SEARCHING: OUR QUEST FOR MEANING IN THE AGE OF SCIENCE

In its three hour-long programs, Searching: Our Quest for Meaning in the Age of Science asks deep and timeless questions: Where do we humans fit in the grand scheme of things? Are we just atoms and molecules, or something more? How does consciousness arise from the material neurons in our brains? What aspects of our humanity will be preserved as we evolve beyond biology, from Homo Sapiens to Homo Techno, part human and part machine? What are the smallest things in nature, and the largest and farthest?

To explore these questions, MIT physicist and best-selling novelist, Alan Lightman (Einstein's Dreams), engages in lively, revealing and sometimes even humorous dialog with Nobel Prizewinning scientists, philosophers, ethicists and faith leaders.

We travel to the prehistoric caves of Font-de-Gaume in France, where drawings and symbols suggest that—as long ago as

"Our Sun is a star close-up." (Carl Sagan) CGI shows how our size is almost exactly halfway between an atom and a star.

40,000 years—our early human ancestors were also searching for meaning.

In Florence, Italy, we examine Galileo's original telescopes. He was the first to show that the heavens are made of the same stuff as Earth, and that all is made of ordinary material.

We walk through the giant atom smasher at CERN on the Swiss-French border, where physicists are trying to find the smallest particles of nature, and visit the laboratory of Nobellaureate Jack Szostak, who is attempting to create a living cell from chemicals present on primitive earth.

Lightman converses with an advanced android named Bina48, and talks to ethicist Ruth Faden about what moral obligations we might have to such a being in the future.

Lightman quizzes neuroscientist Robert Desimone about the possibility of understanding the brain well enough to predict whether two people will fall in love, asks the Dalai Lama about the nature of consciousness, and speaks with philosopher Rebecca Goldstein (MacArthur genius) about meaning and the spectacle of existence.

Searching: Our Quest for Meaning in the Age of Science can be seen on 3-2 Sundays at 6:00 p.m. beginning the 8th. It airs on 3-1 Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 11th.

In a unique dialogue, Alan meets Bina48, one of the Earth's most advanced humanoid robots and one of the few African-American AIs. She's witty and almost wise!

Wildheart

Immerse yourself in Scotland's wild highland landscape and meet its long-lived forest keeper. "Wildheart" on Nature is the remarkable biography of a noble Scots Pine tree, ancient, gnarled, and weather worn. It stands in the Scottish Highlands, exactly where it landed as a tiny seed some five centuries ago—and where it greeted a young Mary, Queen of Scots. Crowned at just nine months old, Mary Queen of Scots was hidden as a child in the Scottish Highlands. With her maid, she would have been among the first to witness the birth of Wildheart in the 1500s.

The world around the Scots pines is complex and diverse. The highlands are home to 172 insect species, 200 fungi species and a rich array of birds and mammals.

"Wildheart" on Nature airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 18th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 21st at 11:00 p.m. Please see page 18 for 3-1 dates/times.

NATURE

Soul of the Ocean

Howard Hall, one of the world's foremost underwater filmmakers, brings to Nature's "Soul of the Ocean" a lifetime of insights into how life in the ocean really works—in surprisingly cooperative communities built on age-old partnerships.

Coral reefs turn out to be cosmopolitan cities where relationships thrive: a specialist shrimp, a baby damsel fish, and a porcelain crab all share the protection of an anemone; an urchin and a crab form an unlikely pair; fan corals each support their own kind of seahorse; surgeonfish clean passing turtles.

Take a deep breath and experience the complex world of ocean waters. Get a never-before-seen look at how life underwater co-exists in a marriage of necessity.

"Soul of the Ocean" on Nature can be seen on 3-2 Wednesday, the 25th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 28th at 11:00 p.m. Please see page 18 for 3-1 dates/times.

Lie Detector

American Experience premieres “Lie Detector.” In the 1920s, two men designed a machine that could tell if a person was lying. Featuring commentary by Ken Adler and based on his book of the same name, “Lie Detector” is a tale of good intentions, twisted morals and unintended consequences.

