SUPREME
REVENGEAn investigation into the 30-year grievance that transformed the U.S. Supreme Court and turned confirmations into partisan conflicts.

The bitter, partisan battle that played out during Brett Kavanaugh's Supreme Court confirmation hearings reflected deep divisions in Washington that may seem unique to America's current political and social moment. But as "Supreme Revenge" on Frontline reveals, the intense politicization on display during the Supreme Court confirmation process—and the transformation of the Court itself—has been a shift decades in the making.

A central player is Senator Mitch McConnell (R-KY). For the Senate Majority Leader, the confirmation of Kavanaugh—despite Christine Blasey Ford's allegation that Kavanaugh sexually assaulted her in the 1980s—was a crowning achievement in a career spent building a more conservative Court. It was also the culmination of a vow to retaliate for what McConnell saw as the unfair treatment of President Ronald Reagan's Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork by Democrats back in the late 1980s.

"Supreme Revenge" begins by tracing how Bork's failed nomination in 1987 sparked a desire for revenge from McConnell that would ultimately help shape the Court for decades to come. Alarmed by Bork's record on civil rights and social issues, liberal Democrats launched protests, phone banks and attack ads in an effort to prevent his confirmation. But to McConnell, then a first-term senator, and other Republicans, it was an unfair attack based on Bork's conservative ideology. As the film recounts, McConnell vowed that he and his Republican colleagues would retaliate, and they did.

"Supreme Revenge" explores the development of a key force in their retaliation: the Federalist Society, a conservative legal group that has impacted legislative agendas across the country and become one of the most powerful players in Washington—where some say they played a crucial role in helping to get Donald Trump elected.

"I don't think he would be president without that list," Trump's former campaign manager and chief strategist Steve Bannon tells Frontline, referring to a list of Federalist Society-approved potential Supreme Court nominees that candidate Trump pledged to pick from, in a McConnell-supported effort to win over skeptical conservatives. Like so many of McConnell's efforts involving the judiciary, it worked.

The documentary traces how McConnell built a more conservative Court over the years. He developed a playbook for decrying sexual assault allegations as political smears through the Clarence Thomas hearings. He prevented Obama nominee Merrick Garland from even receiving a confirmation hearing. And finally, the film explores how McConnell doubled down on supporting Kavanaugh as Ford's testimony transfixed much of America and as Kavanaugh, who strongly denied her allegations, fought back using partisan lines of attack.

Offering both critical context on the state of America's judicial system and a gripping political narrative, "Supreme Revenge" is a must-watch look at how McConnell and the Federalist Society have come to dominate the Supreme Court—possibly for long into the future.

"Supreme Revenge" on Frontline airs on 3-2 Tuesday, the 15th at 10:00 p.m. and Thursday, the 17th at 7:00 p.m. On 3-1, it can be seen Friday, the 18th at 9:00 p.m.

NOVA

LOOK WHO'S DRIVING

After years of anticipation, autonomous vehicles are now being tested on public roads all over the world. Dozens of startups have sprung up alongside established auto and tech giants—who are also testing the waters—to form what many hope will be a transformative new industry.

As ambitious innovators are rushing to cash in on what they see as high tech's next pot of gold, some experts warn there are still daunting challenges to overcome, such as how to train computers to make life-and-death decisions as well as humans can.

"Look Who's Driving" on Nova peers under the hood of the autonomous vehicle industry to investigate how exactly driverless cars work, how close we are to large-scale deployment of them, how they may change the way we live and whether we will ever be able to trust AI with our lives.

"Look Who's Driving" on Nova airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 23rd at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 27th at 12:00 midnight. On 3-1, it airs Thursday, the 24th at 4:00 p.m., Friday, the 25th at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, the 26th at 11:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 27th at 4:00 p.m.

PRESS

"Press" on Masterpiece takes place in the modern newspaper industry, with a past tarnished by hacking scandals, a present at the mercy of the 24-hour news cycle and the Internet, and an uncertain future. The razor sharp and observant drama explores the current, turbulent media landscape and the ethical dilemmas that journalists and editors face each day.

Set in the offices of two British newspapers in London, the six-part drama follows the personal and professional lives of rival newspaper editors and reporters. "Death Knock," the first episode, sets the multi-layered tone for the series in an exploration of how influential the media can be in defining truth. When a populist tabloid is pitted against a more serious and less sensational large format newspaper, a young journalist finds his personal ethics in conflict with the demands of the real job.

