Quarterly Program Topic Report

INTRODUCTION

Through meetings with local community leaders, review of area newspapers and other publications, and production of a nightly newscast (Monday to Friday), the staff of KRWG-TV have determined that the following issues are of primary importance to the citizens within our coverage area:

Health/Welfare/Safety – Petty crimes and drive-by shootings are an on-going problem in this area. While the over-all crime rate is no higher than the national average, low-income families and a higher than average teenage population contribute to the gang and crime problem. The chronic low-income family problem also results in health and welfare issues including an above average social services caseload and a high number of welfare cases handled by the local hospital.

Culture – The mix of Hispanic/Native American/ and Anglo cultures provide many positive attributes to life in southern New Mexico. However, this same mix results in an on-going undercurrent of conflict among the cultures. Cultural and historical understanding is of on-going importance in this area.

Business - With an above-average unemployment rate and a below-average income level, the status of the business/agricultural community in southern New Mexico is an important and on-going issue. Concern over the constant issue of defense spending at the federal level is ongoing in this area due to the presence of several military and NASA installations. Dona Ana County is also actively seeking new businesses and a strong infrastructure exists near the Santa Teresa Border Crossing, which is also a source of news and related issues.

Politics/Local Public Affairs – Southern New Mexico has very intensive and on-going political issues that are of constant interest to the citizens of the involved communities.

Education – With a constantly growing population of children, many of whom use Spanish as their primary language, the school systems in the KRWG-TV viewing area are constantly trying to provide facilities and teachers to meet this growing school age population with limited funds. New Mexico is one of the poorest per-capita states in the nation, which results in a chronic shortage of funds for local education.

Water/Environment – Located in a desert with two major sources of water, the Rio Grande River and an aquifer that supplies drinking water to Las Cruces and surrounding areas in the Mesilla Valley. Water is the lifeblood of the region and conflicts are escalating over the requirements of a growing urban population and the on-going needs of agriculture.

Children – As noted above, families in this area have an above-average number of children. At the same time, many of these families must survive on a below-average income and have an additional handicap because English is most often their second language. Southern New Mexico agencies must provide a broad range of social services to many of these children while at the same time having to deal with a limited economic base.

National & World Affairs* - To provide citizens in this area with information about the issues listed above, KRWG-TV provides a wide range of local, regional, and national programming that relates to these issues.

Children's Programming

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 4pm except 1/1 (30min)

Title: ARTHUR – This series is based on Marc Brown's books. It shows how Arthur and his friends use effective, age-appropriate, problem-solving skills. Each episode consists of two independent stories focusing on themes and events central to children's lives.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Saturdays at 6am (30min)

Title: BARNEY AND FRIENDS - This series invites young viewers to join in the fun as they interact with the series' characters. Each episode is built around individual themes. Ages 2-5.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Saturdays at 7am (30min)

Title: BOB THE BUILDER - Aimed at preschoolers, this series follows the adventures of Bob and his machines: Scoop the leader/digger, Muck the digger/dumper, Dizzy the cement mixer, Lofty the crane and Roley the steamroller. Bob's business partner Wendy and Pilchard the cat all help out in the builder's yard. Other characters include Farmer Pickles, his tractor Travis and the naughty scarecrow Spud -- who is always up to mischief. Ages 2-5.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Sundays at 6am (30min)

Title: CAILLOU - Growing up is not so tough - especially with a friend like Caillou (pronounced KY-YOO), a lovable four-year-old who has a unique way of relating to the world. Based on a series of best-selling Canadian children's books, CAILLOU demonstrates how the first experiences of life, from going to the park to understanding one's own family, can be perceived with wonder and a sense of discovery. Blending animation and live-action segments with humor, kid logic and imagination, Caillou helps preschoolers make sense of the world. The stories address real problems and conflicts typical to a young child's development. Through it all, Caillou remains an irresistible little boy in a very big world, with whom every young child and parent can identify.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 8:30am (30min)

Title: THE CAT IN THE HAT- is designed to spark a love of learning and an interest in science in preschool-aged children.

Based on Random House's best-selling Beginner Book collection "The Cat in the Hat's Learning Library™," the TV series and online resources are designed to cultivate positive views about science and scientists among the next generation—the children who will become tomorrow's citizens and innovators—and help families and teachers build communities of science explorers.

In each program, the Cat in the Hat and his friends Sally and Nick go on a science adventure such as shrinking to bee-size to explore a hive and discover how honey is made; flying with birds to discover how and why they migrate; diving inside flowers to find out more about the animals that depend on them to live; or taking a snowcat to the Arctic to explore freezing and melting. Guided by the Cat, the children figure things out by engaging in science inquiry. They ask questions, make observations, make predictions, plan investigations, collect data, make discoveries, and generate and discuss ideas about how the world works.

Each half-hour television episode consists of two 11-minute animated adventures, along with corresponding short animated clips. Each adventure revolves around a specific science concept such as bird migration or animal camouflage. The animated clips feature songs and rhymes, interesting science facts, humorous science explorations by Thing One and Thing Two, and interviews of animals by Sally and Nick.

The Cat in the Hat Knows a Lot About That!™ is voiced by award-winning actor Martin Short and produced by Portfolio Entertainment Inc. and Collingwood O'Hare Productions, in association with Dr. Seuss Enterprises, Random House Children's Entertainment, Treehouse, and PBS KIDS.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 12:30pm (30min)

Title: CLIFFORD – CLIFFORD THE BIG RED DOG emphasizes good citizenship and the importance of community. Through the character of Clifford, whose heart is as big as he is, children learn gentle lessons about acceptance and inclusion. Each episode concludes with a component of "Clifford's Big Ideas" 10 different attributes children learn to embrace, which leaves them with something to think about and practice in their lives. Different characters introduce the ideas through varied stories, exploring each concept from different points of view.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 8am (30min)

Title: CURIOUS GEORGE - is an animated series based on the popular books by Margret and H.A. Rey. It airs daily on PBS KIDS aimed at preschool viewers (ages three to five); the goal of the series is to inspire children to explore science, engineering, and math in the world around them. And what better guide is there for this kind of exploration than the world's most curious monkey? George lives to find new things to discover, touch, spill, and chew. Everything is new to George and worth investigating. Of course, in George's hands — all four of them — investigation often leads to unintended consequences! Throughout George's adventures, he encounters and models basic concepts in each of the three content areas. (To learn more, read about the educational philosophy that drives the series.) While remaining true to the look and feel of the beloved books, the daily series expands George's world to include a host of colorful new characters and locales. Each episode features two animated stories followed by short live-action segments in which real kids investigate the ideas that George introduces in the stories. The series is narrated by Emmy award-winning actor William H. Macy. The CURIOUS GEORGE series also aims to show parents and caregivers how to foster the development of science and math literacy in children. In addition to programming, the series is supported by a substantial educational outreach campaign that develops relevant materials and distributes them to librarians, teachers, community centers, and families. These materials offer activities designed to support and extend the learning objectives of the series. Most of these resources are available right here on the CURIOUS GEORGE Web site in the Activities & More section.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 11am (30min)

Title: DANIEL TIGER'S NEIGHBORHOOD

Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood is a new, beautifully-textured animated series from PBS KIDS for preschoolers aged 2-4, based on the legacy of Fred Rogers. Its cast are the children of his original and much-loved Neighborhood of Make-Believe characters. A young Daniel Tiger is joined by his friends O the Owl, Katerina Kittycat, Prince Wednesday and Miss Elaina. Together, through imagination, creativity and music they learn the key social skills necessary for school and for life.

Every Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood episode offers a parenting strategy. The clip below is from an episode about first experiences—a visit to the doctor and a 'look around' visit to school. The parenting strategy being modeled shows that by talking to children in advance about what to expect, parents can ease any apprehension they may be feeling. As in all Daniel stories, the strategy is offered as a musical 'jingle' – in this case “When we do something new, let's talk about what we'll do!”

Building on the landmark PBS series Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood is a new series for a new generation of children. Launching in fall 2012 on PBS KIDS, the series tells engaging stories about the life of a preschooler and is accompanied by cross-platform games and activities for the very youngest children, together with online resources for parents and teachers. Daniel was developed by The Fred Rogers Company, and brings together a group of today's leading creators of children's media and educational technology. The series tells its engaging stories using musical strategies grounded in Fred Rogers' landmark curriculum: its songs give parents and children a concrete way to practice important school-readiness skills together.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 9:30am except 3/3 (30min)

Title: DINOSAUR TRAIN - "Dinosaur Train" is an animated series for 3-to-6 year olds. The series features a curious young T-rex named Buddy who, together with his adopted Pteranodon family, takes the Dinosaur Train to meet, explore, and have adventures with all kinds of dinosaurs and prehistoric creatures.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Sundays at 730am (30min)

Title: THE ELECTRIC COMPANY

Title: THE ELECTRIC COMPANY Over thirty years ago, an educational television show dared to speak to youth in the voice of their generation. The Electric Company turned on the power of possibility for kids by showing them that learning to read can be fun. In 2009, the power is surging back with the all-new The Electric Company, produced by Sesame Workshop. With a cool cast of characters, amazing literacy superpowers, side-splitting cartoons, and songs that you can't help dancing along with, this reincarnation of a television classic is sure to make an impact on the newest generation. The Electric Company aims to entertain children between the ages of 6 and 9 while simultaneously teaching four crucial areas of literacy that are challenging for struggling readers:

- Decoding: Children will increase their ability to manipulate sounds in spoken words and map those words to print.
- Vocabulary: Children will expand the amount of words (vocabulary) that they use and understand.

- Comprehension of Connected Text: Children will learn strategies that good readers use to understand connected text (phrases and sentences).
- Motivation: Children will be motivated to read connected text and express themselves using text.

Like the original series, the new show filters these educational goals through pop culture — music, comedy, technology, and celebrities — to create a playful, hip, multimedia experience. Unlike the original series, each new episode of The Electric Company includes a narrative with regular characters. This narrative portion of each show teaches 4 or 5 domain-based vocabulary words within a compelling context that children can understand. In addition, the show also includes three "curriculum commercial breaks" that convey the curriculum's phonics and connected text, and motivation goals. These "curriculum commercial breaks" consist of a variety of short-form segments: sketches, animations and songs.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 12pm (30min)

Title: MARTHA SPEAKS

MARTHA SPEAKS is an animated series on PBS KIDS. Aimed at viewers between the ages of four and seven, MARTHA's educational goal is to teach kids new words. Based on the children's book series by Susan Meddaugh and published by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, the series stars Martha, a beloved family dog. She is accidentally fed alphabet soup — this gives her the power of speech and the chance to speak her mind to anyone that will listen. With two stories in each episode, kids will get to know Martha as an outspoken, honest, smart, confident dog who loves to eat (and talk!). They will also meet the rest of Martha's family and friends. Ten-year-old Helen is Martha's best friend. Martha encourages the shy, artistic Helen to be more outgoing and brave. Helen acts as the voice of reason for Martha. It's a relationship any dog, or pet-lover, can appreciate.

The series is supported by an educational outreach campaign that includes a cross-age reading buddy program. The show is Closed Captioned and described for the visually impaired. It's produced by WGBH Boston and Vancouver's Studio B Productions.