Lie detectors were first developed in 1921 by John Larson, a policeman with a doctorate in physiology, and inventor Leonarde Keeler. Berkeley police chief August Vollmer ardently championed the device.

In a few short years, the lie detector (or polygraph) had transformed police work, seized headlines, solved sensational murders, soon becoming the nation’s “mechanical conscience.” Husbands and wives tested each other’s fidelity. Corporations tested their employees’ honesty. Movie studios and advertisers tested their audiences’ responses. Eventually, thousands of government employees were tested for their loyalty and “morals”—for lack of which many lost their jobs.

Yet the machine was flawed. It was frequently used to accuse the wrong person. It could easily be beaten by those who knew how and, repeatedly, it has been applied as an instrument of psychological torture, with the goal of extracting confessions.

CIA employees are still given polygraphs today, while the U.S. government explores forms of the lie detector that reach directly into the brain.

American Experience “Lie Detector” will be broadcast on 3-2 Tuesday, the 3rd at 8:00 p.m. and Thursday, the 19th at 7:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Monday, the 9th at 7:00 p.m.

Zora Neale Hurston: Claiming a Space

“Zora Neale Hurston: Claiming a Space,” premiering on American Experience, is a new two-hour biography of the influential author whose groundbreaking anthropological work would challenge assumptions about race, gender and cultural superiority that had long defined the field in the 19th century.

Best remembered for her novel Their Eyes Were Watching God, Zora Neale Hurston was a key figure of the Harlem Renaissance. But even as she gained renown in the Harlem literary culture of the 1920s, Hurston was also pursuing anthropological studies at Barnard College. Throughout her career, she struggled for recognition in two worlds—literary and scientific—writing novels and collecting folklore, drawing on her ethnographic expertise to inform her literary artistry.

In more than a decade of fieldwork in the American South and the islands of the Caribbean, Hurston carefully documented stories, songs and religious rituals. She traveled the back roads of her native Florida, later moving on to New Orleans to study hoodoo, or conjure religion, and then on to Haiti. Through her trailblazing work, Hurston would reclaim, honor and celebrate Black life on its own terms.

American Experience “Zora Neale Hurston: Claiming a Space” airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 17th at 8:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Monday, the 23rd at 7:00 p.m.

Zora Neale Hurston was friends with Carl Van Vechten, famed photographer during the Harlem Renaissance, who took this portrait on April 4, 1935.

First Contact: An Alien Encounter

In the decades that humanity has actively looked for life beyond our planet, many have wondered how the initial contact between us and another intelligent civilization might take place. First Contact: An Alien Encounter, a new feature-length BBC drama-documentary, goes right to the heart of the matter, mixing interviews with world-leading experts and clever fictional scenarios exploring how discovering a signal from outer space may play out.

The premise is a signal is detected in the direction of the Voyager 1 probe, which is currently traveling in interstellar space. The first assumption is the detection is a fault (it wouldn’t be the first time), but after multiple signals are received, the idea that a real signal is being received becomes widespread.

Blending cutting-edge scientific fact with fictional podcasts, media feeds and international news programs, this 21st-century War of the Worlds tells the dramatic story of an encounter with an alien object travelling through the solar system and explores what scientists, organizations, the media, and ordinary people might do and say over the course of the following 12 days.

First Contact: An Alien Encounter airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 4th at 8:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 7th at 10:00 p.m. It can be seen on 3-1 Wednesday, the 4th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 7th at 11:00 p.m.

From Vienna: The New Year’s Celebration 2023

Ring in the new year with Vienna Philharmonic’s annual concert from the Golden Hall of the Musikverein in Vienna. Guest conducted by Cleveland Orchestra Music Director Franz Welser-Möst, “From Vienna: The New Year’s Celebration 2023” on Great Performances features many selections never before played at these traditional concerts including works by Josef Strauss, Joseph Hellmesberger Jr., Johann Strauss Jr. and more.