"Press" on Masterpiece will be broadcast on 3-2 Sundays at 9:00 p.m. beginning the 6th. On 3-1, it can be seen Sundays at 8:00 p.m. beginning the 6th and Tuesdays at 2:00 p.m. beginning the 8th

MASTERPIECE

VOCES Porvenir, Texas

In the early morning hours of January 28, 1918, a group of fifteen Mexican men—fathers, brothers, sons and tios were taken from their homes in the border town of Porvenir, Texas and executed. The town was burned to the ground and the remaining 140 women and children fled across the river to Mexico. The massacre set in motion a chain of events that would forever change the face of the historical Texas Rangers.

"Porvenir, Texas" on Voces revisits the tragic events of that day and examines the many civilian casualties along the Texas border between 1910-1920, a time of sustained racial violence in American history.

During the last century, different stories about the 1918 massacre have emerged, but the historical marker pictured shares the true facts. It reads in part:

"A group of Texas Rangers from Company B in Marfa, U.S. Army, soldiers from Troop G of the 8th Cavalry, and local ranchers arrived at Porvenir in the early morning hours of January 28, 1918. They came to the ranch of Manuel Moralez and separated fifteen able bodied men and boys from the women, children and other men. Though initial accounts denied any wrongdoing, later testimony confirmed that these 15 victims were shot and killed."

"In June 1918, Governor William P. Hobby and Adjutant General James A. Harley disbanded Company B, dismissed five rangers for their actions at Porvenir, and forced Captain J.M. Fox's resignation. State Representative J.T. Canales filed charges with the Texas Legislature against the Texas Rangers for the oppression and murder of hundreds of ethnic Mexicans along the Rio Grande.... As a result, the Texas Rangers were reorganized and reduced in size."

"Porvenir, Texas" on Voces airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 6th at 12:30 p.m./10:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Saturday, the 5th at 8:00 p.m.

Playing by the Rules: Ethics at Work

Season three of Playing by the Rules: Ethics at Work begins with "Driven," an investigation into how Uber grew to be a company worth more than $75 billion by pushing ethical and legal boundaries. It examines the rapid rise of Uber, the scandals which followed, and whether or not innovation and corporate accountability can co-exist in an industry where "moving fast and breaking things" is the norm.

"Pay to Play" investigates the University of Louisville's basketball program and secret payoffs by an Adidas executive. Adidas was accused of masterminding a secret college bidding sponsored by the sneaker giant.

"Lessons Learned" looks back at three years of reporting on contemporary corporate controversies including Uber, Wells Fargo and Volkswagen, investigating the common thread of failed business ethics.

Playing by the Rules airs on 3-2 Sundays at 3:00 p.m. beginning the 6th and Sundays at 1:00 p.m. beginning the 20th. On 3-1, it airs Sundays at 5:30 p.m. beginning the 20th.

Made in Boise

A surprising industry has emerged in Boise, Idaho. In this all-American city, nurses, nail technicians and stay-at-home mothers are choosing to become paid reproductive surrogates.

As the number of surrogate births surge across the country, Boise is at the epicenter with its large population of healthy women of reproductive age and a significant number of Mormon and Catholic communities who value large families.

It is estimated that one in 15 mothers in Boise will carry a baby for a stranger at some point in her life. For gay couples, single men and those who struggle with infertility, this industry—outlawed in many countries around the world—is often the last resort to biological parenthood. Legal in some states and illegal in others, a number of states like Idaho have no laws governing surrogacy on their books.

"Made in Boise" on Independent Lens goes inside the lives of four women as they build relationships with intended parents and prepare for the rigors of pregnancy.

"Made in Boise" on Independent Lens airs on 3-2 Monday, the 28th at 9:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Sunday, the 3rd at 9:00 p.m.

Octopus: Making Contact

With their unique shape and skillsets, octopus behavior has fascinated humans for centuries. New in the world of cephalopod research is the extent to which these extraordinarily intelligent animals are individual personalities—able to recognize faces and interact with other individuals—all of which is an odd adaptation for an animal thought to live an asocial existence. Other discoveries include the abilities to change color, solve puzzles and use tools.

Follow this new science through the story of Heidi, a pet octopus, and its evolving relationship with the American scientist and his daughter studying it in Nature's "Octopus: Making Contact."

"Octopus: Making Contact" will be broadcast on 3-2 Wednesday, the 2nd at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 5th at 11:00 p.m. See page 19 for 3-1 dates/times.

Pet octopus Heidi is sitting on a toy brick house.

The Serengeti Rules

"The Serengeti Rules" on Nature presents one of the most important but untold science stories of our time—a tale with profound implications for the fate of life on our planet.

Beginning in the 1960s, a small band of young scientists headed out into the wilderness, driven by an insatiable curiosity about how nature works. Immersed in some of the most remote and spectacular places on Earth, they discovered a single set of rules that govern all life.

