"Scenes from the Glittering World" on Independent Lens airs Monday, the 16th at 9:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Sunday, the 22nd at 9:00 p.m.

Great Performances at The Met

Cinderella

Charles Perrault's 1698 fairy tale, the classic telling of the Cinderella story, is The Met's new installment in its series of opera adaptations for family audiences, airing on Great Performances at The Met. Presented with an all-new English translation, the abridged 90 minute production stars mezzo-soprano Isabel Leonard as the rags-to-riches princess.

"Cinderella" on Great Performances at The Met will be broadcast on 3-2 Sunday, the 8th at 1:00 p.m. Enjoy it on 3-1 Sunday, the 29th at 2:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

AMERICAN MASTERS

Waterman — Duke: Ambassador of Aloha

Five-time Olympic medalist Duke Kahanamoku shattered records as a swimmer and brought surfing to the world while overcoming rampant racism in a lifetime of personal challenges. American Masters "Waterman — Duke: Ambassador of Aloha" explores the life, career, struggles and legacy of the surfing legend.

By the time Hawaii became the 50th state, surfing had spread throughout America and around the world because of Kahanamoku's influence and celebrity. Through his popular surfing exhibitions, he brought the sport to both coasts of the United States and to Freshwater Beach near Sydney, Australia.

American Masters "Waterman — Duke: Ambassador of Aloha" airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 10th at 8:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Monday, the 16th at 7:00 p.m.

Petit Rat

In 1940, a French Jewish girl's dream of becoming a ballerina is cut short by World War II. She vows that if she has daughters, they will become dancers. Nearly 80 years later, she and her two daughters confront the impact of that pledge.

Petit Rat is a portrait of three women, bonded by the intergenerational trauma of war and uplifted by the resilience of familial love.

Petit Rat is an affectionate term by which children of the Paris Opera Ballet are known.

Petit Rat airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 15th at 10:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Tuesday, the 17th at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 22nd at 3:00 p.m.

If Everyone Knew

One in four pregnancies ends in miscarriage, but many women feel ashamed to speak about it. If Everyone Knew documents three women's journeys with baby loss, tackling the taboo that surrounds it. Though the conversation around baby loss in society is growing, there is still work to be done. In this half-hour film, women speak about their experiences to encourage wider understanding and acceptance.

Great Performances

This May, Great Performances presents its fifth annual "Broadway's Best" lineup:

Anything Goes

Enjoy this London production of Cole Porter's classic musical led by Tony-winner Sutton Foster who reprises her role as Reno Sweeney with favorite songs like "I Get A Kick Out of You" and "You're the Top."

Merry Wives

Experience Shakespeare's comedic masterpiece from the Public Theater's Shakespeare in the Park set in South Harlem, telling the story of the trickster Falstaff and the wily wives who outwit him in a celebration of Black joy, laughter and vitality.

LtoR: Patti LuPone and Katrina Lenk

Keeping Company with Sondheim

Take an inside look at the reimaged gender-swapped production as it returns to Broadway during the COVID-19 pandemic. Features new interviews with Tony and Grammy-winning cast members Katrina Lenk, Patti LuPone, Sondheim and more.

HOPE ROAD

Sex trafficking of children, male and female, is embedded in American society. That fact is not often brought to the attention of the general public. In this film, survivors tell the heartrending stories of their experiences of being trafficked and describe the long road to recovery.

Concerned individuals may feel that there is nothing they can do to address the issue, but Hope Road highlights actions currently being taken to find solutions.

Hope Road can be seen on 3-2 Tuesday, the 24th at 10:00 p.m.

Queen and Her Prime Ministers

The Queen and Her Prime Ministers explores how Queen Elizabeth II has accompanied her 14 prime ministers through their time in office. Much has changed in Britain during the last 70 years, but there is one constant—governments come and go, but the queen remains.

Although Britain's monarch has no direct political power, the prime minister drives from Downing Street to Buckingham Palace for a weekly private audience. Personal secretaries, political pundits and Buckingham Palace insiders reveal what is discussed during these secret meetings, and how personal likes and dislikes determine the relationship between royalty and government.

From Winston Churchill to Boris Johnson, the film uses archival footage and personal accounts to delve into the partnership between Queen Elizabeth and her prime ministers.

Queen and Her Prime Ministers airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 22nd at 6:00 p.m. It can be seen on 3-1 Tuesday, the 24th at 7:00 p.m.

Tularosa Creek in Bent, NM

Cultura

In this month's episode of Cultura, KENW presents the second half of a two-part episode. Producers Jim Wygal and Desirée Markham travel to Bent, NM to the Davalos Ranch. The family has been engaged in a multi-decade dispute with the Tularosa Community Ditch Cooperation over water rights. Although the Davalos Ranch has been in the family for generations, all agricultural use of the water from the nearby acequia was halted due to the dispute. Moving forward the family hopes to raise crops and educate the public concerning water rights.

Cultura can be seen on 3-2 Sunday, the 29th at 12:00 noon and Tuesday, the 31st at 9:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Sunday, the 29th at 11:30 a.m.

GOLDEN EAGLES — — — — — WITNESSES TO A CHANGING WEST

The American West is rapidly changing. The stunning golden eagle, with its seven-foot wingspan and powerful talons, isn't immune to the challenges that come from this changing landscape.

From climate change to sprawl, invasive species to disease, lead poisoning to energy development, these magnificent birds are under threat from many directions and are a species of serious conservation concern.

Golden Eagles: Witnesses to a Changing West tells the story of these stunning birds and the people working to save them. It takes viewers into the field with leading researchers in the Bighorn Basin of Wyoming as they rappel down cliffs into eagle nests to place leg bands on the birds. Never-before-seen footage of charismatic, adorable eaglets is paired with compelling narration to further the conservation message.
