ABOUT US

ALASKA PUBLIC MEDIA

TV | RADIO | NEWS

Alaska Public Media harnesses the power of multiple media platforms to make a more informed and connected life possible for all Alaskans. We produce and present news and content that provides lifelong learning opportunities in public affairs, health and leisure, science and nature, economic and social development, civic engagement and world events.

Located in Southcentral Alaska, we are comprised of KSKA radio, KAKM-TV, Create TV, PBS KIDS, and alaskapublic.org. Alaska Public Media also operates the Statewide News and a shared television service with KTOO in Juneau and KYUK in Bethel. Alaska Public Media and its affiliates deliver content that reaches 97% of the population of Alaska.

WELCOME

Welcome to the August 2025 edition of the Alaska Public Media Program Guide! Here are this month's featured programs, news and announcements.

EASY LISTENING

FRESH VOICES, NEW SOUNDS ON WEEKEND AIRWAVES

KSKA welcomes new programs for music lovers, thinkers, and doers.

KSKA's weekend schedule got even more exciting last month with the addition of several new programs that bring fresh voices, ideas, and music to our airwaves. These new shows began airing July 19th and 20th adding depth and variety to your Saturdays and Sundays with rich storytelling, practical advice, and unforgettable performances.

On Saturdays at 11 a.m., This Old House Radio Hour has joined the lineup. For over four decades, This Old House has been America's trusted source for home improvement, craftsmanship, and restoration. Now on the radio, host Jenn Largesse and the team share expert guidance and hands-on knowledge, covering everything from plumbing to flooring, framing to finishing. Each episode offers practical tips alongside engaging storytelling about the ways our spaces shape—and are shaped by—our lives.

Then, at noon on Saturdays, check out the highly-anticipated Tiny Desk Radio from NPR Music. This show brings the beloved spirit of Tiny Desk Concerts to your radio, offering intimate, one-of-a-kind performances from global superstars and emerging artists alike. Whether it's Hozier, Alicia Keys, Billie Eilish, or new discoveries from around the world, Tiny Desk Radio is your front-row seat to music's most compelling voices.

Be sure to catch This American Life at its new time, Saturdays at 1 p.m., while The Moth Radio Hour can still be heard Sundays at 8 p.m.

Sundays now feature No Small Endeavor at 2 p.m. Hosted by Lee C. Camp, this program asks big questions about what it means to live a good life. Through thoughtful conversations with best-selling authors, scientists, philosophers, artists, and other deep thinkers, No Small Endeavor explores how we can truly flourish in the world today.

Finally, Sunday nights at 11 p.m. now bring Conversations from the World Cafe, which blends interviews, live performances, and explorations of contemporary music and culture. Each episode offers a unique window into the artists shaping today's soundscape.

We hope you're enjoying these new additions, and we're delighted to continue bringing you programming that inform, inspire, and connect Alaskans every weekend on KSKA—91.1 FM in Anchorage and 91.9 FM in Girdwood, and online at alaskapublic.org.

CARVING A FUTURE FROM THE PAST

A camp on Kodiak Island restores ancestral knowledge for the next generation.

A remote cultural camp on Kodiak Island offers a lifeline to traditions nearly lost, bringing together children, elders, and teachers determined to keep ancestral knowledge alive. Centered on the summer gatherings at Akhiok, this thoughtful documentary chronicles the urgent work of revitalizing the Sugpiaq language, carving practices, and seafaring skills that have sustained the community for thousands of years. It's a setting where learning is immersive and communal, with days filled by patient teaching, shared meals, and the rhythmic sounds of carving and conversation around the fire.

Originally premiering last November, And Knowledge to Keep Us returns with a powerful portrait of resilience and intergenerational learning. Colonization scattered Sugpiaq heritage, leaving only fragments: a handful of spoken words, half-remembered carving techniques, faded stories of ocean navigation. At camp, these fragments are carefully restored as elders teach young people to carve paddles, speak their language, and reclaim traditions once at risk of disappearing entirely. The film emphasizes that this work is more than education—it is cultural sovereignty and survival, a way to heal intergenerational wounds and chart a future rooted in ancestral wisdom.