Learning Goals

The goal of MARTHA SPEAKS is to increase oral vocabulary, the words we use when we talk. The shows are not trying to teach kids how to read. They are designed to help kids understand what words mean when they hear them; words like retrieve, sprout, and crave. Vocabulary is one thing that predicts if children will be good readers. Once they are in school and they see these words, children will need to know what they mean. If children have heard the words before, that familiarity will help them as they learn to read. MARTHA SPEAKS is designed to teach up to 20 words in each show. And how better to get kids excited about learning and trying out new words than with a talking dog, who just can't stop talking?!

KRWG Airdate and Time: Sundays at 7am (30min)

Title: MAYA AND MIGUEL

"Maya & Miguel" chronicles the adventures of 10-year-old Latino twins, Maya and Miguel Santos, as they figure out how to leave their stamp on the world around them, and features their relatives and diverse neighborhood friends. The comedy revolves around Maya's well-intended meddling in her family's and friends' lives, ultimately leading her to create new quandaries to fix -- all the while doing good for the family and community.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Saturdays at 730am (30min)

Title: MISTER ROGER'S NEIGHBORHOOD – The soothing voice of Mr. Rogers continues to comfort children telling them that there will always be someone to take care of them and helping them feel good about themselves. Ages 2-5.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Sundays at 630am; M-F at 9am except 3/3 and 3/20 (30min)

Title: PEG + CAT – This series is designed to engage preschool children and teach them how to solve math-based problems with Peg, a chatty and tenacious five year-old, her feline pal, Cat, and her smart, handsome, cool friend Ramone.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 10am (60min)

Title: SESAME STREET – An education series for preschool children. Sesame Street continues its literacy campaign that introduces kids to the wonder of books, the excitement of writing and the thrill of decoding the mysteries of letters and words. Ages 2-5.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 1130am (30min)

Title: SID THE SCIENCE KID – SID THE SCIENCE KID is a new educational animated television series using comedy to promote exploration, discovery and science readiness among preschoolers. This landmark production of 40 half-hour episodes, co-produced by The Jim Henson Company and KCET/Los Angeles for PBS KIDS®, debuts on September 1, 2008, as part of the popular PBS KIDS preschool destination, the hosted two-hour morning block and online destination. SID THE SCIENCE KID, The Jim Henson Company's first series for PBS KIDS that features a practical in-school science curriculum, uses music and humor to celebrate children's natural curiosity about science in everyday life. The energetic and inquisitive Sid starts each episode with a new question ("Why are my shoes shrinking?" "Why do bananas get mushy?") and embarks on a fun-filled day of finding answers with the help of family and friends.

Title: SuperWHY! –

SUPER WHY, a breakthrough preschool series designed to help kids ages 3 to 6 with the critical skills that they need to learn to read (and love to read!) as recommended by the National Reading Panel (alphabet skills, word families, spelling, comprehension and vocabulary). SUPER WHY is the first original program from Out of the Blue Enterprises, an innovator in interactive children's entertainment led by Angela C. Santomero, an Emmy-nominated co-creator of Blue's Clues, and Samantha Freeman Alpert, a veteran in children's entertainment. SUPER WHY makes reading an empowering adventure by using interactive literacy games that need YOU to play. In SUPER WHY reading is power!

SUPER WHY is an interactive reading adventure!

We begin each 24-minute reading adventure in Storybrook Village, a magical 3-D world hidden behind the bookshelves in a children's library. The Storybrook Village is the home of your child's favorite fairytale characters. Immediately, you'll meet the four best friends who anchor each episode: Red, from Little Red Riding Hood; Pig from The Three Little Pigs, Princess from The Princess and The Pea, and Wyatt, the curious younger brother of Jack from Jack and The Beanstalk who discovers he has the power to fly inside books to find answers to his questions. Each of these characters is re-imagined as an everyday kid, not unlike your child's own friends: Red rides roller blades; Pig drives a trike; Princess loves tea parties and dress-up; and Wyatt is the group's natural leader.

Each episode starts with a preschool relatable problem.

In every episode, one of the friends encounters a problem with another Storybrook Village character (For instance, Jill from the Jack and Jill rhyme is not being nice). As in real life, the problems require preschool social skills to resolve. And that's when SUPER WHY gets super-powered! Wyatt calls his fairy tale friends to their secret clubhouse, named "The Book Club," where they transform themselves from mere mortals into literacy-powered super heroes: Alpha Pig with "Alphabet Power," Wonder Red with "Word Power," Princess Presto with "Spelling Power," Super Why with the "Power to Read," and your child-Super You, with the "Power to Help." Using their super powers, these Super Readers literally fly inside books. The adventure begins as the Super Readers find out how famous fictional characters handled similar situations (Why is the big bad wolf so big and bad?). This adventure inside a book helps the Super Readers figure out the answers to their own problems. Be prepared to hear: Super Why and the Super Readers to the rescue!

The Super Readers can solve any obstacle with their literacy powers!

"Inside" each book the Super Readers lead the viewer on an engaging reading adventure. They talk to fictional characters from the story, play reading games and activities to overcome obstacles, search for Super Letters, and practice such key skills as letter identification, word decoding, spelling, vocabulary and comprehension. Super Why, who has the Power to Read can even change a story ending and save the day! (For example: He can change the big bad wolf to a small good wolf!) What's unique about this approach is that while kids are learning and practicing the ABC's of reading, they're also thinking about what they're reading, applying reasoning skills to see the story in a real-life context and experiencing books in a powerful new way.

Hip Hip Hurray! The Super Readers save the day!

As soon as the Super Readers solve the fictional problem and gather all the Super Letters they need, they fly back in their Why Flyers to the Book Club. There, they decode the Super Story Answer, or theme, on the Super Duper Computer and reveal how to realistically resolve their own problem. (The big bad wolf is acting bad because he was so sad. He has no friends.) The episode ends with the characters modeling the behavior so kids can actually see the problem being fixed. Finally, with a song you'll find yourself singing, a dance you'll quickly pick up, and a hip, hip, hooray! The Super Readers—and Super You—save the day!

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 7am (30min)

Title: THOMAS AND FRIENDS: Set on the imaginary island of Sodor, the series follows the adventures of Thomas, a cheeky little Tank Engine, and his friends, Ed Ward, James, Gordon, Percy, Henry and Toby, plus Emily, the first female steam engine -- all under the watchful eye of Sir Topham Hatt, the manager of the Sodor Railway.

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F 4:30pm except 1/1 (30min)

Title: WILD KRATTS- "Wild Kratts" joins the adventures of Chris and Martin Kratt as they encounter incredible wild animals, combining science education with fun and adventure as the duo travels to animal habitats around the globe. Each adventure explores an age-appropriate science concept central to an animal's life and showcases a never-before-seen wildlife moment, all wrapped up in engaging stories of adventure, mystery, rescue, and the Kratt brothers' brand of laugh-out-loud-comedy that kids love. Real-life Chris and Martin introduce each "Wild Kratts" episode with a live action segment that imagines what it would be like to experience a never-before-seen wildlife moment, and asks, "What if...?" The Kratt brothers' transition into animation and the adventure begins, bringing early-elementary school children into the secret lives of extraordinary creatures, many of which have never been animated before -- including Tiger quolls, Draco lizards, and Caracals!

KRWG Airdate and Time: M-F at 3:30pm except 1/1(30min)

Title: WORDGIRL: is an animated series that follows the everyday life and superhero adventures of "WordGirl" as she fights crime and enriches vocabulary usage, all in a day's work. Disguised as mild-mannered 5th grader, Becky Botsford, WordGirl arrived on planet Earth when she and her monkey sidekick, Captain Huggy Face, crashed their spaceship. In classic superhero form, WordGirl possesses superhero strength with the added benefit of a colossal vocabulary. WordGirl has a family and friends who have no idea of her secret identity. As WordGirl, she battles and prevails over evil (albeit ridiculous and comical) villains. Each episode introduces four new vocabulary words and will reinforce their meaning in a variety of contexts throughout the episode. The vocabulary itself is not necessarily a plot point. The show teaches new vocabulary words to children in a variety of fun and interesting contexts. WordGirl is a superhero spoof, so storylines are funny takes of familiar stories from that genre. WordGirl enriches young audiences' vocabulary, closes the gap for those who don't grow up in language-rich environments, instills a love of language, and fosters better reading comprehension. Only a superhero like WordGirl, endowed with power punches and dictionary strength, can put the word-wrenching scoundrels back in their place proving once again that crime doesn't pay...but knowing the right word for the right moment is priceless.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Saturdays at 630am (30min)

Title: WORD WORLD: WordWorld, the first preschool series where words are truly the stars of the show! Come along for an adventurous romp into a colorful, vibrant world of words with the lovable, legible WordFriends™—animals whose bodies are made up of the letters that spell the word they are. But the WordFriends are characters first and words second. Sheep is painfully shy but loves to pretend. She will take on the role of detective, princess, super hero—anything to help her friends! Then there's Frog, the cautious brainiac and word "expert," whose crazy inventions sometimes don't work exactly as planned. Frog's neighbor and good friend is silly, impetuous Duck. Just like a preschooler, Duck is still learning his letters—and social skills—and often needs Frog to help him out of trouble. Pig, a marvelous chef and a bit of a ham, lives life moment by glorious moment; his best buddy, Ant, is a hard working bundle of energy who manages to keep Pig in check, run a radio station out of his ant hill, and lead a family of hundreds of ant cousins. Dog is a WordFriend's best friend and is always ready to play, play, play (and build a word)! The WordFriends go on comic adventures and face challenges that can only be resolved with the right word. That word is built letter by letter, sound by sound, during the funky "Build a Word" song at the end of every episode. Once the word is built, it "morphs"—comes alive—into the thing it is! Word building reinforces the pre-reading concept that letters (and their sounds) make words, and that words have real meaning...and power. The series also introduces literacy concepts that preschoolers will encounter as they become readers, such as sounding out letters and rhyming. But most of all, WordWorld helps children get excited about reading and see words as their friends.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Thursday 2/13 at 12:30pm (30min)

Title: CLIFFORD's Puppy Days: Valentine Schmalentine/Sweethearts Dance -

Valentine Schmalentine: Clifford and Daffodil get very competitive over who can make EE the best Valentine's Day gift of all. In the end, they realize she would have loved whatever they gave her, because she loves them.

Sweethearts Dance: EE's excitement over the Father/Daughter-Mother/Sondance at the Community Center turns to anxiety when she realizes she and her dad have to dance in front of a crowd.

KRWG Airdate and Time: Monday 1/20 at 9am (60min)

Title: DINOSAUR TRAIN: Nature Trackers Adventure Camp - Get ready for some fun as Mr. Conductor and his nephew Gilbert lead Buddy, Tiny, Shiny, Don and all of their friends on explorations with the Nature Trackers Adventure Camp! Throughout their journeys, the group will find their courage as they race down rivers, have a snowball fight as they climb a tall mountain, ride a zipline over a dense rainforest canopy and even hike down a canyon to dig for fossils, all the while learning about nature and singing lots of wonderful songs that everyone can enjoy and sing along with! Learning about nature has never been this much fun!

