THE U.S. AND THE HOLOCAUST

A FILM BY KEN BURNS, LYNN NOVICK & SARAH BOTSTEIN
A NEW THREE-PART SERIES from filmmakers Ken Burns, Lynn Novick and Sarah Botstein explores the U.S.’s role before, during and after one of the greatest humanitarian crises in history. The U.S. and The Holocaust examines the rise of Hitler and Nazism in Germany in the context of global antisemitism and racism, the eugenics movement in the United States and race laws in the American south. The series, written by Geoffrey Ward, sheds light on what the U.S. government and American people knew and did as the catastrophe unfolded in Europe.

Combining the first-person accounts of Holocaust witnesses and survivors and interviews with leading historians and writers, the series dispels competing myths that Americans either were ignorant of the unspeakable persecution that Jews and other targeted minorities faced in Europe or that they looked on with callous indifference. Americans had heard about Nazi persecution on their radios and read about it in the press. Many responded by denouncing the Nazis, marching in protest and boycotting German goods. Individual Americans performed heroic acts to save individual Jews and stood up to Nazism at home and abroad. Some 200,000 Jews eventually found refuge in the United States, but many more were denied entry. As the Nazi terror escalated, the U.S. responded by tightening, not opening, its borders to refugees.

“Exploring this history and putting the pieces together of what we knew and what we did has been a revelation,” said Lynn Novick. “During the Second World War, millions of Americans fought and sacrificed to defeat fascism, but even after we began to understand the scope and scale of what was happening to the Jewish people of Europe, our response was inadequate and deeply flawed.”

“At the center of our narrative is the moving and inspiring first-hand testimony of witnesses who were children in the 1930s,” said Sarah Botstein. “They share wrenching memories of the persecution, violence and flight that they and their families experienced as they escaped Nazi Europe and somehow made it to America.

Featured is a fascinating array of historical figures that includes Franklin D. Roosevelt, Charles Lindbergh, Dorothy Thompson, Rabbi Stephen Wise, and Henry Ford, as well as Anne Frank and her family, who applied for but failed to obtain visas to the U.S. before they went into hiding. The film also looks at American policy on topics ranging from Calvin Coolidge’s staunch anti-immigration ideology to FDR’s Lend-Lease bill and how these fights took shape on the home front, including the emergence of Nazi sympathizers.

Ultimately, The U.S. and The Holocaust offers little consolation to those who believe that the challenges posed by nativism, antisemitism, xenophobia and racism are buried deeply and permanently in the past. “The institutions of our civilization [are] under tremendous stress,” warns writer Daniel Mendelsohn, who shares his family’s story in the film. “The fragility of civilized behavior is the one thing you really learn, because these people, who we now see in these sepia photographs, they’re no different from us. You look at your neighbors, the people at the dry cleaner, the waiters in the restaurant. That’s who these people were. Don’t kid yourself.”

A cross-disciplinary tour de force performed by the Nashville Ballet on Great Performances, explores the love life of William Shakespeare and his muses, the “Dark Lady” and the “Fair Youth,” presenting the idea that these subjects in his love sonnets were a Black woman and a young man. The ballet is set to an original score by Rhiannon Giddens and Francesco Turrisi. Caroline Randall Williams narrates the ballet with her own spoken-word poetry. Claudia Monja leads the cast as Lucy, Owen Thorne as Shakespeare and Nicolas Scheuer as Fair Youth. Playing on stage alongside the dancers, Giddens and Turrisi play several instruments, including violin, banjo, mandolin and piano. (Photo: Heather Thorne.)

FACT #2
In 2018, PBS held a contest called “The Great American Read” designed to select America’s best-loved novel. Nearly 1,500 votes were cast in a special Maine Public poll! To Kill a Mockingbird got the most votes from the public, edging out classic titles like, Charlotte’s Web, The Lord of the Rings, and Pride and Prejudice. #mainepublic60
As fall approaches, the book club takes on a stellar story from author Morgan Talty called Night of the Living Rez. Set in Maine, the book’s twelve stories center around life and death on the Penobscot Indian Nation reservation. At the center of the collection is David, a Penobscot boy living on the rez, and he is the piece that links all of the stories. This a masterful piece of writing. Our book club event with the author will be held on Monday, September 19, at 7:00 p.m., with Maine Public’s Cindy Han hosting. The book club meeting can be viewed over YouTube and Facebook. It will also be archived on our website, mainepublic.org, after the event. If you have a question for the author, email it to us at fun@mainepublic.org or send us a note by postal to Allison/Maine Public, 323 Marginal Way, Portland, Maine, 04101.

Keep in mind that we have two more books to go this year! Our October/November book club selection is Almost Maine by John Cariani, and our December book selection is Downeast: Five Maine Girls and the Unseen Story of Rural America by Gigi Georges. You can pick up a copy of each of these books at any of our book club sponsor – Bull Moose – locations or from any of these book club partner bookstores: BookStacks in Bucksport, Left Bank Books in Belfast, Nonesuch Books & More in South Portland, Print in Portland, Sherman’s Maine Coast Book Shops, and DDG Booksellers in Farmington.

100 Years on the Avenue:
The Story of The Big E
Thursday, September 1, 9:00 pm;
Saturday, September 3, 2:00 pm
Since its inception in 1916, the Eastern States Exposition – known as The Big E – has been a showcase for New England agriculture and industry. Using archival materials, interviews with historians and staff, and current-day footage, the film chronicles the fair’s 100 years. It highlights all six New England states and explains the ways in which each state contributes to this annual tradition.

Begun with the dream of keeping business, industry and agriculture alive and thriving in New England, Eastern States Exposition has more than fulfilled the initial hopes of its creators. It remains a site for celebration, a central showplace for the creative, industrial and agricultural resources of the Northeast and a reflection of the best of the region’s people. The Big E is held in West Springfield, Massachusetts, and happens this year on September 16-October 2.

Are you paying attention? Are your friends? Think you’ve got all the answers? That’s what we’re about to find out!

This fall, Maine Public will take to some of Maine’s best brew pubs (Side By Each in Auburn, Fogtown Brewing Company in Ellsworth, Maine Beer Company in Freeport, Rising Tide Brewing and Austin Street Brewery in Portland, and more!) and test you on current events, Maine Public and NPR news stories, and all around things you probably should know! The first step is to form a team and come up with a team name. We encourage teams to consist of no more than five persons. Next, look at the Trivia Night Schedule on mainepublic.org and register your team to play by contacting Allison at Anew@mainepublic.org. Let her know your team name, the number of players on your team, and the Trivia Night event you will be attending. She’ll let you know if you are in. That’s it!

Questions will be grouped according to these broadcasting-centric categories: All Things Considered, Find Your Hidden Brain, Marketplace Musings, I See Your Ten and Raise You! and Arthur was a what? Winning teams get bragging rights, gift certificates, and custom Maine Public gear. We hope to see you at one of our trivia events!
