No Place to Grow Old

Set in Portland, Oregon, this film confronts one of America's fastest-growing crises—homelessness among older adults. Through the intimate stories of three seniors, the film reveals the daily realities of aging without stability or support, exposing a system unprepared for what's ahead. Honest, urgent, and deeply human, No Place to Grow Old gives voice to a generation struggling to find home in their final years.

Sun 2nd 11pm (3-2)

One of the territory's most colorful and consequential judges was Kirby Benedict. Known for extravagant language, friendship with Abraham Lincoln, and deep legal knowledge, he presided over groundbreaking cases involving Native Americans, slavery, and women's rights.

LAW FOR A LAWLESS LAND: New Mexico Territory's Federal Judiciary, 1846-1912

Law for a Lawless Land features federal judges who were charged with overcoming unprecedented, if not insurmountable challenges during New Mexico's pivotal territorial period. Faced with understanding centuries of Native and Spanish culture, they were tasked with administering justice over six chaotic decades gripped by rebellion, warfare, slavery, political partisanship, and the rampant lawlessness of a newly opened frontier.

Breaking Enigma:

A WWII Game Changer

Narrated by Keith Morrison of Dateline, Breaking Enigma was one of World War II's biggest secrets, alongside the construction of the atomic bombs. Historians estimate that deciphering the German military code shortened the war by two years and possibly saved 14 million lives. Though the Enigma was deemed unbreakable, a British mathematician named Alan Turing spearheaded the initiative to achieve the impossible and succeeded unbeknownst to the German military.

Secrets
of the Dead

Picturing Shakespeare

There are only two accepted representations of William Shakespeare that are considered "official"—but could a portrait that has been hanging over a family's mantelpiece for the last 50 years be the third? British window washer Steven Wadlow, whose father bought the portrait in the 1960s, is on the hunt to prove the painting is indeed genuine. If so, it could be worth as much as $200 million.

The American Revolution

Ken Burns's six-part documentary brings the birth of America vividly to life, showing how 13 colonies challenged the world's greatest empire to forge a new nation. More than a tale of generals and founding fathers, the series captures the perspectives of ordinary soldiers, enslaved and free African Americans, Native Americans, women, and international allies. Through gripping stories, archival materials, and firsthand accounts, it explores the courage, contradictions, and upheaval of a revolution that reshaped a continent—and inspired democratic movements around the globe.

This compelling documentary examines the global impact of the U.S. military. It follows Travis Mills, who lost all four limbs in Afghanistan, military recruiters building an all-volunteer force, and communities—both overseas and at home—shaped by defense spending. The film also highlights how private charities step in when government support for veterans falls short.

MASTERPIECE

The Great Escaper

"The Great Escaper" tells the true story of Bernard Jordan, who made global headlines in the summer of 2014. He had staged a "great escape" from his care home to join fellow war veterans on a beach in Normandy, commemorating their fallen comrades at the D-Day Landings 70th anniversary. It is an inspirational but sanitized retelling of one man's need to come to terms with the lasting trauma of war. Michael Caine and the late Glenda Jackson star in their final acting roles as Bernard Jordan and his wife, Rene.

Bring Them Home

This award-winning film tells the story of a small, determined group of Black-foot people striving to re-establish the first wild buffalo herd on ancestral lands since the species' near-extinction a century ago. The film evocatively captures the decades-long efforts to restore buffalo along with the land, re-enliven traditional culture, and bring much needed healing to the Blackfeet community.
