Roundtable by the Sea Literary Festival and Conference

November 12 to 15

Saint Andrews, New Brunswick

Roundtable by the Sea brings creative writers, book lovers, and educators to the iconic seaside town of Saint Andrews, New Brunswick, to celebrate all things literary. Attendees will enjoy three and a half days of literary events and conference presentations, as well as literary-themed special offerings at businesses throughout Saint Andrews.

The Dunn Theatre at the Fundy Discovery Aquarium will be the primary venue for headlining events, with additional events at other locations in town. Shuttle Service will be available to and from the Dunn Theatre and downtown venues.

Confirmed featured authors include Elamin Abdelmehmoud, Donna Jones Alward, Renée Belliveau, Mark Blagrove, Lana Button, Teri Kingston, and Sue Sinclair. Events include onstage conversations between authors, readings and Q&As, book signings, panels, workshops, and more. An event-long book fair will offer attendees the opportunity to connect with independent presses, authors, and other literary- and literacy-focused organizations.

maine public FILM SERIES

stories that matter.

Thursdays 9:00 pm & Saturdays 2:00 pm

Women on the Water

Thursday, November 5, 9:00 pm; Friday, November 6, 1:00 am

In the male-dominated industries of fishing and aquaculture, women are breaking down barriers and forging their own paths to success. Women on the Water highlights six women in New Hampshire who have overcome personal and societal challenges to establish themselves in lobstering, oyster farming, tuna fishing, and seafood distribution on their own terms. They are making a name for themselves on the water in the Granite State using independence, determination, and grit. They are also reshaping the fishing trade, opening channels for more women to join their fields, and inspiring the next generation.

TEDxDirigo: GLIMMERS | Saturday, November 14

Step out of the noise and into the spark! TEDxDirigo: GLIMMERS brings together Maine's most inspiring voices, from celebrated muralists and cutting-edge scientists to Indigenous rights activists, for an unforgettable afternoon of bold ideas and uplifting stories. Held at Halo at Thompson's Point in Portland, this is an experience to discover the moments of hope, connection, and progress shaping Maine's future. Attend to hear live, original short form talks and performances from Maine leaders, artists, scientists, and grassroots activists. Afterward, stay to connect with fellow thinkers and community members to learn what glimmers they see on the horizon. Maine Public is very pleased to be a Media Sponsor of this event. Go to mainepublic.org and click on the Community tab to learn more! ■

November Book Club: I Am Jayvyn by Peter D. Brown

Peter D. Brown is a Maine-based author of historical fiction with a deep interest in social justice and a passion for preserving history. His writing relies on a deep commitment to historical accuracy while aiming to illuminate stories of the oppressed or misunderstood. Presented alongside proclivities typical of the human condition, he challenges his readers to confront uncomfortable truths and engage with the complexities of the human experience.

One reviewer detailed I am Jayvyn as a compelling and powerful read: "This well-researched and beautifully written historical fiction is a tour de force. We grieve 12-year-old Jayvyn's tragic capture from his native Africa and bear witness to his brutal, heartrending lifetime as an enslaved man in the sugar plantations of Barbados to the rice fields of South Carolina. The writer demonstrates outstanding craftsmanship through vivid imagery and raw, emotional depth."

Join our book club host, Bill Nemitz, on Tuesday, November 17, on Maine Public's YouTube page for a conversation with the author. And be sure to pick up a copy of our December selection, Don't Drop Dad by Dena Polko, to be ready for December's book club conversation!

The 2026 edition of the Maine Public Book Club is made possible through the generous support of Coffee By Design, Islandport Press, OceanView at Falmouth, Highland Green and Maine Public's viewers and listeners. ■

A Note From Us

Dear readers,

In case you missed it, Maine Public is transitioning Experience Magazine to an online publication beginning in January. We are calling the new iteration of our magazine The Guide, and it's available NOW for you to see!

While you will still receive Experience in the mail in December, we thought you'd like a "sneak peek" at The Guide and its focus on the television and radio listings you regularly access.

So how do you get The Guide? The quickest way to navigate to The Guide is to subscribe (it is free!) to our monthly member newsletter, Signal. If you already receive Signal, then you are one step ahead! Each issue of Signal includes a highly visible link that takes you right to The Guide. To sign up for Signal, go to our website, mainepublic.org, and click on the Connect tab. There, you will see a link to "Sign up for Signal."

If you aren't the newsletter type, The Guide is available on our website. Go to mainepublic.org and click on the Shows tab. A link to The Guide is right there!

