WBAA QUARTER NOTES

Morning Features

Friday morning don't miss Paganini's Little Bells concerto for violin! Monday we'll feature Clara Schumann's Piano Concerto (which is on tap this April with the Lafayette Symphony) as well as a song from Jennifer Higdon on Morning Classics!

What's New

Jake Heggie is one of the most sought after living composers. His music is featured around the world, and he has two new opera releases: Great Scott and It's a Wonderful Life. Host John Clare sits down with Heggie about composing, drama, and creativity on this week's What's New!

Special Events

Guitarist Jiji is a young performer and composer who plays diverse styles and creates amazing sound worlds. The First Prize Winner of the 2016 CAG Victor Elmaleh International Competition, she performs Friday night in Loeb Playhouse for Purdue Convocations. WBAA's John Clare spoke to Jiji about her program and her guitar(s).

ARTS SPOTLIGHT

Art is an integral part of our human culture and should be celebrated - which is why WBAA launched a series in 2014 called the WBAA Arts Spotlight

THE ARCHIVES

Farm at Prophetstown

John Clare talks to Executive Director Leslie Martin Conwell, and Education/Event Coordinator Lauren Reed of the Farm at Prophetstown, a 1920's farmstead highlighting sustainable agriculture, homesteading, heirloom gardening, and farm to table cooking. They host a Farm to Table breakfast Saturday, February 10th at 8:30 and 9:30am – just in time for Valentine's Day!

This I Believe Essay Contest for High School Seniors:

2018 marks the first year where WBAA will ask high school seniors to share what they believe. This I Believe was started by journalist Edward R. Murrer in 1951 to allow individuals a voice to share their guiding principles. Deadline to submit an essay is February 16, 2018. All essays will air on WBAA, appear in the Journal & Courier, and also be read live at the Rotary and at Barnes and Noble. For more details: <http://wbaa.org/i-believe-essay-contest-0#stream/0>

Win Tickets to Concert on January 26th
