Current Sports with Al Martin: Play Ball!

For me, you must build rapport when covering the local sports scene (especially MSU athletics...GO GREEN). Trying to do that with coaches and players virtually proved to be a challenge. It made me further realize just how powerful, and essential, the in-person human element is when it comes to reporting.

The insight and relationships that you build in this business are made better when physically at a practice or game. You see and FEEL the game differently when witnessing it right in front of your face.

Sports finally feel a bit normal. I think every sports fan out there can agree that it's beyond refreshing to see fans pack stadiums again after a year-long hiatus due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Having fans in the stands to provide that special element is what makes sports what they are, and I certainly missed it.

I missed the smell of popcorn filling the stadium before kickoff. I missed the in-person sound of the band pumping up the crowd after a big score. I missed seeing the smiling faces of fans coming together to escape the sobering reality of everyday life. Fingers crossed that it stays this way for a long-time coming. Time to play ball!
