Michael O'Herlihy
Head of Safety

Bastrop, TX 78602

Dear Mr. O'Herlihy:

I am writing to urge you and the Safety team at X to review and remove posts by the Libertarian Party of New Hampshire (X account name: @LPNH) calling for violence against elected officials in our state, and to suspend this account for its repeated violations of X's Violent Content Policy.

This account has openly called for the assassination of elected officials from the New Hampshire Democratic Party, has said it condones murdering elected officials for their policy positions, and most recently threatened a member of House leadership.

X's Violent Content Policy explicitly prohibits threats to inflict physical harm on others, including threats to kill or seriously injure individuals. The policy also prohibits inciting violence and expressing a desire for others to experience physical harm. Threats directed at elected officials in New Hampshire violate these standards, and X's enforcement guidelines provide for the removal of such content and potential suspension of accounts responsible for serious violations.

Violent rhetoric is completely unacceptable and has no place in our civil discourse. These posts plainly violate X's own rules on violent content, and I'm calling on X to remove them and suspend the account immediately.

I appreciate your swift action on this matter and your efforts to ensure X is a platform where responsible free expression can take place without fueling violent rhetoric.

Sincerely,

Kelly A. Ayotte
Governor, State of New Hampshire
