Governor Kathy Hochul was kind enough to join me on my syndicated radio program recently and she showed me another side of her that many people have yet to see. First of all, she has a sense of humor. Who knew? I had written a column urging her to come on to the show and the first words out of her mouth were to say that she “owed me one” for not having shown up previously. Her choice of staff is illustrative of her character. Once she agreed to participate on the show, they followed up with courtesy and friendliness.

Hochul, the first woman to serve as governor of New York, seems determined not to make any mistakes. Unlike Andrew Cuomo who some think is the prince of darkness, Hochul is determined to make friends, not enemies. If you looked sideways at Cuomo, or even if you didn’t, you might well have had a fight on your hands.

Hochul is one smart human being. Her first instinct is to make you a friend. One instructive instance is how she had carried on with New York City Mayor Eric Adams. Adams is also smart and tough and continues his relationship with former Governor Cuomo. He is equally attentive to Hochul. If things were reversed, you can bet that Andrew would have taken offense at the mayor’s emerging relationship with a political rival. Not Hochul, who seems determined to get along with most political players. After all, she faces a tough primary in which several people are attempting to take her down. When she first emerged as frontrunner, she seemed untouchable. But, as things go in politics, “…that was then, and this is now.” (With thanks to Alfonse D’Amato.)

Why make an enemy when you don’t have to? Unlike his father, Andrew never learned that particular lesson. If Mario saw you as a potential problem, he would reach out to you and try to put you in his circle. He certainly did that with me.

Hochul should know that once you have achieved power, it is not easy to keep it. Politics is a tough game. It isn’t for sissies. There are winners and losers. You’ve got to make friends and then keep them. She seems to be able to do that whereas up to now, Andrew has lacked that particular skill.

As a woman from the far west of the state, Kathy Hochul lucked into her job. Andrew took her in but then turned on her. He wanted someone else. That’s when we saw the other side of Hochul. She told him that she would not go silently into the night. She made it clear that she would run in a primary to keep her lieutenant governor job and Cuomo stepped aside. Good move. She had nothing to lose so she took him on. She kept her job and when lightning struck, she was sitting strong.

By and large, the “inside” political community liked what they saw in Hochul. They made it clear to me and others who might have been on the fence that she was their representative to the old politics, the one where making and keeping friends was important. She really didn’t have to come on to the radio show with me. She might have thought it was sort of a contest of wills in which I had issued a “dare.” She took a chance, despite a few tentatively critical columns that I wrote, and did it. Andrew would not have done that.

I tested her as much as I could. I asked her about the new Buffalo stadium (a boondoggle) and about the arrest of her lieutenant governor. She did better in the first than the second. Obviously, the jury is still out, and it should be interesting to see how she develops.
Memorial Day, Mother’s Day: May is a month of honoring those who protect and serve our lives and families. As everything comes back to life, it’s only natural we feel thankful. This month we’ll celebrate the season with stories of American patriot Thomas Paine, hear pieces from Puccini, learn how to understand human behavior, and speak with various artists.

SPECIAL PROGRAMMING:

On Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, we start the day learning about a project to collect 1 million soldiers’ letters and how memorials impact communities at 9 a.m. on “Top of Mind.” At 10 a.m. we’ll hear about George Patton and stories of heroism in war on “Constant Wonder.” At 11 a.m. we’ll hear songs that won the war in an “Afterglow” special. And at 2 p.m. we’ll hear back to back episodes of “A New York Minute in History.”

We hear first about American patriot Thomas Paine and his influence on the American and French Revolutions, followed by the story of Corporal Margaret Hastings, a member of the Women’s Army Corps who survived 47 days in a New Guinea jungle during World War II.

On this month’s Met Opera we’ll hear stories about the meaning of love, betrayal, and history. We’ll start off with Puccini’s “Turandot” on May 7; Wagner’s “Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg” on May 14; Donizetti’s “Lucia di Lammermoor” on May 21; and we’ll end the month with Glass’ “Akhnaten” on May 28. The Met Opera airs on Saturdays at 1 p.m. through June 11.

REGULAR PROGRAMMING

This month “The Academic Minute” will feature new cutting-edge research into topics across the spectrum of higher education. We’ll have theme weeks from the University at Albany and Brown University, with exciting topics such as understanding human behavior, figuring out the hidden motives of others and improving weather forecasting. Tune in each weekday at 7:30 a.m. and 3:56 p.m. on WAMC or anytime at academicminute.org.

On “Person Place Thing,” artist and architect James Wines tells us about SITE and his person, Vito Acconci on May 6; Professor Anita Hill explains how sexual harassment derived from civil rights law on May 13; scholar and activist Frances Fox Piven shares stories about her many years in social justice; and impFinrov artist Anthony Veneziale tells us about his co-creation with Lin-Manuel Miranda on May 27. “Person Place Thing” airs Fridays at 10:30 p.m. and Saturdays at 7:30 a.m.

On “Earth Wise,” host Dr. Randy Simon tells us how U.S. completed the most successful offshore wind lease auction in history; how a new study revealed many birds that provide pest control to coffee plants in Costa Rica had migrated thousands of miles from Canada and the U.S.; and just how potentially harmful methane leaks can be. “Earth Wise” airs weekdays at 11:10 a.m. and 4:04 p.m.

WAMC’s Performing Arts Studio The Linda features the best live and local music and events in the Capital Region. This month The Linda will feature “Stunt Rock,” a part mockumentary, part rock film, viewing on Friday May 6. The month will continue with an author talk and book signing with Chris Poggiali of Sister Street Fighter, and a performance from “The Corvettes Doo Wop Revue,” on Friday May 13. For a full list of concerts, tickets, and up-to-date information please visit thelinda.org.

What is underwriting you might ask? As a public radio station, we don’t carry conventional advertisements. Instead, we offer sponsorship opportunities in the form of underwriting. Underwriting consists of brief radio announcements, or “credits,” that inform our listeners about what products, services, or events a business or organization offers. The objective, unbiased approach of underwriting strips away the clutter and loaded language of other advertising.

We are extremely grateful to work with hundreds of businesses throughout our listening area. These organizations opt to use their marketing and advertising dollars to share their message with our listeners, all while supporting the station at the same time. We truly appreciate their support and ask you take a moment to support them! View our Underwriting Directory highlighting all of our underwriters from various industries.

Interested in becoming an underwriter?
It’s quick and simple! Visit wamcunderwriting.org/contact-us to get the ball rolling and we’ll take it from there.
