- 2-3 tablespoons butter
- 1 clove garlic, microplaned
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Maldon salt to finish

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Heat a skillet to medium high, add the butter and cook the onions for a minute.
2. Add the celery, cook for another minute.
3. Add the pepper and cook for another minute or two.

4. Add the garlic and then stir in the rice and a little bit of the chicken stock. Turn the heat to low and cover.
5. Start the shrimp. Check the rice when the shrimp is done. If it is too dry add a bit of butter and stock. If making it low carb and using the cauliflower rice, the thawed rice needs to be as dry as possible before cooking.
6. Add the minced shallots and cook for a couple minutes and then add the garlic and red pepper flake.
7. Add the the wine and let it cook for another couple minutes.
8. Add the clam and lemon juice and let it simmer for until the sauce reduces a bit, maybe 6-8 minutes.
9. Finally add the Shrimp and cook for 2-3 minutes then stir in the spinach and turn of the heat. Ladle the shrimp and sauce over the pilaf.

Tommy Pagan

KRWG Public Media Behind the Scenes

This month we meet new Broadcast Technician Tommy Pagan to learn more about what he does behind the scenes.

Where did you work before you came to KRWG?

I graduated in 2022 from NMSU with dual majors of Aerospace and Mechanical engineering with minors in Physics and Dance. I've been working a series of various jobs from a mechanic, free lance design work, to manager at a couple of different retail stores before being fortunate enough to arrive at KRWG now.

What attracted you to work at KRWG Public Media?

I was interested in becoming a part of the KRWG team because of its missions as a local PBS/NPR affiliate. With public media facing serious challenges, I felt a call for a rise to action and wanted to offer my technical capabilities to aid in meeting those serious challenges.

What have you enjoyed so far at KRWG?

I have enjoyed meeting all the various staff and partners that work(-s)(-ed) with KRWG and hearing all the amazing stories they have to share about working at the station. I've also loved getting to talk about all of our favorite PBS/NPR shows while having the ability to pull them up to watch/listen to again.

What do you hope to learn at KRWG so that you may grow professionally?

I'm looking forward to learning more about the technical and creative processes that make KRWG run smoothly. By expanding my skills in broadcast technology and working closely with the team, I hope to grow into a more versatile and well-rounded professional.