Filmed with sensitivity and striking visuals, the documentary reveals this work as far more than simple instruction. It is a form of healing—a way to reconnect generations and assert cultural sovereignty in the face of historical erasure. By centering the voices of the community itself, the film honors not just what is being saved, but the process of saving it, capturing moments of joy, pride, and quiet determination. It is both a celebration of resilience and a call to honor the traditions that have endured against enormous odds.

This is an intimate and essential story about a people refusing to let their heritage fade, choosing instead to nurture it for the next generation.

And Knowledge to Keep Us is returning to Alaska Public Media TV on August 25 at 10 PM. It's also available to stream anytime at pbs.org with AK Passport.

CLEARING THE AIR: THE WAR ON SMOG

The long fight for clean air and the birth of the environmental movement.

For decades, Americans lived with the consequences of a silent but deadly threat—polluted air thick with toxic smog. What began as a mysterious haze enveloping Los Angeles in the 1940s soon revealed itself as a growing public health crisis with national implications.

American Experience: Clearing the Air: The War on Smog traces the origins of America's modern environmental movement through the lens of this escalating crisis and the battle for clean air.

Through rare archival footage, personal accounts, and expert interviews, viewers are transported to a time when air pollution choked city skylines and clouded political judgment. The film explores how citizens, scientists, and lawmakers came together to confront an invisible enemy. From postwar industrial expansion to the dawn of the automobile age, the causes of smog were deeply embedded in American prosperity—and the pushback was just as entrenched.

At the heart of the story is the human cost. Children gasped for breath on playgrounds. Office workers collapsed on smog-choked streets. The haze wasn't just a nuisance—it was lethal. Yet amidst fear and uncertainty, a new kind of awareness began to form. Public outcry led to landmark legislation like the Clean Air Act, shifting the national conversation and setting the stage for future environmental reforms.

This powerful episode reveals how the war on smog reshaped not only environmental policy but also American civic engagement. It is a story of persistence, science, and the belief that a healthier world is possible.

Tune in Tuesday, August 26 at 8 pm on Alaska Public Media TV. Stream it on PBS.org and the PBS App after the broadcast Premiere.

COMMUNITY NEWS

CAN BEER MAKE YOU SMARTER? 49TH STATE BREWING SAYS YES.

How 49th State Brewing is Supporting Alaska Public Media, One Pint at a Time

This summer, 49th State Brewing is raising a glass—and vital support—for Alaska Public Media with its creative campaign, “Can Beer Make You Smarter?” Through September 30th, every pint of 8 Star Lager sold at 49th State Brewing’s pubs will generate a $1 donation to Alaska Public Media.

It’s a simple, refreshing way for Alaskans to help sustain the trusted news, stories, and educational programming that connect our vast and often remote state. Alaska Public Media reaches 97% of Alaskans, providing essential access to free, high-quality information, news coverage, PBS and NPR programming, and local content that reflects who we are.

The team at 49th State Brewing understands firsthand how critical this access is. In a state where many live off the road system and rely on broadcast media to stay informed and connected, ensuring Alaska Public Media’s continued presence isn’t just good business—it’s a community responsibility. As founder David McCarty puts it, “We believe that everyone should have access to free information and knowledge without an agenda.”

And it’s not just about what happens at their pubs. To make the impact even greater, 49th State Brewing is also donating 2.5% of 8 Star Lager keg sales from bars and restaurants statewide to Alaska Public Media. So wherever you find yourself—Anchorage, Fairbanks, Denali, or your favorite local watering hole—you can help keep Alaskans informed simply by ordering an 8 Star Lager.

This initiative is more than a promotion; it’s a shared commitment to the well-being of our state. By joining in, customers support public broadcasting’s vital role in education, civic dialogue, and cultural connection across Alaska’s cities, towns, and wilderness.

So this summer, raise a glass to Alaska’s future. Ask for 8 Star Lager at 49th State Brewing or your local bar or restaurant and know you’re helping keep Alaska Public Media strong for everyone.

Cheers, Alaska.

Alaska Public Media, KAKM TV, is also carried in Bethel, Juneau and major cable systems in Alaska.

OUR BROADCAST COVERAGE HAS EXPANDED IN ANCHORAGE

Simply add a low-cost indoor UHF or UHF/Hi-VHF combo antenna to your TV to access our expanded broadcast for free—no subscriptions, no fees.

All four Alaska Public Media channels—KAKM
(PBS), Create TV, 360TV, and PBS KIDS
24/7—are now available on channels 11.1
through 11.4.