Now in the twilight of their eminent careers, these five unsung heroes of modern ecology reveal how their pioneering work flipped our view of nature on its head, and give us a chance to reimagine the world as it could and should be.

"The Serengeti Rules" can be seen on 3-2 Wednesday, the 9th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 12th at 11:00 p.m. See page 19 for 3-1 dates/times.

Undercover in the Jungle

In Ecuador's Amazon basin lies a special patch of jungle, an untouched, secluded wilderness only accessible by boat. "Undercover in the Jungle" follows a team on a mission to capture the intimate behaviors of the wildlife who dwell here by installing a network of more than 50 remotely operated cameras and mini-cams, from the dark rainforest floor right up to a tangled canopy 300 feet in the air. By filming 24/7 for an entire month, the camera crew captures the lives of exotic creatures and discovers the incredible tricks these animals use to survive in the extreme jungle climate.

"Undercover in the Jungle" on Nature airs on 3-2 Wednesday, the 16th at 7:00 p.m. and Saturday, the 19th at 11:00 p.m. See page 19 for 3-1 dates/times.

Beverly and Dereck Joubert film "Okavango: River of Dreams."

Okavango: River of Dreams

The Okavango River in Southern Africa is an unlikely oasis and lush paradise in the middle of a hostile desert that supports and feeds an incredible abundance of wildlife. Unlike most rivers that flow toward the shores of a nearby ocean, it instead runs inland through Botswana, finally disappearing into the Kalahari Desert. An all-star cast of charismatic African wildlife lives and dies in the timeless drama of survival revealed in the three-part miniseries "Okavango: River of Dreams."

Filmed by Emmy and Peabody Award winners

Dereck and Beverly Joubert, who have lived in the Okavango for 35 years, the miniseries shares the tale of a unique ecosystem at its finest and most beautiful to its epic extremes.

Nature's "Okavango: River of Dreams" airs on 3-2 Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 23rd and Saturdays at 11:00 p.m. beginning the 26th. See page 19 for 3-1 dates/times.

Born a "divine child" in the world's oldest continuous hereditary monarchy, Crown Prince Akihito knew that when his father died, he would inherit the throne in Japan. The three-part documentary Emperor Akihito tells the story of the Japanese emperor's historic imperial reign.

Akihito's childhood is spent in the shadow of a war fought in the name of his father, Emperor Showa (Hirohito). Public criticism of his father taught Akihito to balance his imperial identity with a sense of social equality.

At a tennis tournament he meets his future wife, Michiko, who becomes the first commoner to join the Imperial Household. In another break with tradition, they raise their own children.

On the death of his father in 1989, Akihito became Emperor, marking the dawn of the Heisei Era. Heisei translates as "peace everywhere," and it refers to Emperor Akihito's reign, beginning the day after his father died until he abdicated the throne in 2019, passing on his imperial role to his son, Crown Prince Naruhito.

Emperor Akihito airs on 3-2 Sundays at 11:00 a.m./11:00 p.m. beginning the 27th. On 3-1, it can be seen Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m. beginning the 30th.

100 Days, Drinks, Dishes & Destinations

In 100 Days, Drinks, Dishes & Destinations, James Beard Award-winning wine expert Leslie Sbrocco travels the world with glass and fork in hand, indulging in delicacies, uncovering local hangouts, meeting talented artisans and visiting both up-and-coming and acclaimed restaurants, wineries and breweries. She explores San Francisco's Chinatown and Calistoga, California before jetting off to Vienna, Budapest and Normandy.

100 Days, Drinks, Dishes & Destinations airs on 3-2 Sundays at 5:30 p.m. beginning the 27th. On 3-1, it can be seen Wednesdays at 7:30 a.m. beginning the 30th.

1955 Seven Days of Fall

1955 Seven Days of Fall tells the story of the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers/New York Yankee World Series. The award-winning film is the story of the Brooklyn Dodgers' only World Championship title after 65 years of futility. 1955 blends archival footage and stills, narration, period music, player and fan interviews to recount this timeless story six decades later.

The film reflects dedication, teamwork, belief in one's self and a commitment to achievement against all odds. 1955 is more than a sports story, it's a time capsule of a period in American history like no other. As the documentary's epilogue states: "To believe was to achieve, back in 1955."

1955 Seven Days of Fall airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 6th at 11:00 a.m. and Sunday, the 13th at 10:00 p.m. On 3-1, it can be seen Monday, the 7th at 8:00 p.m. and Wednesday, the 16th at 8:00 a.m.

