Avonlea and Rosie
Save the Day

By: Avonlea Cooper
I woke up the morning after I lost a tooth. I ran to check my tooth fairy pillow. My tooth was still there. The tooth fairy didn't come! That was odd. She had never forgotten before.
My dog Rosie barked because it was time to wake up. I unlocked her crate and she started sniffing the floor. I didn't know Rosie was magic until she talked to me. She told me she heard the tooth fairy yelling for help.
I followed Rosie to my dollhouse. She barked and jumped up.

She said, "The tooth fairy is in there. She needs help!"

I looked at the dollhouse. She was trapped.
"How can we help? Why are you stuck in my dollhouse?" I whispered.

"A leprechaun trapped me in it," she said quietly. "He put glue in the bed because he knew I rested there."
Rosie and I made a potion with water, rocks, sprinkles, marshmallows, and fairy dust. We got a spoon and put the potion on the glue. Then the tooth fairy got up. She said, "Thanks for helping me. I will come back tonight with..."