BODY ELECTRIC

Monday –Friday at 6:30am (30min)

Margaret Richard is PBS-TV's fitness guru to the baby boomer generation. Her "Body Electric" exercise program has appeared on PBS regularly for more than 20 years.

Richard has appeared before the U.S. Senate's Special Committee on Aging and was recently inducted into the National Fitness Hall of Fame.

CLASSICAL STRETCH: THE ESMONDE TECHNIQUE

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 6am (30min)

An original combination of scientific formulas and graceful movements that unlock uncomfortably rigid muscles leaving the participant with a more flexible, relaxed and strengthened body. The exercises reach deeply into muscles and ligaments not normally worked in the average fitness program and are set in routines that release tight muscles one by one. The results come quickly - not over years, but in a matter of minutes. Increased flexibility is enjoyed instantly. This unlocking of the muscles creates the leaner look, giving the participant back the body they were meant to have before locking it up in the sedentary and stressful lifestyle of the 21st Century.

Core Principles:

- It is a combination of scientific stretching, PNF, tai chi, yoga, ballet, physiotherapy and chiropractic movements, plus Esmonde-White's research and knowledge of specific exercises that will give you a longer and leaner body.
- It takes the PNF concept to another level -gently freeing the body to a level of flexibility that most people never imagined they could achieve.
- It plays with the concepts of agonist / antagonist and joint rotation to speed the rate of elongation and strengthening which results in a leaner looking body.
- It focuses on spinal rotation and joint alignment, liberating the back from pain and
- improving posture.

WAI LANA YOGA

Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6am (30min)

FRONTLINE #3114

HUNTING THE HUMAN BACTERIA

Sunday 2/16 at 5pm (60min)

"Nightmare bacteria." That's how the CDC describes a frightening new threat spreading quickly in hospitals, communities, and across the globe. FRONTLINE reporter David Hoffman investigates the alarming rise of untreatable infections: from a young girl thrust onto life support in an Arizona hospital, to a young American infected in India who comes home to Seattle, and an uncontrollable outbreak at the nation's most prestigious hospital, where 18 patients were mysteriously infected and six died, despite frantic efforts to contain the killer bacteria. Fueled by decades of antibiotic overuse, the crisis has deepened as major drug companies, squeezed by Wall Street expectations, have abandoned the development of new antibiotics. Without swift action, the miracle age of antibiotics could be coming to an end.

FRONTLINE #3202

LEAGUE OF DENIAL: THE NFL'S CONCUSSION CRISIS

Wednesday 1/29 at 2am, Sunday 2/2 at 5pm (60min)

The National Football League, a multibillion-dollar commercial juggernaut, presides over America's indisputable national pastime. But the NFL is under assault as thousands of former players and a host of scientists claim the league has covered up how football inflicted long-term brain injuries on many players. In a special investigation, FRONTLINE and prize-winning journalists Steve Fainaru and Mark Fainaru-Wada of ESPN reveal the hidden story of the NFL and brain injuries, drawn from their forthcoming book League of Denial: The NFL, Concussions and the Battle for Truth (Crown Archetype, October 2013). What did the NFL know and when did it know it? What's the truth about the risks to players? What can be done? The FRONTLINE investigation details how, for years, the league denied and worked to refute scientific evidence that the violent collisions at the heart of the game are linked to an alarming incidence of early onset dementia, catastrophic brain damage, death, and other devastating consequences for some of football's all-time greats.

BRAIN CHANGE WITH DAVID PERLMUTTER, MD

Sunday 3/9 and 3/16 at 930am (90min)

BrainChange reveals the devastating truth about the effects of wheat, sugar, and carbohydrates on the human brain, with a 30-day plan to achieve optimum health. Renowned neurologist David Perlmutter, MD, blows the lid off a topic that's been buried in medical literature for far too long: carbs are destroying your brain. And not just unhealthy carbs, but even healthy ones like whole grains can cause dementia, ADHD, anxiety, chronic headaches, depression, and much more. His New York Times #1 best-selling book, Grain Brain, is the first book of its kind to explore the insidious role our highly touted low-fat, high-carb diets play in a host of neurological conditions. The vast majority of us don't realize that our seemingly "healthy" daily habits are silently aggravating our nervous systems and setting us up for serious brain ailments. BrainChange shows that the fate of your brain is not in your genes. It's in the food you eat. Dr. Perlmutter, a leading international authority on nutritional medicine, has a disturbing yet empowering message: our brains are highly sensitive to certain proteins and sugars that are ubiquitous today-in our hand creams and organic ice creams, cocktails and coffees, multi-grain breads, whole fruits, and even brand name pharmaceuticals. In BrainChange, he shows us how to prevent, treat, and reverse a wide array of brain-related disorders by eliminating specific foods from our diets and making smarter lifestyle choices. Dr. Perlmutter is the only doctor in the country who is both a board-certified neurologist and a Fellow of the American College of Nutrition, making him uniquely suited to write this book and make this public television program. An in-demand expert for nationally syndicated radio and television programs, he has appeared on 20/20, CNN, Dr. Oz, Fox News, Good Morning America, The Today Show, and Oprah, among many outlets. Dr. Perlmutter also runs his own private practice, The Perlmutter Health Center, in Naples, Florida.

HEART OF PERFECT HEALTH WITH BRENDA WATSON

Saturday 3/8 at 6pm, Sunday 3/9 at 12am, 530am, and 1130pm (30min)

Internationally renowned digestive care expert Brenda Watson returns to Public Television in with her new program The Heart of Perfect Health. In this program, Brenda shares compelling evidence of the connection between digestive health and heart health, and includes easy, simple ways to protect and strengthen the heart by balancing the gut and achieving healthy digestion. Throughout her career in health care, Brenda has been a passionate advocate and educator regarding the connection between a healthy digestive system and total body health. Medical research supports her conviction: scientific evidence shows that a balanced gut -one supported by a healthy diet, probiotics, omega oils and other natural means-builds the foundation of total body health, helping to avert health conditions related to the heart. In The Heart of Perfect Health, Brenda shares the latest information on the impact of inflammation on heart health through an in-depth analysis of three common health measures-cholesterol, blood pressure and blood sugar-and their role as risk factors for heart disease. She then provides ways to help combat abnormalities in these measures through digestive health. Brenda most recently appeared on public television in December, 2010 with her successful program, The Road to Perfect Health. This pledge event was produced by Maryland Public Television, with Brenda Watson in the studio. Pledge talent was Rhea Fikin and Carolyn Black-Sotir.

DR. WAYNE DYER: I CAN SEE CLEARLY NOW

Saturday 3/1 at 8am, Sunday 3/9 at 130pm, Thursday 3/13 at 830pm, Friday 3/14 at 230am, Saturday 3/15 at 12pm (3hr)

Dr. Wayne Dyer presents personal stories as well as various philosophical and poetic illustrations to explain that each of our lives is a tapestry composed of all of the choices we've made and will make. There are no wrong roads taken once we understand the forces propelling us towards our life's purpose.

SUZE ORMAN'S FINANCIAL SOLUTIONS FOR YOU

Saturday 3/1 at 1230pm, Thursday 3/6 at 8pm, Friday 3/7 at 2am, Saturday 3/8 at 1030am, Wednesday 3/12 at 10pm, Thursday 3/13 at 4am, Saturday 3/15 at 8am, Sunday 3/16 at 11am and 930pm (2hr)

We all have financial issues and problems. Suze Orman's latest special sharply focuses on her helping individual viewers "find financial solutions for you." As always, Suze's advice is based not just on numbers, but on a critical understanding of ourselves and our emotional needs. The special's central theme is that our financial decision-making should be guided by an understanding of "the goal of money." As Suze perceptively defines it: "The goal of money is to make you feel secure." Our financial solutions should work to fulfill that goal. In addition, Suze stresses the importance of making financial decisions that you feel comfortable with. Financial problems are caused when you do things with money that do not seem "right" to you, despite pressures and advice from others.

EASY YOGA: THE SECRET TO STRENGTH AND BALANCE WITH PEGGY CAPPY

Sunday 3/2 at 8am, Saturday 3/8 at 8am, Sunday 3/9 at 2am (60min)

HEALING ADD WITH DR. DANIEL AMEN, MD AND TANA AMEN, RN

Thursday 3/6 at 1030pm, Friday 3/7 at 430am, Sunday 3/9 at 8am, Sunday 3/16 at 130pm (90min)

ADD or ADHD is a national health crisis that continues to grow-yet it remains one of the most misunderstood and incorrectly treated illnesses today. Kids and adults are put on powerful stimulant medications in short office visits without any biological information, and the stories of these medications hurting children and adults are common and persistent. In this national public television program, psychiatrist Daniel Amen and his wife nurse Tana Amen take a completely new look at ADD and explain 7 unique types based on the extensive brain imaging work of the Amen Clinics on tens of thousands of ADD patients. Treating all people with ADD the same invites failure and frustration and can be a disaster, as the traditional treatments that make two of the types better can make the other 5 types worse. The show is divided into three parts. In Part One, the myths and misconceptions about ADD will be discussed as well as the hallmark ADD symptoms. In Part Two, the 7 different types of ADD will be described in detail. And, in Part Three Dr. and Mrs. Amen we'll give you a clear method for Healing ADD, including the best natural treatments. They are not opposed to medication, but think it's smart to start with lifestyle and natural treatments first.

30 DAYS TO A YOUNGER HEART WITH DR. STEVEN MASLEY

Sunday 3/16 at 8am (90min)

Did you know that it's possible to make your heart 10 years younger? Regardless of your body composition, genetics, or age...you can turn back time. And when you do...you will feel healthier, trimmer, fitter, sexier, mentally sharper and better than you have in a decade. Does it sound too good to be true? It isn't... Steven Masley, MD and his three simple steps have helped thousands of patients turn back the clock...and reverse the onset of aging and disease. He is a board-certified physician, nutritionist, longevity researcher and award-winning educator who is also a highly acclaimed chef, trained at the Four Seasons. In "30 Days to a Younger Heart", Dr. Masley shares the surprising news that Metabolic Syndrome, also known as pre-diabetes - not high cholesterol - is the number one cause of cardiovascular disease. Since the term metabolic syndrome is new to most, the doctor describes how easy it is to determine your risk, and why so many Americans have it. Dr. Masley also educates viewers about the dangers of invasive, often unnecessary cardiovascular procedures. His 3 step Heart Tune-Up program is a guide to making lifestyle changes that significantly reduce the likelihood of developing cardiovascular disease. He specifically discusses the impact food, nutrients and exercise have on making a measurable difference in the reduction of arterial plaque. Discover five new categories of heart-healing foods, learn how the amount of time you exercise isn't as important as you may think plus ensure you receive the five key nutrients many lack but are truly necessary for a younger heart. No matter how old you are, or how much you weigh or even the health battle you are facing, no one has to be on a one-way street to aging and disability. Patients' lives every day have been saved and transformed with this heart tune-up program that explores the three easy lifestyle corrections that can take 10 years off of your heart's age in just 30 Days.

