Red River Radio Public Affairs Program October 2018 - December 2018

APM Reports: Old Idea, New Economy - Rediscovering Apprenticeships

Airs Sunday, October 7, 2018, at 6 p.m. Apprenticeships are having a moment. Supporters on both the right and the left say the "earn while you learn" approach can help create a more skilled workforce, provide a path to solid, middle-class careers, and serve as a needed corrective to the "college for all" push that has left some students with piles of debt and no obvious career. In this APM Reports documentary we ask: How can apprenticeships expand to include careers beyond the traditional trades and reach new populations searching for a foothold in the middle class?

APM Reports: Hard Words - Why American Kids Aren't Being Taught to Read

Airs Sunday, October 14, 2018, at 6 p.m. For generations, educators have fought about how kids learn to read and what that means about how they should be taught. Now, there is definitive evidence from neuroscience on how the brain learns to read and it suggests very different approaches to reading instruction than those that are commonly found in schools. This APM Reports documentary explores why the reading science is not making its way into American classrooms – or teacher preparation programs – and what can be done about it.

Louisiana Public Square: Are the criminal justice reforms working as intended?

Airs Sunday, October 21, 2018, at 6 p.m. In 2017, Louisiana's legislature passed the Justice Reinvestment Act, which sought to reduce the state's highest-in-the-nation incarceration rate. The bill was championed by Democratic Governor John Bel Edwards and received bipartisan support including from community and business leaders. Now, just over a year later, the legislation has become a political football. State Attorney General Jeff Landry and Senator John Kennedy, both Republicans considering a run against Edwards in 2019, suggest that the reform package is a failure. They cite murders committed by two inmates released since the Act's implementation. Are the criminal justice reforms working as intended?

Has the legislation put more residents in harm's way or are plea deals part of the problem? Louisiana Public Square looks for answers to these questions and more on "Revisiting Reform"

Louisiana Public Square: An Eye on Admissions

Airs Sunday, December 9, 2018, at 6 p.m. What standards should be used for college admissions? This fall, LSU instituted a "holistic admissions" process for incoming students which relies more on essays and recommendations than on College Board test scores and grade point averages. Proponents of the move say it's a better way to identify strong students while opening up opportunities for families not financially able to afford prep classes for standardized exams. Opponents say the move will increase student attrition and could endanger LSU's flagship status. Examine the new standards from several different perspectives. Louisiana Public Square looks for answers to these questions and more on "An Eye on Admissions."
