Hosted by The Moth's Artistic Director, Catherine Burns.

Still Singing the Blues

Airs Friday, February 3 at 9:00 p.m.

Still Singing the Blues features musicians in New Orleans and South Louisiana who continue to perform both traditional blues and rhythm-and-blues—often despite poverty, ill health, and the impacts of natural disasters like Hurricane Katrina. The hour-long, music-rich documentary burrows into the lives of three outstanding older performers: Carol Fran of Lafayette, Harvey Knox of Baton Rouge, and Little Freddie King of New Orleans. Listeners will travel with these musicians to recording sessions, street corners, birthday celebrations, and neighborhood taverns.

Radiolab - Where Am I?

Airs Monday, February 6 at 8:00 p.m.

OK, maybe you're in your desk chair. You're in your office. You're in New York, or Detroit, or Timbuktu. You're on planet Earth. But where are you, really? This hour, Radiolab examines the bond between brain and body, and looks at what happens when it breaks. Author and neurologist Oliver Sacks tries to find himself using magnets, we talk to a neuroscientist who uses an optical illusion to solve a century-old mystery that haunts some amputees, and pilots describe surviving out-of-body experiences while flying fighter jets.

The Harlem Renaissance

Airs Thursday, February 9 at 8:00 p.m.

As musicians migrated north following the close of Storyville, New Orleans infamous red-light district, many found their way to the newly revitalized city on the north shore of the Harlem River. This program features a cross section of their music and stories.

Crescent City Blues

Airs Friday, February 10 at 9:00 p.m.

This one hour special takes listeners to the hidden world of New Orleans corner joints—bars far from the French Quarter, in neighborhoods like Central City, Tremé, and Pigeontown. These clubs, patronized almost entirely by locals, nurture a resilient blues and rhythm-and-blues scene that is often overshadowed by the Crescent City's legacy as a jazz town. They are an essential part of New Orleans' cultural history, but they are struggling—because of the recession, the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, and potentially the BP oil spill.

The Ruby McCollum Story

Airs Sunday, February 12 at 8:00 p.m.

A town with a secret hides the truth about a notorious murder.

In 1952, in a small town in Florida, a wealthy African-American woman named Ruby McCollum shot and killed a respected white physician, ostensibly over a bill. Her true motives came to light during her murder trial, which made national headlines. The story is a true-life case, and the stuff of a Southern Gothic novel, complete with interracial romance, drug abuse, mental illness, and the racist attitudes of the Jim Crow South. Starring Paul Winfield and Loretta Devine.

Radiolab - So-Called Life

Airs Monday, February 13 at 8:00 p.m.

In this hour, Radiolab asks what is natural in a world where biology and engineering intersect. Biotechnology is making it easier and easier to create new forms of life, but what are the consequences when humans play with life? We travel back to the first billion years of life on Earth, take a look at how modern engineers tinker with living things, and meet a woman who could have been two people.

Rethinking Religion: Music, Religion, and the Politics of Race

Airs Monday, February February 13 at 9:00 p.m.

From The Columbia University Institute For Religion, Culture and Public Life, and the Luce Group, an exploration in words and music of how music, religion, and politics intersected during this rich period in African American history. During the vibrant years of the Harlem Renaissance, music, religion, and spirituality were interconnected -- not just in the religious setting of the church, but in the jazz club, the dance hall, the rent party, even the political street rally. Writer Carl Hancock Rux, Reverend Calvin Butts of the Abyssinian Baptist Church, historian Farah Griffin, Professors Josef Sorett and Obery Hendricks, and others explore these powerful interconnections. Includes the voices of Langston Hughes, poet Sterling Brown, Marcus Garvey, as well as readings from Hughes, Arna Bontemps, and musician James Reese Europe. Music includes Count Basie, Chick Webb, The Abyssinian Baptist Church Choir, The Original Five Blind Boys of Alabama, Duke Ellington, Ma Rainey, Ella Fitzgerald, James Reese Europe's 369th US Infantry "Hell Fighters" Band, Mahalia Jackson, and more.

Zydeco Nation

Airs Wednesday, February 15 at 9:00 p.m.

