Meet Michael Stratton!

Starting January 1, 2021, explore jazz music with Michael Stratton during A Groove Supreme. Let's get to know him a bit with a quick Q&A:

Where and when did you realize your deep love of this music?

I've always loved music. I came to jazz as a rock, blues and soul music fan. I had purchased a triple LP set documenting the Isle of Wight festival, hoping it would be as rich a treasure as the Woodstock set. I bought it mainly because Hendrix was on it. Side six was staked out by an artist named Miles Davis. I couldn't make head nor tails of the sounds on this track. I searched out more of his music, read about him, saw that he was revered by critics and other musicians. What was I missing? I finally discovered Kind of Blue, and I was lost to jazz forever.

How do you think your new show, A Groove Supreme, might differ from your previous program, The Vinyl Side of Midnight?

A Groove Supreme will retain the same eclectic aesthetic that defined my previous show, with threads of various genres and a solid core of jazz. Jazz is not just one kind of music. It's the Black American experience and traces the cultural history of the past century. How do different cultures and peoples come to terms with each other? The various permutations and blends are endlessly fascinating, filled with love and friction and transcendence. The new aspect will be WKAR and a new audience. I'll be engaging very specifically with this audience and making them a part of each show. I have ideas.

Who are some favorite local Jazz artists you'll enjoy highlighting during these Saturday nights?

We are so very lucky to have such gifted musicians in our community. Rodney Whitaker, Diego Rivera, Michael Dease, Jim Alfredson, Ron Newman, Sunny Wilkinson, Mike Eyia, Ed Fedewa, Xavier Davis, Jeff Shoup. Betty Joplin is amazing; Aretha Franklin had her sing for her when she entertained. So many more. I'm so eager to do this show.