Gwyneth Doland, NMiF Correspondent and UNM Journalism Professor

Trip Jennings, New Mexico in Depth

Rachel Sams, Albuquerque Business First

This week on New Mexico in Focus, correspondent Gwyneth Doland spends some time talking with James Burke, British broadcaster, science historian, author and television producer renowned for his PBS series “Connections” and “The Day the Universe Changed.” Burke was giving a lecture at UNM this fall, exploring the intriguing possibility that the future is no longer what it used to be, and he spoke with Doland about the challenges the future holds.

Gwyneth Doland also interviews John Zogby, founder of the Zogby Poll, about the millennial generation and his book, The First Globals: Understanding, Managing, and Unleashing Our Millennial Generation.

This week also features a special segment with Senator Martin Heinrich, taped when he visited our studio in December. He talks with NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick about a couple of his predictions for 2014.

And host Gene Grant and The Line Opinion Panel look ahead to 2014, with their predictions for the upcoming year.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we talk with investigative journalist Eric Schlosser. He exposed the dark side of food in America with “Fast Food Nation,” and now his newest book explores the country’s nuclear arsenal. “Command and Control: Nuclear Weapons, the Damascus Accident, and the Illusion of Safety” is a ground-breaking account of accidents and near misses. Schlosser reveals how the combination of human fallibility and technological complexity still poses a grave risk to mankind. In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with the author of a historical novel set in New Mexico during the Civil War and featuring historical figures such as Kit Carson and Apache leader Cochise. Steve Kohlhausen wrote “Where They Bury You” after stumbling upon a historical mystery about the provost marshal of Santa Fe, who was found with unusually large quantities of money in his saddlebags when he died under suspicious circumstances.

The Line Opinion Panel looks at the two competing budget proposals issued this week by Gov. Susana Martinez and the Legislative Finance Committee. The panel also discusses possible impacts on New Mexico from the legalization of recreational marijuana in Colorado.

H. Diane Snyder, Greater Albuquerque Medical Association

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's that time of year again. The New Mexico Legislature convenes Jan. 21st. So we talk with lawmakers and Hannah Skandera, Education Secretary Designate, about what might happen around education issues such as teacher evaluation policies, testing and class size. We also get an overall legislative preview from State Senators Tim Keller and Sue Wilson Beffort.

The Line opinion panel looks at the school shooting this week in Roswell. This evolving story of one student allegedly shooting two other students is raising many issues regarding reporting on such tragedies by the media, as well as bullying and gun restrictions. The Line also looks at the Children, Youth and Families Department, which has come under renewed scrutiny after the death of a nine-year-old boy. Will more resources and staff help this department protect children more effectively, or are there more fundamental problems within CYFD?

The Line also looks at the ongoing shortages of health care professionals and the latest developments with the New Mexico health insurance exchange. Shortages are expected to grow even more acute as the Affordable Care Act expands the number of people who can enroll in Medicaid and as more people sign up for insurance on the state exchange. Governor Susana Martinez is proposing several initiatives in her budget to boost the number of healthcare workers.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's a trip up to the Roundhouse to visit lawmakers in the thick of the legislative session. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senator William Burt and Representative Brian Egolf about the Governor's push to get legislators to give up capital outlay monies for major water projects.

Also featured this week is Dr. Rick Aster, head of the Department of Geosciences at Colorado State University. His lecture in Albuquerque last fall was called "The Future of Ice on Earth," and he spoke with NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid about the ongoing changes in the oceans and atmosphere that are driving remarkable changes in Earth's permafrost, glaciers, and icecaps, and how global changes affect New Mexico's climate. NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at economic toll of New Mexico's drought on farmers, and how the need for water from the Rio Grande is leading to a lawsuit by Texas against our state. The Line also looks at what some are calling an outbreak of “amendment fever” in the legislature, and examines one of those proposed amendments designed to increase the state’s minimum wage.

NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senators Mary Kay Papen (D-Las Cruces) and Michael Sanchez (D-Belen) and economist Vicente Feliciano on using money from Land Grant Permanent Fund for early childhood education.

Also featured this week, what does the condition of the urban core say about the heart and soul of a city? NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with a panel from the Heart of the City exhibition about building Albuquerque’s creative core and what that means for economic development. And we also talk with Kathleen Holscher, chair of Roman Catholic Studies at UNM, about her upcoming talk on Pope Francis.

NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the ongoing problems at the Children, Youth and Families Department and whether any legislative fixes will help the agency more effectively address child welfare in New Mexico. The group also looks at concerns by residents in Lamy over a proposed crude oil transfer station that many fear poses risks to water and other infrastructure.

It's the last leg of the legislative session, and New Mexico in Focus travels to the Roundhouse for more interviews with our state's lawmakers. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with lawmakers about the budget and education issues, including funding disagreements at the heart of the budget process and an effort to waive tuition costs for kids who age out of foster care with no family support.

Back in our studio, NMiF host Gene Grant talks with representatives of the 1st Annual STEM Festival that is taking place this Saturday in conjunction with Black History Month. The festival, hosted by Sandia National Labs, Intel Corp., and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others, promotes science, technology, engineering and/or math careers to students from K-12.

Then Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the budget that passed both the House and Senate and will now go to Governor Susana Martinez's desk. The group also looks at bills and amendments that met their demise during the session and tackle a rapid-fire round of other topics "on the clock."

This week we turn to a special all-journalist Line panel to evaluate the recent Legislative session and look at what passed, what failed, and what Governor Susana Martinez may do with her veto pen. Our panelists will discuss the Lottery Scholarship, hospital indigent care funding and how it may impact rural healthcare facilities, and the failure of a new gaming compact with the Navajo Nation. They will also explore how several bills may impact the state's economy.

The group will also delve into legislative topics "on the clock," including the outlook for the legislative elections later this year given how many lawmakers are not running again, the future of Amtrak's Southwest Chief route, and education issues in the budget.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks gun violence and mental illness with Jeffrey Swanson, a medical sociologist from Duke University. He delivered lectures this week through the IDEAS in Psychiatry program in the University of New Mexico Psychiatry Department about common misconceptions regarding mental illness and proposed federal and state-level policy initiatives to help decrease the risk of dangerous people accessing weapons.

This week's New Mexico in Focus celebrates International Women's Day (March 8) by talking to some of the winners of the Women in Technology awards, sponsored by the New Mexico Technology Council. NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid interviews winners Julianna Silva, the Albuquerque regional manager of WESST, Lisa Abeyta, founder of APPCityLife, and Kim Griego, a teacher at Cleveland High and a technology leader. They are joined by Lisa Adkins, chair of the New Mexico Technology Council. Furhana Afrid also sits down with an entrepreneur from Nigeria to talk about her work getting teenage girls in her country to pursue careers in science and technology. After learning about IGNITE (Inspiring Girls Now in Technology Evolution) during a 2009 U.S.A. trip, Chichi Okafor returned to her country to start the successful IGNITE Nigeria. She was brought here by the Albuquerque Council for International Visitors to share her story.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks with Nina Simons about the transformative potential of women's leadership. Nina Simons, an award winning social entrepreneur, writes and teaches about leadership, diversity, and restoring the feminine, and is co-founder of Bioneers. Among the organization's several programs is the radio series, Bioneers: Revolution from the Heart of Nature, featuring interviews and presentations from the Bioneers Conference archives.

And a special all-journalist Line opinion panel talks about the media landscape in New Mexico. Albuquerque Business First rolled out a re-launch recently, and the dissipation of traditional revenue models has prompted many media outlets to re-think how they reach readers and viewers.

This week, New Mexico in Focus looks at a new monthly series, “Water Crisis in the West: Thinking Like a Watershed,” that kicked off in February and will run through June at the KiMo Theater in downtown Albuquerque. We talk with the series organizer, Jack Loeffler, aural historian and author of “Thinking Like a Watershed,” and author John Nichols, whose novels often include storylines around water issues, about the series and what the future looks like for water in New Mexico.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick sits down with author TaraShea Nesbit, whose new novel, “The Wives of Los Alamos,” explores the lives of the women who accompanied their scientist husbands to “The Hill,” the nickname for the secret city where the first atomic bomb was developed during World War II. Hampered by a lack of infrastructure and housing, and left in the dark about what their husbands were actually doing, these women bring a unique perspective to a crucial period of history, as well as voices that have been largely absent in that narrative.

The Line opinion panel looks at legislation signed and vetoed by Governor Susana Martinez, including the state budget. Martinez vetoed about $27 million worth of proposed spending but included pay raises for many state employees and entry-level teachers, as well as money for water projects and more funds for some early childhood programs.

The group also delves into the battle to land the giant $5 billion Tesla Motors factory here that would build the electric car’s batteries, a competition that pits New Mexico against three other states for a projected 6,500 jobs. And the panel also looks at the latest developments at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Carlsbad since a radiation leak was detected there last month.

This week we present a companion piece to the national program “The Story of the Jews,” which airs beginning March 25th. NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick focuses on the experience of conversos or “crypto-Jews” in New Mexico. In 1492, the Edict of Expulsion launched the diaspora of Sephardic Jews from Spain. Many found their way to the New World, including New Mexico, although they could not openly practice their religion. Dr. Frances Levine, director of the New Mexico History Museum, and historian Roger Martínez-Dávila flesh out the history of these people and their role in New Mexico heritage and identity. Sonya Loya, an artisan and educator who has recovered her family’s secret Jewish past, discusses her personal journey and conversion to Judaism. We also feature an interview with Dr. Isabelle Medina Sandoval, poet and descendant of crypto-Jews.

NMiF also highlights Sunshine Week, a time to celebrate the laws that give citizens access to their government and the important work of journalists. Correspondent Gwyneth Doland speaks with Susan Boe, the new executive director of the Foundation for Open Government, about what is happening around the state regarding public records and open meetings laws.

We will also look at the push to get more young people enrolled in the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange. March 31st marks the end of the enrollment period under the Affordable Care Act and enrollment levels in New Mexico are lagging. Gwyneth Doland talks to Dr. Martin Hickey of the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange, insurance agent James Tome and Beverly Kloeppe, director of Student Health and Counseling at the University of New Mexico about the challenges in getting young people to enroll. This week on New Mexico in Focus, Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with Valerie Plame, the former agent with the Central Intelligence Agency who now lives in Santa Fe and has published her first spy thriller, “Blowback.” In 2003, the late Washington Post journalist Robert Novak wrote a column, based on information obtained from Richard Armitage at the U.S. State Department, in which he exposed Plame's covert identity, effectively ending her career. The column came one week after a New York Times opinion piece by Plame's husband, Joseph Wilson, which accused the Bush Administration of manipulating intelligence to make a case for invading Iraq. The scandal led to a criminal investigation. No one was charged for the leak itself, but Lewis "Scooter" Libby, chief of staff to the vice president, was convicted of lying to investigators. His prison sentence was ultimately commuted by President George W. Bush. Plame discusses her new career as a spy novelist, and her articles critiquing the National Security Administration's surveillance practices.

The Line opinion panel discusses the growing furor over the shooting of a mentally ill homeless man in the Sandia Mountains foothills by members of the Albuquerque Police Department over a week ago. The video from an officer's helmet camera of the incident has spread across the country and there are calls to ramp up reform efforts at APD, which is already under investigation by the Department of Justice. Mayor Richard J. Berry chastised his new police chief, Gordon Eden, for stating the shooting was justified. Eden has since backtracked on that statement, but Berry wants DOJ, and possibly the Las Cruces Police Department, to investigate this latest shooting.