Rothko

"Rothko: Pictures Must Be Miraculous" on American Masters explores the life of the celebrated artist whose luminous color field paintings helped define the abstract expressionist movement, which shifted the art world epicenter from Paris to New York. Mark Rothko is known to have created 835 paintings during his five-decade career. A Latvian immigrant to New York, he died in 1970. His works, which were popular with collectors during his lifetime, also soared at auction before the recession. At the market's peak in 2007, one of his 1950 works sold for a record $72.8 million.

"Rothko: Pictures Must Be Miraculous" on American Masters airs on 3-2 Friday, the 25th at 9:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 27th at 6:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Saturday, the 26th at 7:00 p.m. and Monday, the 28th at 2:00 p.m.

América

Diego lives away from his family, where he works in a surf shop by day and performs on the boardwalk for tourists by night. But when his grandmother, América, falls and injures herself, and his father—América's sole caretaker—is imprisoned for elder neglect, Diego returns to his hometown of Colima, Mexico, to care for her with his brothers, Rodrigo and Bruno. Caught between love and obligation, the eccentric trio clash over money, communication and the considerable challenge of caregiving.

The Feeling of Being Watched

In the Arab-American neighborhood outside of Chicago where director Assia Boundaoui grew up, most of her neighbors think they have been under surveillance for over a decade. While investigating their experiences, Assia uncovers hundreds of pages of declassified FBI documents that prove her hometown was the subject of one of the largest counterterrorism investigations ever conducted in the U.S. before 9/11—code-named "Operation Vulgar Betrayal."

Monday, the 14th at 9:00 p.m. (3-2)

Sunday, the 20th at 9:00 p.m. (3-1)

Glenn Miller Swing Celebration

The USAF Air Force Band pays tribute to the legendary Glenn Miller on the 75th anniversary of his disappearance over the English Channel. With a band capable of playing both "sweet" and "hot," Miller revolutionized military music during World War II, creating the U.S. Army Air Forces Band.

In the Glenn Miller Swing Celebration, the USAF Airmen of Note carry on the tradition, playing his hits with stellar musicianship. Featuring vocalists and Broadway dancers, the Band plays dozens of Miller's hits, including "I'll be Seeing You," "At Last," "Moonlight Serenade," "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," and "Chatanooga Choo Choo."

Glenn Miller Swing Celebration airs on 3-2 Sunday, the 20th at 6:00 p.m./10:00 p.m. On 3-1, it airs Thursday, the 31st at 7:00 p.m.

SISTER

In 1984, Sister Helen Prejean watched as Patrick Sonnier died, strapped to Gruesome Gertie, Louisiana's electric chair. The execution took place at a few minutes past midnight in Angola Prison in the State's remote backwoods. It was an almost secret ritual, and Prejean realized that the public would never know the reality of capital punishment unless she spoke up.

Prejean not only spoke up, but also wrote a best-selling book—Dead Man Walking—that ignited a debate about executions. The book was turned into an Oscar-winning movie, a play and one of the most performed modern operas.

Sister highlights the work of the middle-class white nun, who grew up in the Jim Crow South, and ended up becoming the world's most famous voice against the death penalty.

Sister can be seen on 3-2 Tuesday, the 1st at 10:00 p.m. and Sunday, the 13th at 11:00 a.m. On 3-1, it will be broadcast Tuesday, the 15th at 9:00 p.m.

Blowin' Up

"Blowin' Up" on POV follows a group of advocates working together to transform the way that a broken criminal justice system treats arrested or indicted sex workers. The title "blowin' up" refers to the process of severing ties with a pimp—and, often, the entire sex-worker life.

The film offers testimony from different women about their experiences attempting to make that break. "There is no walking away," says one. Her pimp maintains control by keeping her passport, driver's license and Social Security card.

The film focuses on a Human Trafficking Court in New York that considers prostitution a by-product of human trafficking and treats the defendants in its cases as victims rather than criminals. They offer counseling programs, that if completed, can lead to dropped charges, expunged records, and the chance to start a new life with as clean a slate as possible. In New York, 85 percent of trafficked youth used to be in foster care.

Monday, the 21st at 9:00 p.m. (3-2)

Sunday, the 27th at 9:00 p.m. (3-1)

It is a stormy night on Highway One in the late summer of 1940, and Al Geery's Studebaker Dictator smashes into a Plymouth convertible head on.

Mr. Geery is surprised to wake up unscathed in the twisted wreckage of his automobile, and even more surprised when the mysterious Mr. Maro escorts him to the towering Elysian Arms Hotel, where they wait in the hotel bar for the authorities.

But Mr. Maro is much more than he seems, and each room in the Elysian Arms is occupied by a singular and frightening story.

In this radio play drama, the actors play multiple roles and employ vintage microphones to simulate radio's Golden Age. It's radio you can see!