PBS favorite Hugh Bonneville returns as host for a sixth year. The broadcast also features performances by Vienna Boys and Girls Choirs and the Vienna State Ballet.

Great Performances “From Vienna” airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 1st at 7:00 p.m. On 3-1, watch it Sunday, the 1st at 6:00 p.m. The performance streams the following day at pbs.org/gperf and the PBS Video app.

All Creatures Great and Small

Wedding bells chime and animal ailments abound as Masterpiece presents the highly anticipated third season of “All Creatures Great and Small,” based on the bestselling memoirs by veterinarian James Herriot and starring a beloved ensemble cast led by Nicholas Ralph.

Season 3, with seven new episodes, begins in spring 1939 as James and Helen (Rachel Shenton) prepare to walk down the aisle. With a new stake in the business, James is trying to expand the veterinary practice by joining a government program to test for tuberculosis in cattle. The initiative pays well, but it is looked upon with suspicion by the local farmers who run the risk of their farms being shut down if a positive case is found.

“All Creatures Great and Small” on Masterpiece airs on 3-2 Sundays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 8th. It can be seen on 3-1 Sundays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 8th with a repeat Mondays at 1:00 p.m.

Miss Scarlet and the Duke

In Season 3 of “Miss Scarlet and the Duke” on Masterpiece, Eliza finds herself in fresh and surprising mysteries as she struggles to build her detective agency. Growing competition from a rival agency creates new problems, and all the while she is still juggling her relationship with Inspector William Wellington, the Duke. And she has a new challenge on that front: a beautiful woman from her childhood has caught the Duke’s eye.

The new season features six new episodes and begins with “Vanishing.” A famous magician does the ultimate disappearing act and vanishes into thin air. All of London is talking about the mystery and Eliza is hired by a newspaper to investigate, despite the fact that the Duke is already on the case.

“Miss Scarlet and the Duke” on Masterpiece will be broadcast on 3-2 Sundays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 8th. It can be seen on 3-1 Sundays at 6:00 p.m. beginning the 8th with a repeat Mondays at 12:00 noon.

The Herriot Way

The Herriot Way explores the 52-mile, 4-day circular walk through some of the best scenery in the Yorkshire Dales, known by many as the filming location of “All Creatures Great and Small.”

The program explores the locations associated with the world-famous vet and author known to his fans as James Herriot. Consisting of stunning views of natural landscapes, the Herriot Way is named after the pseudonym for the real-life veterinary surgeon Alf Wight, who lived and worked in the Dales for many years. The path is based on a walking holiday he took with his son, around the youth hostels of Aysgarth, Grinton and Keld.

The film explores why Yorkshire continues to be a popular travel destination for visitors today.

The Herriot Way airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 1st at 8:30 p.m. It can be seen on 3-1 Sunday, the 1st at 7:30 p.m. and Monday, the 2nd at 1:00 p.m.

Bolton Castle on Herriot’s Way

Vienna Blood

Vienna Blood returns for a third season of six new diabolical cases. Set in 1908 Vienna, the series finds English doctor Max Liebermann and tenacious Detective Inspector Oskar Rheinhardt working as an established crime-solving duo, having cracked several of the city’s most mysterious and deadly cases.

(LtoR): Oskar and Max

Max has finally moved out of his parents’ house and into an apartment of his own. Bolstered by his successful investigations with Max, Oskar’s star is on the rise in the department and—for the first time in a long time — he seems open to letting someone into his life.

Love has not run so smoothly for Max. Amelia Lydgate has returned to England, and Max’s former fiancé Clara has turned her sights from marriage to a career as a journalist, discovering that investigating murder can be as thrilling as romance.

Vienna Blood can be seen on 3-2 Sundays at 9:00 p.m. beginning the 8th. Watch it on 3-1 Sundays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 8th with a repeat Mondays at 2:00 p.m.