The Line also looks at enrollment in Medicaid and the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange under the Affordable Care Act. March 31st is the deadline for buying a plan on the exchange and state officials are hoping to get at least 40,000 New Mexicans to step up. Only about eight percent of those eligible to sign up have done so, according to a recent study. But 103,000 have enrolled in Medicaid since the state expanded who qualifies for that program. Some worry this will create a lopsided system of health coverage in the state.

We all have financial issues and problems. Suze Orman's latest special sharply focuses on her helping individual viewers "find financial solutions for you." As always, Suze's advice is based not just on numbers, but on a critical understanding of ourselves and our emotional needs. The special's central theme is that our financial decision-making should be guided by an understanding of "the goal of money." As Suze perceptively defines it:

"The goal of money is to make you feel secure." Our financial solutions should work to fulfill that goal. In addition, Suze stresses the importance of making financial decisions that you feel comfortable with. Financial problems are caused when you do things with money that do not seem "right" to you, despite pressures and advice from others.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, correspondent Gwyneth Doland spends some time talking with James Burke, British broadcaster, science historian, author and television producer renowned for his PBS series "Connections" and "The Day the Universe Changed." Burke was giving a lecture at UNM this fall, exploring the intriguing possibility that the future is no longer what it used to be, and he spoke with Doland about the challenges the future holds.

Gwyneth Doland also interviews John Zogby, founder of the Zogby Poll, about the millennial generation and his book, The First Globals: Understanding, Managing, and Unleashing Our Millennial Generation.

This week also features a special segment with Senator Martin Heinrich, taped when he visited our studio in December. He talks with NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick about a couple of his predictions for 2014.

And host Gene Grant and The Line Opinion Panel look ahead to 2014, with their predictions for the upcoming year.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we talk with investigative journalist Eric Schlosser. He exposed the dark side of food in America with "Fast Food Nation," and now his newest book explores the country's nuclear arsenal. "Command and Control: Nuclear Weapons, the Damascus Accident, and the Illusion of Safety" is a ground-breaking account of accidents and near misses. Schlosser reveals how the combination of human fallibility and technological complexity still poses a grave risk to mankind.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with the author of a historical novel set in New Mexico during the Civil War and featuring historical figures such as Kit Carson and Apache leader Cochise. Steve Kohlhausen wrote "Where They Bury You" after stumbling upon a historical mystery about the provost marshal of Santa Fe, who was found with unusually large quantities of money in his saddlebags when he died under suspicious circumstances.

The Line Opinion Panel looks at the two competing budget proposals issued this week by Gov. Susana Martinez and the Legislative Finance Committee. The panel also discusses possible impacts on New Mexico from the legalization of recreational marijuana in Colorado.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's that time of year again. The New Mexico Legislature convenes Jan. 21st. So we talk with lawmakers and Hannah Skandera, Education Secretary Designate, about what might happen around education issues such as teacher evaluation policies, testing and class size. We also get an overall legislative preview from State Senators Tim Keller and Sue Wilson Beffort.

The Line opinion panel looks at the school shooting this week in Roswell. This evolving story of one student allegedly shooting two other students is raising many issues regarding reporting on such tragedies by the media, as well as bullying and gun restrictions. The Line also looks at the Children, Youth and Families Department, which has come under renewed scrutiny after the death of a nine-year-old boy. Will more resources and staff help this department protect children more effectively, or are there more fundamental problems within CYFD?

The Line also looks at the ongoing shortages of health care professionals and the latest developments with the New Mexico health insurance exchange. Shortages are expected to grow even more acute as the Affordable Care Act expands the number of people who can enroll in Medicaid and as more people sign up for insurance on the state exchange. Governor Susana Martinez is proposing several initiatives in her budget to boost the number of healthcare workers.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's a trip up to the Roundhouse to visit lawmakers in the thick of the legislative session. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senator William Burt and Representative Brian Egolf about the Governor's push to get legislators to give up capital outlay monies for major water projects.

Also featured this week is Dr. Rick Aster, head of the Department of Geosciences at Colorado State University. His lecture in Albuquerque last fall was called "The Future of Ice on Earth," and he spoke with NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid about the ongoing changes in the oceans and atmosphere that are driving remarkable changes in Earth's permafrost, glaciers, and icecaps, and how global changes affect New Mexico's climate. NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at economic toll of New Mexico's drought on farmers, and how the need for water from the Rio Grande is leading to a lawsuit by Texas against our state. The Line also looks at what some are calling an outbreak of "amendment fever" in the legislature, and examines one of those proposed amendments designed to increase the state's minimum wage.

It's the last leg of the legislative session, and New Mexico in Focus travels to the Roundhouse for more interviews with our state's lawmakers. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with lawmakers about the budget and education issues, including funding disagreements at the heart of the budget process and an effort to waive tuition costs for kids who age out of foster care with no family support.

Back in our studio, NMiF host Gene Grant talks with representatives of the 1st Annual STEM Festival that is taking place this Saturday in conjunction with Black History Month. The festival, hosted by Sandia National Labs, Intel Corp., and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others, promotes science, technology, engineering and/or math careers to students from K-12.

Then Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the budget that passed both the House and Senate and will now go to Governor Susana Martinez's desk. The group also looks at bills and amendments that met their demise during the session and tackle a rapid-fire round of other topics "on the clock."

Our panelists will discuss the Lottery Scholarship, hospital indigent care funding and how it may impact rural healthcare facilities, and the failure of a new gaming compact with the Navajo Nation. They will also explore how several bills may impact the state's economy.

The group will also delve into legislative topics "on the clock," including the outlook for the legislative elections later this year given how many lawmakers are not running again, the future of Amtrak's Southwest Chief route, and education issues in the budget.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks gun violence and mental illness with Jeffrey Swanson, a medical sociologist from Duke University. He delivered lectures this week through the IDEAS in Psychiatry program in the University of New Mexico Psychiatry Department about common misconceptions regarding mental illness and proposed federal and state-level policy initiatives to help decrease the risk of dangerous people accessing weapons.

This week's New Mexico in Focus celebrates International Women's Day (March 8) by talking to some of the winners of the Women in Technology awards, sponsored by the New Mexico Technology Council. NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid interviews winners Julianna Silva, the Albuquerque regional manager of WESST, Lisa Abeyta, founder of APPCityLife, and Kim Griego, a teacher at Cleveland High and a technology leader. They are joined by Lisa Adkins, chair of the New Mexico Technology Council. Furhana Afrid also sits down with an entrepreneur from Nigeria to talk about her work getting teenage girls in her country to pursue careers in science and technology. After learning about IGNITE (Inspiring Girls Now in Technology Evolution) during a 2009 U.S.A. trip, Chichi Okafor returned to her country to start the successful IGNITE Nigeria. She was brought here by the Albuquerque Council for International Visitors to share her story.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks with Nina Simons about the transformative potential of women's leadership. Nina Simons, an award winning social entrepreneur, writes and teaches about leadership, diversity, and restoring the feminine, and is co-founder of Bioneers. Among the organization's several programs is the radio series, Bioneers: Revolution from the Heart of Nature, featuring interviews and presentations from the Bioneers Conference archives.

And a special all-journalist Line opinion panel talks about the media landscape in New Mexico. Albuquerque Business First rolled out a re-launch recently, and the dissipation of traditional revenue models has prompted many media outlets to re-think how they reach readers and viewers.

This week, New Mexico in Focus looks at a new monthly series, “Water Crisis in the West: Thinking Like a Watershed,” that kicked off in February and will run through June at the KiMo Theater in downtown Albuquerque. We talk with the series organizer, Jack Loeffler, aural historian and author of “Thinking Like a Watershed,” and author John Nichols, whose novels often include storylines around water issues, about the series and what the future looks like for water in New Mexico.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick sits down with author TaraShea Nesbit, whose new novel, “The Wives of Los Alamos,” explores the lives of the women who accompanied their scientist husbands to “The Hill,” the nickname for the secret city where the first atomic bomb was developed during World War II. Hampered by a lack of infrastructure and housing, and left in the dark about what their husbands were actually doing, these women bring a unique perspective to a crucial period of history, as well as voices that have been largely absent in that narrative.

The Line opinion panel looks at legislation signed and vetoed by Governor Susana Martinez, including the state budget. Martinez vetoed about $27 million worth of proposed spending but included pay raises for many state employees and entry-level teachers, as well as money for water projects and more funds for some early childhood programs.

The group also delves into the battle to land the giant $5 billion Tesla Motors factory here that would build the electric car’s batteries, a competition that pits New Mexico against three other states for a projected 6,500 jobs. And the panel also looks at the latest developments at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Carlsbad since a radiation leak was detected there last month.

This week we present a companion piece to the national program “The Story of the Jews,” which airs beginning March 25th. NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick focuses on the experience of conversos or “crypto-Jews” in New Mexico. In 1492, the Edict of Expulsion launched the diaspora of Sephardic Jews from Spain. Many found their way to the New World, including New Mexico, although they could not openly practice their religion. Dr. Frances Levine, director of the New Mexico History Museum, and historian Roger Martínez-Dávila flesh out the history of these people and their role in New Mexico heritage and identity. Sonya Loya, an artisan and educator who has recovered her family’s secret Jewish past, discusses her personal journey and conversion to Judaism. We also feature an interview with Dr. Isabelle Medina Sandoval, poet and descendant of crypto-Jews.

NMiF also highlights Sunshine Week, a time to celebrate the laws that give citizens access to their government and the important work of journalists. Correspondent Gwyneth Doland speaks with Susan Boe, the new executive director of the Foundation for Open Government, about what is happening around the state regarding public records and open meetings laws.

We will also look at the push to get more young people enrolled in the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange. March 31st marks the end of the enrollment period under the Affordable Care Act and enrollment levels in New Mexico are lagging. Gwyneth Doland talks to Dr. Martin Hickey of the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange, insurance agent James Tome and Beverly Kloeppel, director of Student Health and Counseling at the University of New Mexico about the challenges in getting young people to enroll. This week on New Mexico in Focus, Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with Valerie Plame, the former agent with the Central Intelligence Agency who now lives in Santa Fe and has published her first spy thriller, “Blowback.” In 2003, the late Washington Post journalist Robert Novak wrote a column, based on information obtained from Richard Armitage at the U.S. State Department, in which he exposed Plame’s covert identity, effectively ending her career. The column came one week after a New York Times opinion piece by Plame’s husband, Joseph Wilson, which accused the Bush Administration of manipulating intelligence to make a case for invading Iraq. The scandal led to a criminal investigation. No one was charged for the leak itself, but Lewis “Scooter” Libby, chief of staff to the vice president, was convicted of lying to investigators. His prison sentence was ultimately commuted by President George W. Bush. Plame discusses her new career as a spy novelist, and her articles critiquing the National Security Administration’s surveillance practices.