Zydeco Nation is an hour-long, music-rich documentary that tells the story about an epic chapter in modern American history. Starting during World War II, French-speaking Louisiana Creoles began moving across the country to Northern California in search of both jobs and freedom. They were part of the Great Migration: the movement of six million African Americans from the Jim Crow South to the big cities of the West, North, and Midwest starting in 1915. In her recent bestseller The Warmth of Other Suns, Isabel Wilkerson calls that migration "the first big step the nation's servant class ever took without asking."

Human Kind: Rubin 'Hurricane' Carter

Airs Friday, February 17 at 7:00 p.m.

Memorialized in a Bob Dylan song and an Academy Award nominated Denzel Washington film, Rubin "Hurricane" Carter was a successful prize fighter, who was falsely accused of murder. After nearly two decades in prison, Carter was exonerated by a federal judge (also heard in our documentary) in a ruling later affirmed by the US Supreme Court. Now in his 70s and an outspoken advocate for others wrongly convicted, Carter recently published a spiritual memoir on how he emerged not only from physical incarceration, but from the emotional prison of hatred and bitterness.

Buddy Guy: Can't Quit the Blues

Airs Friday, February 17 at 9:00 p.m.

Brand new one-hour music intensive radio special features legendary bluesman Buddy Guy in his own words and music. Buddy Guy's own comments come from an exclusive interview session, and include many recollections and insights that will heard on your station for the first time.

To Be Free: The Nina Simone Story

Airs Saturday, February 18, at 11:00 p.m.

Nina Simone was as powerful and complex a person as the music she played. She called it 'Black Classical Music,' and it resists all definitions. It's Jazz, Rhythm and Blues, Folk, Gospel. It's a combination as rich as the culture. Like any legend, Nina simony became a symbol for people and movements through the years, but however she was first and foremost a performer. She acted out the story of each song as if it happened to her just yesterday. This hour, we'll hear about the music and life of Nina simony from colleagues and friends, Odette, Camille Yarbrough, Guitarist Al Shack man, Patti Smith, Journalists David Nathan, and more. Produced by JOYRIDE MEDIA, creators of acclaimed music documentaries featuring artists like Bob Dylan, Benny Goodman, Johnny

Can Do Stories of Black Visionaries, Seekers, and Entrepreneurs

Airs Sunday, February 19 at 5:00 p.m.

From The Kitchen Sisters and PRX, a Black History Month Special: "Can Do: Stories of Black Visionaries, Seekers, and Entrepreneurs," with host, Golden Globe and Emmy Award-winning actress, Alfre Woodard. These stories come from The Kitchen Sisters collection -- stories of black pioneers, self-made men and self-taught women, neighborhood heros and visionaries. People who said "yes we can" and then did. A man tapes the history of his town with a scavenged cassette recorder, a woman fights for social justice with a pie, a DJ ignites his community with a sound. Join us for this richly produced and deeply layered hour long special that resonates for Black History Month, or any month. Produced by The Kitchen Sisters (Nikki Silva & Davia Nelson) and Roman Mars.

Maya Angelou's Black History Month Special

Airs Sunday, February 19 at 7:00 p.m.

Maya Angelou defines Black History, as it is embraced in our popular culture with an emphasis on the civil rights era and a poetic acknowledgement of late activist, Rosa Parks. This one hour historical trek takes us from the 1950's thru the 1990's. Dr. Maya Angelou renders a poetic portrait of the day-to-day lives of African Americans during the civil rights era, when artists and activists, musicians and ministers joined hands with people from all walks of life to bring about a historic change in our culture.

Radiolab - Stress

Airs Monday, February 20 at 8:00 p.m.

Stress may save your life if you're being chased by a tiger. But if you're stuck in traffic, it may be more likely to make you sick. This hour of Radiolab, a long hard look at the body's system for getting out of trouble. Dr. Robert Sapolsky takes us through what happens on our insides when we stand in the wrong line at the supermarket, and offers a few coping strategies: gnawing on wood, beating the crap out of somebody, and having friends. Plus: the story of a singer who lost her voice, and an author stuck in a body that never grew up.

Rethinking Religion: Music, Religion, and the Politics of Race, Part 2

Airs Monday, February 20 at 9:00 p.m.

