GIVING VOICE

WYSO inspires people to tell their stories and makes these stories accessible to all.

Our programs give voice to our community.

Sometimes these are the voices of your neighbors.

Sometimes they're total strangers and you get to walk in their shoes for a moment.

Sometimes they are the voices that are left out of mainstream media – voices from the periphery...

Students, veterans, prisoners, artists, activists, and curious people.

Our community.

our community. our nation. our world.

Antioch College Student Kijin Higashibaba and All Things Considered host Jerry Kenney

ABOUT US

WYSO began with 19 watts of power on February 8, 1958 as a student-run station on the campus of Antioch College. We were on the air four hours a day with an emphasis on local public affairs and music programming.

Today we broadcast 24 hours a day, 7 days a week with 50,000 watts of power. We reach 9 counties in Southwest Ohio with a potential audience of more than one million listeners. WYSO is the Miami Valley's only NPR News station, and we carry their flagship programs, including Morning Edition and All Things Considered.

Our own news department delivers local and state news. We have twelve different local music programs hosted by knowledgeable and dedicated volunteers.

Over four thousand members and a distinguished roster of underwriters from all over the Miami Valley help support WYSO.

As a part of Antioch College, WYSO is committed to supporting Antioch's educational mission and principles.

MISSION/VISION

WYSO serves our community with news, information, and entertainment to encourage dialogue, understanding, and engagement. Our vision is to be recognized as a media leader by enriching public discourse, fostering intellectual and cultural curiosity, and serving as a dynamic, creative, local companion.

We achieve our goals by focusing on a vision of core values that are intrinsic to our success in creating a community of engaged and curious listeners. These core values are as follows:

Community Excellence Integrity Innovation Education

LETTER FROM THE GENERAL MANAGER

Dear listeners,

It's our goal to bring more local voices to your ears. In the last year, we aired more than 200 stories by our staff reporters and another hundred by our community producers. Our reporters watched local issues and responded to breaking stories – our community producers looked at notable people and cultural trends.

- We heard the stories of 20 different high school students in Dayton Youth Radio.
- Incarcerated women shared their stories in Women's Voices from the Dayton Correctional Institution.
- Rediscovered Radio brought the Vietnam era alive with stories from the WYSO Archives.
- Local military veterans interviewed each other in Veterans Voices.
- WYSO Curious answered your questions and curiosities.
- WYSO reporters attended political rallies and presidential candidates' visits to our communities.

You made all this possible with your contributions. 1,500 of you are sustaining members and 250 are WYSO Leaders with contributions of $500 or more. WYSO now has 4,600 members, an all-time high on our way to our goal of 5,000.

Our roster of underwriters and sponsors include community businesses and organizations that believe in our mission just as you do. In addition, Antioch College which holds our license, supports our efforts in so many ways.

To keep WYSO strong into the future, in the last fiscal year we trained 15 more Community Voices producers, and another 20 community members learned podcasting skills from us. We've mentored and trained Antioch College students in the Miller Fellow program. They engage with us in the creation of The Antioch Word podcast and through class projects and oral history collection.

WYSO is unique among small public radio stations in the amount of locally produced content we generate. We have a model for community engagement that is receiving national attention.

Thank you for listening. Thank you for supporting in us. Thank you for believing in us.

Sincerely,
Neenah Ellis
WYSO General Manager

General Manager Neenah Ellis

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2015-2016

MOVING THE TOWER

In January of 2016 we flipped the switch to begin broadcasting from a much taller tower. This project was a major capital investment, raised from major donors without going on the air. Why did we move it? The taller elevation increased our potential listening audience by 54% - over half a million people! All of them located up and down the I-75 corridor, all the way into northern Cincinnati. It also improved reception in downtown Dayton, where the topographical features of the river valley used to create interference. Not anymore.

WYSO SERIOUS

In public radio we tend to wear our hearts on our sleeves. We are a public service and our reporting, always mission-driven, is earnest. Sometimes we take ourselves too seriously. So, for April Fool's, why not have a little fun...at our own expense?! As a replacement to our old silent auction fundraiser we dreamt up a new party: WYSO Serious? With the help of the Rubi Girls and advice queen Amy Dickinson, we entertained a crowd of 350+ people at historic Memorial Hall on April 2, 2016. Public radio, among other sacred cows, were gleefully lampooned...we raised some money...and ended the evening dancing to funk tunes spun by DJ Radio Basim.

Join us for the silliest event of the year:

ZOMBIE HIGH SCHOOL

In collaboration with Yellow Springs Kids Playhouse, WYSO created an episodic radio drama about the zombie apocalypse. Set in a fictional high school, it was The Breakfast Club meets Day of the Dead. A local team of playwrights, including WYSO's Juliet Fromholt and Luke Dennis, developed a script that was then performed by local high school students. It was all recorded in WYSO's studios, including the live, "handmade" Foley effects. It was even edited by a high school student: a graduate of WYSO's Community Voices training program. This true community effort, all six episodes of it, is still available on iTunes, Google Play Music and the WYSO website.

WOMEN'S VOICES FROM DAYTON CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTION

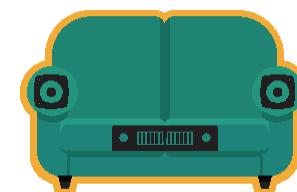

Women's Voices from Dayton Correctional Institution is a series of stories based on WYSO's Community Voices class at the prison on Dayton's west side. WYSO selected 10 incarcerated women through a competitive application process, and taught them interviewing, storytelling and recording skills. The students interviewed each other and shared insights on their lives in and out of prison. The series was produced and mixed by WYSO managing editor Lewis Wallace and Community Voices producer Renee Wilde, with volunteer support from Community Voices graduate Dr. Venita Kelley.

CULTURE COUCH

With funding from an Ohio Arts Council grant, WYSO launched Culture Couch, an occasional series exploring the arts scene in our community. Staff and Community Voices producers present stories of about creativity – told through creative audio storytelling. So far we've covered architecture, painting, accessibility in the arts, photography, graffiti art, and the connection between jazz and baseball.

WYSO'S COMMUNITY CONCERT

The WYSO family returned to the RiverScape MetroPark on September 13th, 2015 for our annual Community Concert. That year's free and open to the public event featured local artists Trey Stone and the Ringers with Todd the Fox opening and some live, music-based improv comedy from Dayton's own Black Box Improv Theatre.