The Line opinion panel discusses the growing furor over the shooting of a mentally ill homeless man in the Sandia Mountains foothills by members of the Albuquerque Police Department over a week ago. The video from an officer’s helmet camera of the incident has spread across the country and there are calls to ramp up reform efforts at APD, which is already under investigation by the Department of Justice. Mayor Richard J. Berry chastised his new police chief, Gordon Eden, for stating the shooting was justified. Eden has since backtracked on that statement, but Berry wants DOJ, and possibly the Las Cruces Police Department, to investigate this latest shooting.

The Line also looks at enrollment in Medicaid and the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange under the Affordable Care Act. March 31st is the deadline for buying a plan on the exchange and state officials are hoping to get at least 40,000 New Mexicans to step up. Only about eight percent of those eligible to sign up have done so, according to a recent study. But 103,000 have enrolled in Medicaid since the state expanded who qualifies for that program. Some worry this will create a lopsided system of health coverage in the state.

Native Report is an entertaining, informative magazine style series that celebrates Native American culture and heritage, listens to tribal elders, and talks to some of the most powerful and influential leaders of Indian Country today. The series is attractive to both a general and tribal audience, promoting understanding between cultures, tribes and reservations...offering a venue for the stories of challenge and success coming from Minnesota's tribal communities... and educating public television viewers about the culture and traditions of native citizens. Native Report is hosted by Stacey Thunder, an enrolled member of the Red Lake Nation, and co-hosted by Tadd Johnson who is an enrolled member of the Bois Forte Band of Chippewa. The Native Report season consists of fifteen episodes. Another fifteen episodes are planned next year which will include stories from Minnesota and Wisconsin native communities.

INDEPENDENT LENS #1416

THE INVISIBLE WAR

Monday 1/6 at 9pm, Tuesday 1/7 at 3am (30min)

This documentary investigates one of America's most shameful and best kept secrets: the epidemic of rape within the U.S. military. The film paints a startling picture of the extent of the problem -- today, a female soldier in combat zones is more likely to be raped by a fellow soldier than killed by enemy fire. The Department of Defense estimates there were a staggering 22,800 violent sex crimes in the military in 2011. Among all active-duty female soldiers, 20 percent are sexually assaulted. Female soldiers aged 18 to 21 accounted for more than half of the victims.

INDEPENDENT LENS #1510

This week on New Mexico in Focus, correspondent Gwyneth Doland spends some time talking with James Burke, British broadcaster, science historian, author and television producer renowned for his PBS series “Connections” and “The Day the Universe Changed.” Burke was giving a lecture at UNM this fall, exploring the intriguing possibility that the future is no longer what it used to be, and he spoke with Doland about the challenges the future holds.

Gwyneth Doland also interviews John Zogby, founder of the Zogby Poll, about the millennial generation and his book, The First Globals: Understanding, Managing, and Unleashing Our Millennial Generation.

This week also features a special segment with Senator Martin Heinrich, taped when he visited our studio in December. He talks with NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick about a couple of his predictions for 2014.

And host Gene Grant and The Line Opinion Panel look ahead to 2014, with their predictions for the upcoming year.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we talk with investigative journalist Eric Schlosser. He exposed the dark side of food in America with “Fast Food Nation,” and now his newest book explores the country’s nuclear arsenal. “Command and Control: Nuclear Weapons, the Damascus Accident, and the Illusion of Safety” is a ground-breaking account of accidents and near misses. Schlosser reveals how the combination of human fallibility and technological complexity still poses a grave risk to mankind.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with the author of a historical novel set in New Mexico during the Civil War and featuring historical figures such as Kit Carson and Apache leader Cochise. Steve Kohlhagen wrote “Where They Bury You” after stumbling upon a historical mystery about the provost marshal of Santa Fe, who was found with unusually large quantities of money in his saddlebags when he died under suspicious circumstances.

The Line Opinion Panel looks at the two competing budget proposals issued this week by Gov. Susana Martinez and the Legislative Finance Committee. The panel also discusses possible impacts on New Mexico from the legalization of recreational marijuana in Colorado.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it’s that time of year again. The New Mexico Legislature convenes Jan. 21st. So we talk with lawmakers and Hannah Skandera, Education Secretary Designate, about what might happen around education issues such as teacher evaluation policies, testing and class size. We also get an overall legislative preview from State Senators Tim Keller and Sue Wilson Beffort.

The Line opinion panel looks at the school shooting this week in Roswell. This evolving story of one student allegedly shooting two other students is raising many issues regarding reporting on such tragedies by the media, as well as bullying and gun restrictions. The Line also looks at the Children, Youth and Families Department, which has come under renewed scrutiny after the death of a nine-year-old boy. Will more resources and staff help this department protect children more effectively, or are there more fundamental problems within CYFD?

The Line also looks at the ongoing shortages of health care professionals and the latest developments with the New Mexico health insurance exchange. Shortages are expected to grow even more acute as the Affordable Care Act expands the number of people who can enroll in Medicaid and as more people sign up for insurance on the state exchange. Governor Susana Martinez is proposing several initiatives in her budget to boost the number of healthcare workers.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's a trip up to the Roundhouse to visit lawmakers in the thick of the legislative session. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senator William Burt and Representative Brian Egolf about the Governor's push to get legislators to give up capital outlay monies for major water projects.

Also featured this week is Dr. Rick Aster, head of the Department of Geosciences at Colorado State University. His lecture in Albuquerque last fall was called "The Future of Ice on Earth," and he spoke with NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid about the ongoing changes in the oceans and atmosphere that are driving remarkable changes in Earth's permafrost, glaciers, and icecaps, and how global changes affect New Mexico's climate. NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at economic toll of New Mexico's drought on farmers, and how the need for water from the Rio Grande is leading to a lawsuit by Texas against our state. The Line also looks at what some are calling an outbreak of "amendment fever" in the legislature, and examines one of those proposed amendments designed to increase the state's minimum wage.

Also featured this week, what does the condition of the urban core say about the heart and soul of a city? NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with a panel from the Heart of the City exhibition about building Albuquerque’s creative core and what that means for economic development. And we also talk with Kathleen Holscher, chair of Roman Catholic Studies at UNM, about her upcoming talk on Pope Francis. NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the ongoing problems at the Children, Youth and Families Department and whether any legislative fixes will help the agency more effectively address child welfare in New Mexico. It's the last leg of the legislative session, and New Mexico in Focus travels to the Roundhouse for more interviews with our state's lawmakers. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with lawmakers about the budget and education issues, including funding disagreements at the heart of the budget process and an effort to waive tuition costs for kids who age out of foster care with no family support.

Back in our studio, NMiF host Gene Grant talks with representatives of the 1st Annual STEM Festival that is taking place this Saturday in conjunction with Black History Month. The festival, hosted by Sandia National Labs, Intel Corp., and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others, promotes science, technology, engineering and/or math careers to students from K-12.

Then Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the budget that passed both the House and Senate and will now go to Governor Susana Martinez's desk. The group also looks at bills and amendments that met their demise during the session and tackle a rapid-fire round of other topics "on the clock."

This week we turn to a special all-journalist Line panel to evaluate the recent Legislative session and look at what passed, what failed, and what Governor Susana Martinez may do with her veto pen. Our panelists will discuss the Lottery Scholarship, hospital indigent care funding and how it may impact rural healthcare facilities, and the failure of a new gaming compact with the Navajo Nation. They will also explore how several bills may impact the state's economy.

The group will also delve into legislative topics "on the clock," including the outlook for the legislative elections later this year given how many lawmakers are not running again, the future of Amtrak's Southwest Chief route, and education issues in the budget.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks gun violence and mental illness with Jeffrey Swanson, a medical sociologist from Duke University. He delivered lectures this week through the IDEAS in Psychiatry program in the University of New Mexico Psychiatry Department about common misconceptions regarding mental illness and proposed federal and state-level policy initiatives to help decrease the risk of dangerous people accessing weapons.

This week's New Mexico in Focus celebrates International Women's Day (March 8) by talking to some of the winners of the Women in Technology awards, sponsored by the New Mexico Technology Council. NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid interviews winners Julianna Silva, the Albuquerque regional manager of WESST, Lisa Abeyta, founder of APPCityLife, and Kim Griego, a teacher at Cleveland High and a technology leader. They are joined by Lisa Adkins, chair of the New Mexico Technology Council. Furhana Afrid also sits down with an entrepreneur from Nigeria to talk about her work getting teenage girls in her country to pursue careers in science and technology. After learning about IGNITE (Inspiring Girls Now in Technology Evolution) during a 2009 U.S.A. trip, Chichi Okafor returned to her country to start the successful IGNITE Nigeria. She was brought here by the Albuquerque Council for International Visitors to share her story.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks with Nina Simons about the transformative potential of women's leadership. Nina Simons, an award winning social entrepreneur, writes and teaches about leadership, diversity, and restoring the feminine, and is co-founder of Bioneers. Among the organization's several programs is the radio series, Bioneers: Revolution from the Heart of Nature, featuring interviews and presentations from the Bioneers Conference archives.

And a special all-journalist Line opinion panel talks about the media landscape in New Mexico. Albuquerque Business First rolled out a re-launch recently, and the dissipation of traditional revenue models has prompted many media outlets to re-think how they reach readers and viewers.

This week, New Mexico in Focus looks at a new monthly series, “Water Crisis in the West: Thinking Like a Watershed,” that kicked off in February and will run through June at the KiMo Theater in downtown Albuquerque. We talk with the series organizer, Jack Loeffler, aural historian and author of “Thinking Like a Watershed,” and author John Nichols, whose novels often include storylines around water issues, about the series and what the future looks like for water in New Mexico.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick sits down with author TaraShea Nesbit, whose new novel, “The Wives of Los Alamos,” explores the lives of the women who accompanied their scientist husbands to “The Hill,” the nickname for the secret city where the first atomic bomb was developed during World War II. Hampered by a lack of infrastructure and housing, and left in the dark about what their husbands were actually doing, these women bring a unique perspective to a crucial period of history, as well as voices that have been largely absent in that narrative.

The Line opinion panel looks at legislation signed and vetoed by Governor Susana Martinez, including the state budget. Martinez vetoed about $27 million worth of proposed spending but included pay raises for many state employees and entry-level teachers, as well as money for water projects and more funds for some early childhood programs.

The group also delves into the battle to land the giant $5 billion Tesla Motors factory here that would build the electric car's batteries, a competition that pits New Mexico against three other states for a projected 6,500 jobs. And the panel also looks at the latest developments at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Carlsbad since a radiation leak was detected there last month.

James Tome, Agency Vice President, HBW Insurance & Financial Services Inc.

This week we present a companion piece to the national program "The Story of the Jews," which airs beginning March 25th. NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick focuses on the experience of conversos or "crypto-Jews" in New Mexico. In 1492, the Edict of Expulsion launched the diaspora of Sephardic Jews from Spain. Many found their way to the New World, including New Mexico, although they could not openly practice their religion. Dr. Frances Levine, director of the New Mexico History Museum, and historian Roger Martínez-Dávila flesh out the history of these people and their role in New Mexico heritage and identity. Sonya Loya, an artisan and educator who has recovered her family's secret Jewish past, discusses her personal journey and conversion to Judaism. We also feature an interview with Dr. Isabelle Medina Sandoval, poet and descendant of crypto-Jews.