Finding Your Roots

Renowned scholar Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr. returns for a new season of Finding Your Roots. Using genealogical detective work and cutting-edge DNA analysis, Gates guides twenty-one influential guests deep into the branches of their family trees, revealing surprising stories of forgotten ancestors that transcend borders.

In “Hidden Kin,” Gates helps actors Julia Roberts and Edward Norton discover their hidden connections to history—and each other. “ Salem’s Lot” features Claire Danes and Jeff Daniels and takes a journey through primal scenes from America’s past—leading all the way back to an infamous witch hunt.

Comedians Carol Burnett and Niecy Nash see family mysteries solved by DNA in “Secret Lives.”

In “A Long Way Home,” Gates maps the family trees of pop icon Cyndi Lauper and actors Jamie Chung and Danny Trejo, exploring records in Italy, Korea, and Mexico to uncover ancestors whose stories were lost when their families immigrated to America.

Finally this month, actors Brian Cox and Viola Davis explore their family trees for the first time, in “Children of Fire.”

Finding Your Roots will be broadcast on 3-2 Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 3rd with repeats Sundays at 10:00 a.m. and 11:00 p.m. It airs on 3-1 Tuesdays at 9:00 p.m.

FRONTLINE

Global Spyware Scandal: Exposing Pegasus

“Global Spyware Scandal: Exposing Pegasus” is a two-part series on Frontline that investigates the powerful hacking tool Pegasus. Pegasus was discovered in August 2016 after a failed installation attempt on the iPhone of a human rights activist led to an investigation revealing details about the spyware, its abilities, as well as the security vulnerabilities it exploited.

The 2021 publication of the Pegasus Project reported on a spyware investigation led by 16 media outlets around the world. Reporters found that governments had targeted more than 50,000 phone numbers worldwide using the surveillance tool Pegasus, made by the Israeli company NSO Group and sold to governments around the world. Individuals on the list included journalists at CNN, the New York Times, Reuters, and France 24, as well as human rights activists, lawyers, the fiancée of murdered Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi, and others.

The report revealed that though we hear most often about this technology being used by authoritarian governments, democracies engage in spyware abuses, too, and ultimately must be held to a higher standard of behavior to reduce surveillance harm around the world.

“Global Spyware Scandal: Exposing Pegasus” on Frontline airs on 3-2 Tuesdays, at 10:00 p.m. beginning the 3rd and Thursdays, at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 5th. Watch it on 3-1 Fridays at 9:00 p.m. beginning the 6th.

Putin and the Presidents

Vladimir Putin has clashed with American presidents as he’s tried to rebuild the Russian empire. “Putin and the President” on Frontline investigates the miscalculations and missteps of American presidents over five administrations, culminating in Putin’s invasion of Ukraine.

“Putin and the President” on Frontline will be broadcast on 3-2 Tuesday, the 31st at 10:00 p.m. and Thursday, February 2nd at 7:00 p.m. It will air on 3-1 on Friday, February the 3rd at 9:00 p.m.

Fight the Power: How Hip Hop Changed the World

Fight the Power: How Hip Hop Changed the World, a four-part series, is an incredible narrative of struggle, triumph and resistance that will be brought to life through the lens of an art form that has chronicled the emotions, experiences and expressions of Black and Brown communities: Hip Hop.

The perspectives and stories shared in Hip Hop are key to understanding injustice in the U.S. over the last half-century. Authored by Public Enemy’s Chuck D, who famously labeled Hip Hop as “the Black CNN” for bringing the stories of the street to the mainstream, this story includes personal testimonies of the MCs, DJs, graffiti artists, filmmakers, politicians and opinion formers who created and shaped its direction as it grew from an underground movement in the Bronx to the most popular music genre in the U.S. and the fastest growing genre in the world today.

Featuring interviews from A-list talent like Killer Mike, Will.i.am, Monie Love, Ice-T, and many more, the series paints a portrait of the unique relationship between Hip Hop and the political history of the U.S.