We appreciate your patience as we make this transition. We're adapting to funding changes with creativity and commitment, and changes like this ensure our audience continues to receive the quality programming and service you count on!

Medicine Ball

Monday, November 9, 10:00 pm

Two Native basketball players at the University of Minnesota Morris discover the school's dark history as a boarding school for Indians, where basketball was introduced to Native youth as a tool of assimilation and control. Leroy Fairbanks IV and Lexus Redthunder's personal journeys as athletes unfold as they uncover the layered history of how basketball became interwoven with Native resistance and a symbol of hope, resilience, and cultural pride. Over the generations basketball has become a space of healing, pride, and identity.

Paul Simon: The Quiet Celebration Concert

Friday, November 27, 9:00 pm

The legendary singer-songwriter brings his critically acclaimed and Grammy-nominated album "Seven Psalms" to life in this first-ever live performance of the complete piece for his Quiet Celebration. It's an intimate evening spanning Simon's vast career and celebrating new arrangements of some of his most cherished songs, deep cuts, and new musical discoveries. Inspired to perform again, Simon began work rehearsing and figuring out how he could bring "Seven Psalms" to the stage and share these contemplative and intricate pieces with audiences. ■

Crime and Punishment in America

Premieres Monday, November 16, at 8:00 and 10:00 pm

FROM THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION ONWARD, Americans have argued about whether the goals of the criminal justice system should be punishment, rehabilitation, or both. A new four-part, eight-hour series explores these issues while studying the history of criminal justice in America from the pre-colonial period to the 21st century.

Crime and Punishment in America is directed by Lynn Novick and executive produced by Ken Burns and Sam Pollard. It is the first documentary offering a comprehensive examination of how the intertwined forces of law, power, race, and class have both shaped and reflected the American experience over four centuries. At once expansive and intimate, the series seeks to answer a deceptively simple question: “How did we get here?” In doing so, it explores the architecture of justice – prisons, police, courts – and the profound moral and social questions beneath them. How has justice been meted out in a country founded on ideals of liberty, equality and the rule of law, yet haunted by histories of slavery, segregation, and surveillance?

“Understanding the history of our criminal justice system in all of its complexity – and from many points of view – is essential if we want to improve public safety, reduce violence, tend to the needs of victims, and foster rehabilitation and healing of those who have committed serious crimes,” said Lynn Novick.

Told through a deeply human lens, each episode is grounded in the stories of individuals – incarcerated people, victims and family members who’ve been affected, prison guards and wardens, police officers, reformers, lawyers, judges, outlaws, and journalists – whose lives were shaped by the policies and politics of their time. Our Fall Literacy Tour launches this month!

Maine Public’s Fall Literacy Tour is rolling into its fourth year of bringing the excitement of reading to kids across Maine. Maine children’s authors and illustrators (including Julie Falatko, Karen Toothaker, and Stephen Costanza) drop in local public libraries alongside PBS Kids character, Daniel Tiger, to share their love of expression and discovery. Focused on children ages 3-6, kids and their caregivers are treated to a story time by our guest authors, and at select locations, a drawing demonstration.

Daniel Tiger crafts and coloring pages are available for children to use during each event or take home with them. Each family also receives a free Daniel Tiger book to bring home to start their own libraries and encourage youth literacy. Daniel Tiger, of course, is on hand, and guests are encouraged to meet him and take their photos with him. Each Literacy Tour stop fills up very quickly! Go to mainepublic.org and click on the Community tab to visit our Literacy Tour page and reserve spots for your family.

Maine Public’s Fall Literacy Tour is made possible by the generous support of NextGen 529 and Maine Public’s viewers and listeners. ■

HIGHLAND GREEN

An uncompromising, carefree lifestyle and a move that is much easier than you might think

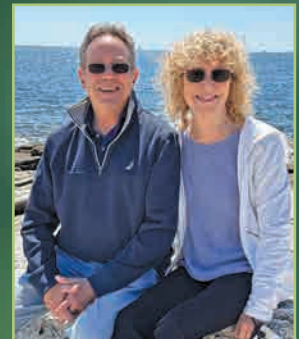

Our residents concur... Born and raised in Northern Virginia, Southern Maryland residents for 20 years, then owners of a sprawling home on 45 acres in the mountains of Bethel, Maine, Allan and Mary moved to Highland Green.

We both fell in love with Highland Green at first sight. We also love how much easier life has become at Highland Green and how close we are to everything that Portland has to offer. Plus, the home building process is so much simpler when Highland Green is guiding you. Highland Green's team of top-notch experts ensured that our building process was spectacular and our move was a well-tuned orchestra from start to finish."