NMiF also highlights Sunshine Week, a time to celebrate the laws that give citizens access to their government and the important work of journalists. Correspondent Gwyneth Doland speaks with Susan Boe, the new executive director of the Foundation for Open Government, about what is happening around the state regarding public records and open meetings laws.

We will also look at the push to get more young people enrolled in the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange. March 31st marks the end of the enrollment period under the Affordable Care Act and enrollment levels in New Mexico are lagging. Gwyneth Doland talks to Dr. Martin Hickey of the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange, insurance agent James Tome and Beverly Kloeppel, director of Student Health and Counseling at the University of New Mexico about the challenges in getting young people to enroll. This week on New Mexico in Focus, Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with Valerie Plame, the former agent with the Central Intelligence Agency who now lives in Santa Fe and has published her first spy thriller, "Blowback." In 2003, the late Washington Post journalist Robert Novak wrote a column, based on information obtained from Richard Armitage at the U.S. State Department, in which he exposed Plame's covert identity, effectively ending her career. The column came one week after a New York Times opinion piece by Plame's husband, Joseph Wilson, which accused the Bush Administration of manipulating intelligence to make a case for invading Iraq. The scandal led to a criminal investigation. No one was charged for the leak itself, but Lewis "Scooter" Libby, chief of staff to the vice president, was convicted of lying to investigators. His prison sentence was ultimately commuted by President George W. Bush. Plame discusses her new career as a spy novelist, and her articles critiquing the National Security Administration's surveillance practices.

The Line opinion panel discusses the growing furor over the shooting of a mentally ill homeless man in the Sandia Mountains foothills by members of the Albuquerque Police Department over a week ago. The video from an officer's helmet camera of the incident has spread across the country and there are calls to ramp up reform efforts at APD, which is already under investigation by the Department of Justice. Mayor Richard J. Berry chastised his new police chief, Gordon Eden, for stating the shooting was justified. Eden has since backtracked on that statement, but Berry wants DOJ, and possibly the Las Cruces Police Department, to investigate this latest shooting.

The Line also looks at enrollment in Medicaid and the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange under the Affordable Care Act. March 31st is the deadline for buying a plan on the exchange and state officials are hoping to get at least 40,000 New Mexicans to step up. Only about eight percent of those eligible to sign up have done so, according to a recent study. But 103,000 have enrolled in Medicaid since the state expanded who qualifies for that program. Some worry this will create a lopsided system of health coverage in the state.

ALL OF ME: A STORY OF LOVE, LOSS, AND LAST RESORTS

Monday 3/24 at 9pm and Tuesday 3/25 at 3am (60min)

The "Girls" have been friends -- and morbidly obese -- for years. But now, having weight-loss surgery is about to upset everything they thought they knew about health, happiness, friendship and love.

HEALING ADD WITH DR. DANIEL AMEN, MD AND TANA AMEN, RN

Thursday 3/6 at 1030pm, Friday 3/7 at 430am, Sunday 3/9 at 8am, Sunday 3/16 at 130pm (90min)

ADD or ADHD is a national health crisis that continues to grow-yet it remains one of the most misunderstood and incorrectly treated illnesses today. Kids and adults are put on powerful stimulant medications in short office visits without any biological information, and the stories of these medications hurting children and adults are common and persistent. In this national public television program, psychiatrist Daniel Amen and his wife nurse Tana Amen take a completely new look at ADD and explain 7 unique types based on the extensive brain imaging work of the Amen Clinics on tens of thousands of ADD patients. Treating all people with ADD the same invites failure and frustration and can be a disaster, as the traditional treatments that make two of the types better can make the other 5 types worse. The show is divided into three parts. In Part One, the myths and misconceptions about ADD will be discussed as well as the hallmark ADD symptoms. In Part Two, the 7 different types of ADD will be described in detail. And, in Part Three Dr. and Mrs. Amen we'll give you a clear method for Healing ADD, including the best natural treatments. They are not opposed to medication, but think it's smart to start with lifestyle and natural treatments first.

SUZE ORMAN'S FINANCIAL SOLUTIONS FOR YOU

Saturday 3/1 at 1230pm, Thursday 3/6 at 8pm, Friday 3/7 at 2am, Saturday 3/8 at 1030am, Wednesday 3/12 at 10pm, Thursday 3/13 at 4am, Saturday 3/15 at 8am, Sunday 3/16 at 11am and 930pm (2hr)

We all have financial issues and problems. Suze Orman's latest special sharply focuses on her helping individual viewers "find financial solutions for you." As always, Suze's advice is based not just on numbers, but on a critical understanding of ourselves and our emotional needs. The special's central theme is that our financial decision-making should be guided by an understanding of "the goal of money." As Suze perceptively defines it: "The goal of money is to make you feel secure." Our financial solutions should work to fulfill that goal. In addition, Suze stresses the importance of making financial decisions that you feel comfortable with. Financial problems are caused when you do things with money that do not seem "right" to you, despite pressures and advice from others.

DISSED-RESPECT: THE IMPACT OF BULLYING

Friday 1/31 at 930pm and 2/1 at 330am (3 0min)

DISSED-RESPECT: The Impact of Bullying encourages dialogue about the need to reduce the high-risk behavior of bullying. It reveals the relationship between bullying and dysfunctional aspects of diversity, as well as increases the positive development of respect in students. The program combines role-playing scenes with candid interviews of students and authorities in the field. In addition it employs an alternative approach utilizing poetry, rap and music to appeal to the sensibilities of today's students.

This week on New Mexico in Focus, correspondent Gwyneth Doland spends some time talking with James Burke, British broadcaster, science historian, author and television producer renowned for his PBS series “Connections” and “The Day the Universe Changed.” Burke was giving a lecture at UNM this fall, exploring the intriguing possibility that the future is no longer what it used to be, and he spoke with Doland about the challenges the future holds.

Gwyneth Doland also interviews John Zogby, founder of the Zogby Poll, about the millennial generation and his book, The First Globals: Understanding, Managing, and Unleashing Our Millennial Generation.

This week also features a special segment with Senator Martin Heinrich, taped when he visited our studio in December. He talks with NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick about a couple of his predictions for 2014.

And host Gene Grant and The Line Opinion Panel look ahead to 2014, with their predictions for the upcoming year.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we talk with investigative journalist Eric Schlosser. He exposed the dark side of food in America with “Fast Food Nation,” and now his newest book explores the country’s nuclear arsenal. “Command and Control: Nuclear Weapons, the Damascus Accident, and the Illusion of Safety” is a ground-breaking account of accidents and near misses. Schlosser reveals how the combination of human fallibility and technological complexity still poses a grave risk to mankind. In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with the author of a historical novel set in New Mexico during the Civil War and featuring historical figures such as Kit Carson and Apache leader Cochise. Steve Kohlhausen wrote “Where They Bury You” after stumbling upon a historical mystery about the provost marshal of Santa Fe, who was found with unusually large quantities of money in his saddlebags when he died under suspicious circumstances.

The Line Opinion Panel looks at the two competing budget proposals issued this week by Gov. Susana Martinez and the Legislative Finance Committee. The panel also discusses possible impacts on New Mexico from the legalization of recreational marijuana in Colorado.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's that time of year again. The New Mexico Legislature convenes Jan. 21st. So we talk with lawmakers and Hannah Skandera, Education Secretary Designate, about what might happen around education issues such as teacher evaluation policies, testing and class size. We also get an overall legislative preview from State Senators Tim Keller and Sue Wilson Beffort.

The Line opinion panel looks at the school shooting this week in Roswell. This evolving story of one student allegedly shooting two other students is raising many issues regarding reporting on such tragedies by the media, as well as bullying and gun restrictions. The Line also looks at the Children, Youth and Families Department, which has come under renewed scrutiny after the death of a nine-year-old boy. Will more resources and staff help this department protect children more effectively, or are there more fundamental problems within CYFD?

The Line also looks at the ongoing shortages of health care professionals and the latest developments with the New Mexico health insurance exchange. Shortages are expected to grow even more acute as the Affordable Care Act expands the number of people who can enroll in Medicaid and as more people sign up for insurance on the state exchange. Governor Susana Martinez is proposing several initiatives in her budget to boost the number of healthcare workers.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, it's a trip up to the Roundhouse to visit lawmakers in the thick of the legislative session. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senator William Burt and Representative Brian Egolf about the Governor's push to get legislators to give up capital outlay monies for major water projects.

Also featured this week is Dr. Rick Aster, head of the Department of Geosciences at Colorado State University. His lecture in Albuquerque last fall was called "The Future of Ice on Earth," and he spoke with NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid about the ongoing changes in the oceans and atmosphere that are driving remarkable changes in Earth's permafrost, glaciers, and icecaps, and how global changes affect New Mexico's climate. NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at economic toll of New Mexico's drought on farmers, and how the need for water from the Rio Grande is leading to a lawsuit by Texas against our state. The Line also looks at what some are calling an outbreak of “amendment fever” in the legislature, and examines one of those proposed amendments designed to increase the state’s minimum wage.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we take another look at the goings on at the Roundhouse. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senators Mary Kay Papen (D-Las Cruces) and Michael Sanchez (D-Belen) and economist Vicente Feliciano on using money from Land Grant Permanent Fund for early childhood education.

Also featured this week, what does the condition of the urban core say about the heart and soul of a city? NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with a panel from the Heart of the City exhibition about building Albuquerque’s creative core and what that means for economic development. And we also talk with Kathleen Holscher, chair of Roman Catholic Studies at UNM, about her upcoming talk on Pope Francis.

NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the ongoing problems at the Children, Youth and Families Department and whether any legislative fixes will help the agency more effectively address child welfare in New Mexico. The group also looks at concerns by residents in Lamy over a proposed crude oil transfer station that many fear poses risks to water and other infrastructure.

This week, on New Mexico in Focus, we feature another trip to Santa Fe's Capitol Building as NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with Senators Stuart Ingle, Mary Kay Papen and Michael Sanchez and Representative Jim Smith on funding the financially troubled Lottery Scholarship. She also talks with Senators John Ryan and Richard Martinez and Representative Gail Chasey about constitutional amendments, of which there are many more than usual in this legislative session.

Also up this week is a discussion on a measure introduced by the Albuquerque Bernalillo County Water Utility Authority to start adding fluoride to drinking water again after the city stopped the practice in 2011. Gwyneth Doland talks with a County Commissioner and a dentist on the pros and cons of water fluoridation.

NMiF host Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the Senate Rules committee's hearing on deals that were made to extend the lease on the Downs at Albuquerque Racetrack and Casino. The group also looks at community groups that are calling for action in the wake of the Omaree Varela tragedy, and discusses the Obama administration's plan to designate southern New Mexico's Organ Mountains as a national monument.

It's the last leg of the legislative session, and New Mexico in Focus travels to the Roundhouse for more interviews with our state's lawmakers. NMiF correspondent Gwyneth Doland talks with lawmakers about the budget and education issues, including funding disagreements at the heart of the budget process and an effort to waive tuition costs for kids who age out of foster care with no family support.

Back in our studio, NMiF host Gene Grant talks with representatives of the 1st Annual STEM Festival that is taking place this Saturday in conjunction with Black History Month. The festival, hosted by Sandia National Labs, Intel Corp., and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others, promotes science, technology, engineering and/or math careers to students from K-12.