During the vibrant years of the Harlem Renaissance, music, religion, and spirituality were interconnected -- not just in the religious setting of the church, but in the jazz club, the dance hall, the rent party, even the political street rally. Writer Carl Hancock Rux, Reverend Calvin Butts of the Abyssinian Baptist Church, historian Farah Griffin, Professors Josef Sorett and Obery Hendricks, and others explore these powerful interconnections. Includes the voices of Langston Hughes, poet Sterling Brown, Marcus Garvey, as well as readings from Hughes, Arna Bontemps, and musician James Reese Europe. Music includes The Abyssinian Baptist Choir, Geri Allen, Ma Rainey, James Reese Europe's 369th US Infantry "Hell Fighters" Band, Ron Carter Big Band, Fats Waller, James P Johnson, Willie The Lion Smith, Courtney Bryan, and more.

Heavenly Sight: Of Vision Lost and Found

Airs Wednesday, February 22 at 8:00 p.m.

Despite disability, poverty, isolation and prejudice, a surprising number of blind African American musicians who came from the gospel tradition influenced not just gospel music, but blues, bluegrass, and American vernacular music up to and beyond rock and roll. Using narrative, archival audio, interviews, scholarly commentary and music, Heavenly Sight tells this little known story through broadcast and a comprehensive, interactive web site.

Lone Star Legislative Summit: Media Roundtable

Airs Thursday, Feb. 23, at 6 p.m.

Recorded live from Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas. This special roundtable discussion is part of the 4th Lone Star Legislative Summit. The Summit was produced by the Nacogdoches County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Stephen F. Austin State University and presented by Norbord. The panelists explore the media's impact on the 2012 presidential race. Kate Archer Kent, news producer for Red River Radio, serves as moderator. The panel features Dr. George Edwards, a political science professor at Texas A&M University ; Dr. Ken Collier, an associate professor of political science at Stephen F. Austin State University; Kenny Boles, the news director for KLTU and KTRE-TV in East Texas; and Patti Kilday Hart, metro columnist for the Houston Chronicle.

A Tribute to Taj Mahal

Airs Friday, February 24 at 9:00 p.m.

A Salute to Taj Mahal, the one-man palace of blues, world music, roots, folk, and funk.

Composer, multi-instrumentalist and vocalist Taj Mahal is one of the most prominent and influential figures in late 20th century blues and roots music. Though his career began more than four decades ago with American blues, he has broadened his artistic scope over the years to include music representing virtually every corner of the world -- west Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Europe, the Hawaiian islands and so much more. What ties it all together is his insatiable interest in musical discovery. Over the years, his passion and curiosity have led him around the world, and the resulting global perspective is reflected in his music. This one hour special will take a quick tour through his life and work.

Radiolab - Zoos

Airs Monday, February 27 at 8:00 p.m.

In a cruel trick of evolution, humans can stand just three feet from a ferocious animal and still be perfectly safe. This hour, Radiolab goes to the zoo to ask what's with our need to get close to "wildness"? We examine where we stand in this paradox--starting with the Romans, and ending in the wilds of Belize...staring into the eyes of a wild jaguar.

NPR Super Tuesday Coverage

Airs Tuesday, March 6, at 7 p.m.

Ten states will hold Republican contests on Tuesday, March 6. NPR will offer special coverage at 7 p.m., hosted by Audie Cornish and Melissa Block.

Radiolab: Afterlife

Airs Monday, March 12 at 8:00 p.m.

What happens at the moment when we slip from life...to the other side? Is it a moment? If it is, when exactly does it happen? And what happens afterward? It's a show of questions that don't have easy answers. So, in a slight departure from our regular format, we bring you eleven meditations on how, when, and even if we die. Guests: Ken Baldwin, Paul Broks, David Eagleman, Gary Greenberg, Adrian Owen, Lee Silver, Jeffrey Tambor, John Troyer, Emily Voigt, Peter Ward and Jan Zalasiewicz

Louisiana Public Square: Redefining State Retirement

Airs Friday, March 30 at 7:00 p.m.

With over 83,000 employees, the State of Louisiana is the largest employer in the state. The retirement systems covering these current employees and former state workers have accumulated more than $18 billion in unfunded debt. Last year public employees' pensions cost Louisiana taxpayers $1.78 billion. Governor Jindal has put forth several proposals this legislative session to transform the system to regain solvency. How will the changes affect current state employees and new hires? And can the system be revamped without breaking the promise to those who have provided years of public service?
