This is a gathering of Community Voices producers from 2013 and previous years, with Dave Isay, founder of StoryCorps, second from right in the back row.

WE  ...
radio, books, art, news, music,
community, big ideas, dedication, dialogue, engagement.

WYSO isn't just a public radio station. It's thousands of diverse listeners standing together to be a part of something they truly love. To become part of what we like to call the "We." This is how public radio should be. Every member, underwriter and listener plays a huge role in helping WYSO build on its 55-year legacy of community journalism, activism and engagement.

It's big world out there. Full of ideas, wonder and amazing stories to tell. Together, we can learn, experience and share them all.

Music Director Niki Dakota

ABOUT US

WYSO began with 19 watts of power on February 8, 1958 as a student-run station on the campus of Antioch College. We were on the air four hours a day with an emphasis on local public affairs and music programming.

Today we broadcast 24 hours a day, seven days a week with 50,000 watts of power and we reach nine counties in Southwest Ohio with a potential audience of more than one million listeners. WYSO is the Miami Valley's only NPR News station, and we carry their flagship programs, including Morning Edition and All Things Considered.

Our own news department delivers local and state news. We have twelve different local music programs hosted by knowledgeable and dedicated volunteers.

Nearly four thousand members and a distinguished roster of underwriters from all over the Miami Valley help support WYSO.

As a part of Antioch College, WYSO is committed to supporting Antioch's educational mission and principles.

MISSION/VISION

WYSO serves our community with news, information, and entertainment to encourage dialog, understanding, and engagement. Our vision is to be recognized as a media leader by enriching public discourse, fostering intellectual and cultural curiosity, and serving as a dynamic, creative, local companion.

We achieve our goals by focusing on a vision of core values that are intrinsic to our success in creating a community of engaged and curious listeners. These core values are as follows:

Community Innovation
Excellence Education
Integrity

LETTER FROM THE GENERAL MANAGER

2013 was a pivotal year for WYSO. We returned to our home at Antioch College, where we began our public service broadcasting mission fifty-five years earlier. We're taking part in an historic effort to launch a new liberal arts college, one that is deeply committed to social justice, experiential learning and the sustainability of life on earth. Antioch students have returned to WYSO as Miller Fellows and they bring fresh ideas and energy.

In 2013, we grew our revenue base, added new staff, and launched innovative programs. With enthusiastic help, we can provide service-oriented, mission-driven programming to our community. To me, this kind of programming is crucial to a community like ours.

We need open dialogue to examine issues and find solutions. Just as Antioch College is preparing students to be responsible, engaged citizens, WYSO assumes that our listeners are already those people: curious problem-solvers who want make our community, our nation and the world a better place to live.

Our approach to radio programming includes music AND news, local and national voices together, with a variety and depth you can't find anywhere else in southwest Ohio. We're bringing new sounds and ideas to the airwaves with our Community Voices training project, and it's truly our community connection that sets us apart.

The WE in public radio includes the volunteers who make radio programs and those who contribute administrative expertise, the members and WYSO Leaders who contribute money and give us constant feedback, plus underwriting support from business leaders and grants from local, national and state organizations.

The WE is also community organizations who help create events and programming. In 2013, they included: Wright State University, Five Rivers MetroParks, Dayton Art Institute, David H. Ponitz Career Technology Center, Kettering Fairmont High School, Victoria Theatre Association, EboNia Gallery, Frazee Pavillion, Rosewood Arts Center, Dayton Visual Arts Center, Yellow Springs Community Foundation, Greene County Public Library, Clark State Community College, the National Aviation Heritage Area, FilmDayton, Dayton Most Metro, the Dayton Literary Peace Prize, the Dayton Blues Society, Miami University, the World House Choir of Yellow Springs and scores of local musicians who grace our airwaves week after week.

WE do it together. I hope you will enjoy reading about our successes in this annual report – and seeing some of the people who make it happen behind the microphones and behind the scenes.

Thanks for making 2013 so fun and rewarding.

Neenah Ellis

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2013

- WYSO reacquired by Antioch College
- Antioch College students are back in the halls of WYSO, learning from radio professionals
- WYSO hired its first ever Economics Reporter – Lewis Wallace – a Pritzker Fellow from WBEZ in Chicago. Made possible with the support of the Dayton Power and Light Foundation.
- Website traffic to wyso.org surpasses 10,000 visitors per month
- WYSO rebrands with a focus on “We. It’s how public radio should be.” A project made possible with the support and help of Yellow Springs creative firm Clay + Stan.
- Improved and increased direct mail response – made possible with the support of Oregon Printing
- Sustaining Membership Program surpassed 1000 member mark
- Fall 2013 Membership Drive hit its goal on air and then exceeded it by $6,000. Highest amount ever raised on air.
- Expanded our original program offerings: Behind the Groove, WYSO Curious, and Under Construction
- Launched Reinvention Stories Season 1 – a resounding success; funding secured for Season 2

ANTIOCH COLLEGE ACQUIRES WYSO

In 2013 WYSO went back to its roots after being acquired by Antioch College. “WYSO has been a strong heartbeat on this campus since Antioch students founded the station in 1958 and we are thrilled to welcome her home again,” Antioch College President Mark Roosevelt said. The acquisition has already proven to be an effective tool in helping enhance the College’s curriculum and cooperative education program.

As the saying goes, it’s good to be home.

REINVENTION STORIES SEASON 1

ReInvention Stories began to air in 2013. Led by local filmmakers Julia Reichert and Steve Bognar, we created twenty-two programs about people in the Miami Valley who are struggling to reinvent themselves in a new economy. There were inspiring, surprising and sometimes funny stories of adversity, resilience and reinvention. The project continues to bring Miami Valley residents and neighborhoods to life, in short films, radio stories and introducing an innovative, interactive, multi-media companion site. We are now truly a community media center.

WYSO REBRANDING

For years, WYSO played it safe with our marketing and brand image. Not any more. 2013 brought with it an incredible partnership with Yellow Springs creative firm Clay + Stan. By working together, we launched a new brand identity and brand message for all of our collateral, mailing, and advertising initiatives.

"Our main priority was to create a community around the station's new brand," says Luke Dennis, WYSO's Development Director, "Our new brand is more than just a campaign. It's a state of mind. We've always thought of our listeners as a family—but now, we're expressing that in pictures and words."

Become a part of the we today.

ONWARD AND UPWARD

WYSO is currently in year one of a three-year strategic plan. This plan sets forth eight critical initiatives to be pursued within the next three fiscal years to help position us as a creative, independent, and financially robust public radio station.

1. Continuous improvement of WYSO programming.
2. Diversifying and increasing our revenue sources.
3. Continued efforts to expand grant revenue for the support of new programs.
4. Enhance business staff capacity and operating efficiencies to ensure long-term sustainability as a community resource.
5. Relocation of the FM antennas, expanding our potential listening audience by 54%.
6. Implementation of a capital campaign to finance the antenna relocation and create an operating reserve.
7. Establishing an independent "Friends of WYSO" organization to provide additional future financial strength and support.
8. Garnering the continuing financial support of Antioch College while fully utilizing our joint WYSO/College resources for mutually beneficial endeavors.

With the help of the WYSO Community, the "We" that makes public radio work, WYSO will achieve these goals. These are exciting times for us. Thank you for being a part of it yesterday, today and tomorrow.