Then Gene Grant and The Line opinion panel look at the budget that passed both the House and Senate and will now go to Governor Susana Martinez's desk. The group also looks at bills and amendments that met their demise during the session and tackle a rapid-fire round of other topics "on the clock."

This week we turn to a special all-journalist Line panel to evaluate the recent Legislative session and look at what passed, what failed, and what Governor Susana Martinez may do with her veto pen. Our panelists will discuss the Lottery Scholarship, hospital indigent care funding and how it may impact rural healthcare facilities, and the failure of a new gaming compact with the Navajo Nation. They will also explore how several bills may impact the state's economy.

The group will also delve into legislative topics "on the clock," including the outlook for the legislative elections later this year given how many lawmakers are not running again, the future of Amtrak's Southwest Chief route, and education issues in the budget.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks gun violence and mental illness with Jeffrey Swanson, a medical sociologist from Duke University. He delivered lectures this week through the IDEAS in Psychiatry program in the University of New Mexico Psychiatry Department about common misconceptions regarding mental illness and proposed federal and state-level policy initiatives to help decrease the risk of dangerous people accessing weapons.

This week's New Mexico in Focus celebrates International Women's Day (March 8) by talking to some of the winners of the Women in Technology awards, sponsored by the New Mexico Technology Council. NMiF correspondent Furhana Afrid interviews winners Julianna Silva, the Albuquerque regional manager of WESST, Lisa Abeyta, founder of APPCityLife, and Kim Griego, a teacher at Cleveland High and a technology leader. They are joined by Lisa Adkins, chair of the New Mexico Technology Council. Furhana Afrid also sits down with an entrepreneur from Nigeria to talk about her work getting teenage girls in her country to pursue careers in science and technology. After learning about IGNITE (Inspiring Girls Now in Technology Evolution) during a 2009 U.S.A. trip, Chichi Okafor returned to her country to start the successful IGNITE Nigeria. She was brought here by the Albuquerque Council for International Visitors to share her story.

NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick talks with Nina Simons about the transformative potential of women's leadership. Nina Simons, an award winning social entrepreneur, writes and teaches about leadership, diversity, and restoring the feminine, and is co-founder of Bioneers. Among the organization's several programs is the radio series, Bioneers: Revolution from the Heart of Nature, featuring interviews and presentations from the Bioneers Conference archives.

And a special all-journalist Line opinion panel talks about the media landscape in New Mexico. Albuquerque Business First rolled out a re-launch recently, and the dissipation of traditional revenue models has prompted many media outlets to re-think how they reach readers and viewers.

This week, New Mexico in Focus looks at a new monthly series, “Water Crisis in the West: Thinking Like a Watershed,” that kicked off in February and will run through June at the KiMo Theater in downtown Albuquerque. We talk with the series organizer, Jack Loeffler, aural historian and author of “Thinking Like a Watershed,” and author John Nichols, whose novels often include storylines around water issues, about the series and what the future looks like for water in New Mexico.

In our One on One segment, NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick sits down with author TaraShea Nesbit, whose new novel, “The Wives of Los Alamos,” explores the lives of the women who accompanied their scientist husbands to “The Hill,” the nickname for the secret city where the first atomic bomb was developed during World War II. Hampered by a lack of infrastructure and housing, and left in the dark about what their husbands were actually doing, these women bring a unique perspective to a crucial period of history, as well as voices that have been largely absent in that narrative.

The Line opinion panel looks at legislation signed and vetoed by Governor Susana Martinez, including the state budget. Martinez vetoed about $27 million worth of proposed spending but included pay raises for many state employees and entry-level teachers, as well as money for water projects and more funds for some early childhood programs.

The group also delves into the battle to land the giant $5 billion Tesla Motors factory here that would build the electric car’s batteries, a competition that pits New Mexico against three other states for a projected 6,500 jobs. And the panel also looks at the latest developments at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Carlsbad since a radiation leak was detected there last month.

This week we present a companion piece to the national program “The Story of the Jews,” which airs beginning March 25th. NMiF Producer Megan Kamerick focuses on the experience of conversos or “crypto-Jews” in New Mexico. In 1492, the Edict of Expulsion launched the diaspora of Sephardic Jews from Spain. Many found their way to the New World, including New Mexico, although they could not openly practice their religion. Dr. Frances Levine, director of the New Mexico History Museum, and historian Roger Martínez-Dávila flesh out the history of these people and their role in New Mexico heritage and identity. Sonya Loya, an artisan and educator who has recovered her family’s secret Jewish past, discusses her personal journey and conversion to Judaism. We also feature an interview with Dr. Isabelle Medina Sandoval, poet and descendant of crypto-Jews.

NMiF also highlights Sunshine Week, a time to celebrate the laws that give citizens access to their government and the important work of journalists. Correspondent Gwyneth Doland speaks with Susan Boe, the new executive director of the Foundation for Open Government, about what is happening around the state regarding public records and open meetings laws.

We will also look at the push to get more young people enrolled in the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange. March 31st marks the end of the enrollment period under the Affordable Care Act and enrollment levels in New Mexico are lagging. Gwyneth Doland talks to Dr. Martin Hickey of the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange, insurance agent James Tome and Beverly Kloeppel, director of Student Health and Counseling at the University of New Mexico about the challenges in getting young people to enroll. This week on New Mexico in Focus, Producer Megan Kamerick speaks with Valerie Plame, the former agent with the Central Intelligence Agency who now lives in Santa Fe and has published her first spy thriller, “Blowback.” In 2003, the late Washington Post journalist Robert Novak wrote a column, based on information obtained from Richard Armitage at the U.S. State Department, in which he exposed Plame's covert identity, effectively ending her career. The column came one week after a New York Times opinion piece by Plame's husband, Joseph Wilson, which accused the Bush Administration of manipulating intelligence to make a case for invading Iraq. The scandal led to a criminal investigation. No one was charged for the leak itself, but Lewis "Scooter" Libby, chief of staff to the vice president, was convicted of lying to investigators. His prison sentence was ultimately commuted by President George W. Bush. Plame discusses her new career as a spy novelist, and her articles critiquing the National Security Administration's surveillance practices.

The Line opinion panel discusses the growing furor over the shooting of a mentally ill homeless man in the Sandia Mountains foothills by members of the Albuquerque Police Department over a week ago. The video from an officer's helmet camera of the incident has spread across the country and there are calls to ramp up reform efforts at APD, which is already under investigation by the Department of Justice. Mayor Richard J. Berry chastised his new police chief, Gordon Eden, for stating the shooting was justified. Eden has since backtracked on that statement, but Berry wants DOJ, and possibly the Las Cruces Police Department, to investigate this latest shooting.

The Line also looks at enrollment in Medicaid and the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange under the Affordable Care Act. March 31st is the deadline for buying a plan on the exchange and state officials are hoping to get at least 40,000 New Mexicans to step up. Only about eight percent of those eligible to sign up have done so, according to a recent study. But 103,000 have enrolled in Medicaid since the state expanded who qualifies for that program. Some worry this will create a lopsided system of health coverage in the state.

HEALING ADD WITH DR. DANIEL AMEN, MD AND TANA AMEN, RN

Thursday 3/6 at 1030pm, Friday 3/7 at 430am, Sunday 3/9 at 8am, Sunday 3/16 at 130pm (90min)

ADD or ADHD is a national health crisis that continues to grow-yet it remains one of the most misunderstood and incorrectly treated illnesses today. Kids and adults are put on powerful stimulant medications in short office visits without any biological information, and the stories of these medications hurting children and adults are common and persistent. In this national public television program, psychiatrist Daniel Amen and his wife nurse Tana Amen take a completely new look at ADD and explain 7 unique types based on the extensive brain imaging work of the Amen Clinics on tens of thousands of ADD patients. Treating all people with ADD the same invites failure and frustration and can be a disaster, as the traditional treatments that make two of the types better can make the other 5 types worse. The show is divided into three parts. In Part One, the myths and misconceptions about ADD will be discussed as well as the hallmark ADD symptoms. In Part Two, the 7 different types of ADD will be described in detail. And, in Part Three Dr. and Mrs. Amen we'll give you a clear method for Healing ADD, including the best natural treatments. They are not opposed to medication, but think it's smart to start with lifestyle and natural treatments first.

DISSED-RESPECT: THE IMPACT OF BULLYING

Friday 1/31 at 930pm and 2/1 at 330am (3 0min)

DISSED-RESPECT: The Impact of Bullying encourages dialogue about the need to reduce the high-risk behavior of bullying. It reveals the relationship between bullying and dysfunctional aspects of diversity, as well as increases the positive development of respect in students. The program combines role-playing scenes with candid interviews of students and authorities in the field. In addition it employs an alternative approach utilizing poetry, rap and music to appeal to the sensibilities of today's students.

NATIVE REPORT

Sunday 1/5 at 10pm, Monday 1/6 at 4am ended 1/6 (30min)

Native Report is an entertaining, informative magazine style series that celebrates Native American culture and heritage, listens to tribal elders, and talks to some of the most powerful and influential leaders of Indian Country today. The series is attractive to both a general and tribal audience, promoting understanding between cultures, tribes and reservations...offering a venue for the stories of challenge and success coming from Minnesota's tribal communities... and educating public television viewers about the culture and traditions of native citizens. Native Report is hosted by Stacey Thunder, an enrolled member of the Red Lake Nation, and co-hosted by Tadd Johnson who is an enrolled member of the Bois Forte Band of Chippewa. The Native Report season consists of fifteen episodes. Another fifteen episodes are planned next year which will include stories from Minnesota and Wisconsin native communities.

INDEPENDENT LENS #1416

THE INVISIBLE WAR

Monday 1/6 at 9pm, Tuesday 1/7 at 3am (90min)

This documentary investigates one of America's most shameful and best kept secrets: the epidemic of rape within the U.S. military. The film paints a startling picture of the extent of the problem -- today, a female soldier in combat zones is more likely to be raped by a fellow soldier than killed by enemy fire. The Department of Defense estimates there were a staggering 22,800 violent sex crimes in the military in 2011. Among all active-duty female soldiers, 20 percent are sexually assaulted. Female soldiers aged 18 to 21 accounted for more than half of the victims.

SYRIA'S SECOND FRONT

Tuesday 2/11 at 9pm and Wednesday 2/12 at 3am (60min)

FRONTLINE makes a dangerous trip to the battlefields of Syria, gaining exclusive access to rebel forces as they try to unify against extremist Islamic factions that have thwarted the fight against the regime of Bashar al-Assad. With international peace efforts foundering and Western news organizations unable to safely report inside the country, journalist Muhammad Ali crosses into Syria to travel with moderate rebel commanders and fighters as they launch what they are calling "The Second Revolution," this time against jihadis from the Al Qaeda-linked group known as ISIS. From inside the war zone, FRONTLINE gives the most timely view yet of this newest front in the Syrian revolution. Also in this hour, a report from the besieged city of Aleppo, where more than 2,000 children have been killed in the fighting. This intimate portrait exposes what life is like for children who stay behind and are forced to adapt, as the world around them slips further into chaos.
