

Have you considered Michigan Radio in your estate plan?

Did you know you can extend your support of Michigan Radio by naming the station in your estate plan? We offer many ways to leave a lasting legacy for future generations of listeners. By naming the station in your will, trust, or retirement plan, you'll be ensuring the future of a great news and information service.

If you're planning or making changes to your estate, please consider including Michigan Radio. We have staff experts who can make it easy for you and can illustrate the various ways you can have an impact on the station for years to come. Naming Michigan Radio in your will or trust is a great way to leave your family and friends a valuable gift – a future with public radio.

You've already demonstrated that Michigan Radio has a place in your overall philanthropic plan. What if that commitment could be expanded in such a way that it can actually reduce your or your family's tax burden while strengthening the future of the station?

For information on the various planned giving vehicles including wills, trusts, and annuities, please contact Larry Jonas, Director of Development at ljonas@umich.edu or at 734-764-9210.