“Fight the Power,” Public Enemy’s groundbreaking single released in 1989, is often called the most important Hip Hop song of all time, is in the Library of Congress, and was named the #2 Greatest Song of All Time in 2021 by Rolling Stone.

Fight the Power airs on 3-2 Tuesdays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 31st. Watch it on 3-1 Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 31st.

INDEPENDENT LENS

Funded by a tax on cannabis, Evanston, IL was set to deliver $10 million in reparations to its Black constituents for their ancestors’ 400 years of unpaid, forced labor in American slavery. “The Big Payback” on Independent Lens follows the fight of rookie alderman Robin Sue Simmons (shown) as she leads the community in an uphill battle to obtain this “big payback.”

Assisted by the formidable Congresswoman Sheila Jackson Lee, Simmons courageously re-opens the contentious debate to pass HR 40, a national bill for examining the merits of introducing reparations to African Americans, which has been languishing in Congress for 30+ years. With the racial reckoning of 2020 playing out in the background, will Simmons succeed in this important first step towards correcting historical wrongs?

“The Big Payback” on Independent Lens will be broadcast on 3-2 Monday, the 16th at 9:00 p.m.

American MASTERS

Roberta Flack

From “First Time Ever I Saw Your Face” to “Killing Me Softly” and beyond, Roberta Flack gave voice to a global soundtrack of beauty and pain, love and anguish, hope and struggle. American Masters premieres “Roberta Flack,” a brilliant artist who transformed popular culture, in her own words.

A piano prodigy from an early age, Flack began studying classical piano at age 9 and was awarded a full music scholarship to Howard University at the age of 15. In 1968, moonlighting from her job as a music teacher with a regular gig at a Washington, DC, nightclub, her singular talent caught the eye of jazz great Les McCann, which led to the recording of her debut album, First Take. “First Time I Ever Saw Your Face,” a song from First Take, would win Flack a Grammy Award.

The following year, she won a Grammy for “Killing Me Softly,” becoming the first artist to win the Grammy Award for Record of the Year in two consecutive years.

The film documents how Flack’s musical virtuosity was inseparable from her lifelong commitment to civil rights.

“Roberta Flack” on American Masters can be seen on 3-2 Tuesday, the 24th at 8:00 p.m. Watch it on 3-1 Monday, the 30th at 7:00 p.m.

DOUBLE DUMMY

Double Dummy is the unexpected and thrilling look at the fiercely competitive game of bridge. The film follows the USA 1 Under 21 team as they battle it out at the World Youth Team Championships. Double Dummy bridges the generation gap and explores the game of bridge and its growing popularity with younger generations.

Bridge was once more popular than baseball. Today, it's a vanishing pastime. The average age of players is 73. But bridge isn't just for the elderly. That myth is robbing today's youth of a powerful opportunity for connection, stimulation and enrichment.

Unlike in chess, the best computer bridge player stands no chance against the best human. Billionaire Warren Buffett says bridge is "the best intellectual exercise out there."

To play a bridge hand double dummy means to play as if you know all the cards.

Double Dummy airs on 3-1 Tuesday, the 17th at 7:00 p.m.

The Medici were one of the longest lasting dynasties in history and perhaps the most famous of Renaissance clans. From relatively modest beginnings, the family became one of the most wealthy and powerful in Europe. As bankers to some of Europe's most important rulers, including the pope, the Medici had a substantial influence on the geo-politics of their time. But perhaps their most enduring legacy is that as patrons of the arts.

Artists such as Donatello, Brunelleschi, Fra Angelico, Botticelli and Michelangelo all developed under and enjoyed Medici largesse. Some of the most iconic works of art of the Renaissance were also the fruit of Medici commissions, such as Donatello's famous bronze David or Botticelli's timeless Birth of Venus. In this half-hour film, Rocky Ruggiero, a specialist in the Early Renaissance, explores the Medici as benefactors and how art became a language of their power.
