Long-term Menu Options Completed

 - WKSU's Walton D. Clarke Fellowship: Graduate student scholarship program – 1 student typically for a two-year period. Due to the pandemic and funding concerns, we did not have a student during either Fall 2020 or Spring 2021 semesters once our previous GA graduated in May 2020. Applications are currently being accepted for the Fall 2021/Spring 2022 semesters.
 - Participant(s): Numerous members of WKSU staff including: News Director; Broadcast and Digital Editor; Reporters; Hosts; Production Coordinator

- Participation in at least four events or programs sponsored by educational institutions relating to career opportunities in broadcasting
 - Throughout the year WKSU staff members host middle and high school students for a day as a part of their school job experience curriculum. This includes job shadowing and capstone experiences for up to two weeks. These projects typically happen in the spring as students prepare to graduate. Unfortunately, due to COVID-19 and us working remotely, this was not possible during this year.
 - Kent State University School of Media and Journalism and WKSU work together to hire college students who are interested in broadcasting to work at WKSU while they are attending college. Often, they are able to count their work toward the internship requirements of their major. We also usually hire a graduate student via our Walton D. Clarke fellowship.
 - WKSU is a service of Kent State University which provides employees with numerous opportunities to attend relevant training programs and seminars. In addition, staff of Kent State University receive a comprehensive education benefit program. Employees are able to pursue academic learning in their area of interest or career path.
 - WKSU created a Media Literacy Workshop to be presented to the community. The purpose is to help people understand what is happening in their news feeds and the news and media they are consuming. This workshop was presented virtually several times in the fall of 2020.
 - WKSU has provided tours of the station upon request pre-pandemic. We hope to continue this in the future.
 - WKSU staff member served as the advisor to the student run radio station at Kent State University, Black Squirrel Radio.
 - WKSU staff members taught classes in the School of Media and Journalism at KSU for the Fall 2020 and Spring 2021 semesters.
